BANK RECORDS SHOW SHELDON GOT ICE PROFIT

One of Morse Financial Institutions Taken Out of Receiver's Hands.

WILL EXAMINE BOOKS

Documents in Existence Showing Taft Collector Was in Big Ice Pool.

PROOF EASY TO FIND

Schwab, Gates and Farrell Asked to Testify, but Sheldon Was Skipped.

By Leased Wire of the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Post-Dispatch printed exclusively yesterday the statement that George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, was associated with Charles W. Morse in an ice stock pool and received a share of the profits of the speculation.

The New York World and the Post-Dispatch also printed exclusively the statement that the evidence showing the connection of Mr. Sheldon with the ice pool was available to the United States Government officials just as the evidence concerning Charles M. Schwab, John W. Gates, Isaac Guggenheim and John F. Carroll with the ice pool was available. Those men were put on the witness stand. Mr. Taft's collector of campaign funds was not.

George R. Sheldon made a sweeping and unqualified denial of the World and Post-Dispatch statement that he participated in an ice stock pool with Morse and that he made a profit thereby.

United States District Attorney Stimson, the former law partner of Secretary of State Elihu Root, denied that evidence of Mr. Sheldon's connection with a Morse Ice stock pool was in his possession and also declared that, as far as he knew, Mr. Sheldon was not connected with any ice pool.

Notwithstanding those denials the Post-Dispatch is authorized to make the statement without qualification whatever, that George R. Sheldon was a participant in an ice pool with Morse; that he got his share of the profits of that speculation, and that there is documentary evidence in existence, which will be produced, to show Mr. Sheldon's connection with the Morse Ice pool, in the form of correspondence, and Mr. Sheldon's acknowledgement of the receipt of his ice stock profits.

This documentary evidence is in the National Bank of North America. That the Government's expert accountants who have been ransacking the records of the bank since last February and who found everything pertaining to the participation of Schwab, Gates, Carroll and the others in the Ice pool could have overlooked the records relating to Mr. Sheldon is admitted to be possible, but highly improbable.

Morse and Lawyers Confer.

Morse and his lawyers had a long conference in his office at 5 Nassau street last night after the trial ended for the day and Mr. Sheldon's denial of the Post-Dispatch's statement that he was a participant in an Ice pool was discussed at great length. All of Morse's lawyers, Wallace, McFarlane, ex-Congressman Littlefield and Eugene P. Carver attended the conference.

After the conference Eugene P. Carver dictated the following to a reporter of the Post-Dispatch:

"The truth or falsity of Mr. Sheldon's statement is a subject of proof and as to that Mr. Carver will endeavor to obtain the facts as they exist."

There is more behind that statement of Mr. Carver's than appears on the surface. By the action of a majority of the stockholders of the National Bank of North America, at a meeting late yesterday afternoon, the bank was taken out of the hands of Receiver Charles A. Hanna. Today the agent of the stockholders are in possession of the bank.

All of the documents of the institution not now in the possession of District Attorney Stimson will be once more in the custody of the stockholders through their agent. The largest individual stockholder of the bank is Mr. Morse and his holdings, with those of his friends, constitute a majority.

Bank Records to Be Searched.

A search of the bank's records will be made for the documentary evidence concerning Mr. Sheldon and the Ice stock speculations. The evidence, it is declared, was in the bank when the United States Government officials took charge of the institution.

The Evening Sun printed this statement as coming from Mr. Sheldon:

"I never was an officer of the (Ice) company; never made any profit out of it any way; never was a shareholder and never was a member of a pool in ice."

To a reporter of the Post-Dispatch all that Mr. Sheldon would say was:

"You have made the statement, go ahead and prove it. I have just referred another newspaper man to the United States District Attorney, and he pronounced the article unqualifiedly

Residence Section Of St. Louis Pretty As Can Be Found
—Archbishop Farley

ARCHBISHOP FARLEY.

AFTER a drive through the great resident places of St. Louis and while his carriage was stopped so that he could get a better view of the beautiful churches on King's highway, Archbishop Farley of New York said:

"I can recall no city in the world more beautiful in its residence section than St. Louis. Your city is destined to become the Athens of the West."

The distinguished prelate saw St. Louis thoroughly before his departure for New York Tuesday night. Tuesday morning he was taken for a drive through the West End by Theophile Papin and it was at the conclusion of the drive that he expressed his opinion of the city.

"In St. Louis the workingmen and poorer classes are much better taken care of in their homes than similar classes in New York," the Archbishop said. "This results in contentment and prevents social troubles. I have seen no districts in St. Louis that I could call squalid. In fact, there seems to be no real squalor in the city.

City Is Excellently Planned.

"THE city is excellently planned. Each class is adequately cared for according to its needs and tastes. A well-planned city like St. Louis encourages growth and eliminates the element of disorder that may come with growth.

"Your resident places are magnificent. What would we not give in New York for the great houses with their terraces and lawns that you have in this beautiful city of yours?

"Then the rows upon rows of small houses, each with their bit of lawn and shrubbery. They seem to me to be little gems of comfort. The economy and yet perfect taste with which they are built is a fine reflection on the intelligence and culture of St. Louisans.

Charmed With Forest Park.

"I WAS very curious to see Forest Park. The great park of a city is always indicative of the culture and taste of its inhabitants. Forest Park charmed me. It is much superior in natural beauty to Central Park in New York.

"The buildings of Washington University delighted me. The two-story structures are impressive and in perfect architectural taste. The ground arrangement of the buildings in relation to one another is excellent and the university is a monument to the city. I noticed the statue of St. Louis in Forest Park. I think it is one of the leading statues in the country.

"In fact, you in St. Louis have many things to be proud of. And New York is glad that you have, because there has always been a bond of sympathy between the two cities—one the metropolis of the East and the other the metropolis of the West."

PREDICTION OF STORMS IS COINCIDENT WITH ANOTHER EPISTLE FROM ROOSEVELT

THE TEMPERATURE.

1 a. m.	68	12 (noon)	76
5 a. m.	59	2 p. m.	80
9 a. m.	63

History repeats itself. Roosevelt has written another campaign letter and the Weather Man has predicted storms again.

It looks as bad as all this to the W. M.: "Threatening, with showers and much cooler tonight; Friday, partly cloudy and cooler; northerly winds."

There have been real showers in Minnesota, Iowa, Oklahoma and Texas. At Kansas City there has been a ... inch rainfall in 48 hours.

The river is still flowing above the surface, and is at 3.3. This is a fall of .1, but there may be some risings when the Kansas rains send their effects here via the Missouri.

Missouri—Partly cloudy and cooler tonight, with possibly showers in southeast half; Friday fair; probably frost Friday morning.

Illinois—Probably showers and cooler tonight; Friday fair and cooler.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

HOUSEKEEPING FIRMS TO SOLVE "GIRL PROBLEM"

Mrs. Norton, Chicago University Professor, Predicts the Servant's "Finish."

PLEASES CLUBWOMEN

They Approve Suggestion to Form Companies for Supplying Help.

Mrs. Alice Peloubet Norton, assistant professor of household administration in the University of Chicago, suggested to the Illinois clubwomen, in session at the First M. E. Church in East St. Louis Thursday, that the time is coming when household work will be done by business firms organized for that purpose.

The hope that she held out for the solution of the servant-girl problem was that companies would be formed to furnish trained persons to do all the different branches of housework for long or short periods and do the work according to business usages.

Clubwomen Like Plan.

She said she thought such companies would go far toward solving the question. The clubwomen listened with apparent approbation.

Mrs. Norton's subject was "Home Economics and the New Education." The new education, she said, sought to teach the child what make it most useful, and omitted that which does not deal with present-day conditions.

Mrs. William A. Blodgett of Chicago spoke on "Household Economics," dwelling especially on new methods and time-saving devices.

Mrs. Andrew Caldwell, chairman of the Pure Food Committee, told of the work of the committee, and advised the women to watch the labels on the food they buy and work for the passage of ordinances requiring the inspection of milk, meat and other things.

Miss O'Connor Wit of Convention.

Miss Kate O'Connor of Rockford is the wit of the convention. During the session Wednesday afternoon the women were annoyed by the noise of passing wagons and the pounding of a carpenter upon the roof of the church.

Mrs. George Watkins, president, called to the ushers:

"Close the doors and windows; there is too much noise."

"Yes, and haul the man off the roof," added Miss O'Connor in a voice just tipped with a suggestion of Irish brogue.

At another time, while the convention is the greatest educational uplift holding its meetings once in two years instead of once a year, Miss O'Connor arose and said:

"The annual meeting of this federation is the greatest educations uplift that the majority of us have, and to hold it only once in two years is a long time between nourishment."

That settled it. The convention voted to hold annual meetings.

The Rev. Caroline Bartlett Crane is pastor of an Institutional Church she founded and built in Kalamazoo, Mich. One of the most interesting features of the meeting was her lecture on "The White Woman's Burden."

"Poor Piteous to Poor."

"The poor are piteous to the poor," she said: "The poor are more broad-minded than the rich. The rich can give the poor cards and spades in the game of life and then the poor would win out.

"Not long ago we were hunting a home for an abandoned babe. It was refused by all the rich families in town and was finally adopted by a poor woman with nine children of her own."

Among other reforms accomplished by the Rev. Mrs. Bartlett in Kalamazoo was regular street cleaning in charge of a woman superintendent and official inspection of meat and milk.

Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis, president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, in her address to the meeting said that the women's clubs of this country ought to work for compulsory education laws in all the states, for better school buildings, for trained superintendents in all schools, for industrial training in country schools.

"The public school is the nation's police force," she said. "The school children of today form the state of tomorrow."

Mrs. Moore urged that the schools be kept out of politics.

Percy H. Boynton, Professor of English Literature in the University of Chicago, spoke to the meeting Wednesday upon "The Social Message of George Eliot." He said in the course of his address.

"I have my doubts as to whether, were George Eliot or her counterpart living in England today, she would be a suffragette.

KILLED MAN FOR LOUD SNORING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 22.—The jury returned a verdict of guilty this noon in the case of Frank Bryant, charged with the murder of Thomas Brady the night of Aug. 3, and fixed the punishment at death.

Brady was killed by his head being crushed in by an axe. Bryant confessed, saying Brady snored so loud it was impossible to sleep near by.

CREDITORS OF C. M. FORMAN SUE HIS BROTHERS

Litigation Involves the Estate of Former Congressman W. S. Forman.

$4900 IS CLAIMED

Plaintiffs Charge C. M. Forman's Property Was Several Times Transferred.

A suit involving the estate of former Congressman W. S. Forman and revealing a disagreement among his brothers, was filed at Belleville Thursday. Hamilton A. Forman, president of the Central National Bank, and a member of the St. Louis Council, is one of the defendants.

The plaintiffs are Henry Kuhlman, James M. Dill, J. W. Alcorn and J. T. McClain, who sue as creditors of C. M. Forman of East St. Louis. The defendants are C. M. Forman, his wife, Dora; Mrs. Esther Forman, widow of W. S. and administratrix of his estate; H. A. Forman, Z. P. Forman and J. E. Walker.

Alcorn alleges that C. M. Forman owed him $500, Kuhlman alleges that C. M. Forman owed him $2300, Dill gives his claim as $1600, and McClain his as $500.

They allege that on Aug. 20, 1907, C. M. Forman transferred to W. S. Forman property in Washington County, valued at $38,000, and property in St. Clair County, Ill., valued at $12,500, stipulating that W. S. Forman was to settle his (C. M. Forman's) debts.

It is alleged that W. S. Forman transferred that property to Hamilton A. Forman with a similar stipulation. Then, it is charged, Hamilton A. Forman transferred the property to Zenas P. Forman, another brother.

An allegation is made that W. S. and Hamilton A. Forman had notice of the existence of the claims sued for when they entered into the contract to pay C. M. Forman's debts.

Hamilton A. Forman said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday:

"My brother W. S. had an agreement with our brother C. M. to settle the latter's debts, but C. M.'s representations relative to the amount of his debts were found to be too small. I loaned W. S. the money to pay about $20,000 worth of those debts and then he quit. I did not agree to settle any debts, but took a transfer of the property to protect myself. I am perfectly willing to surrender the property whenever I get back the money I loaned to W. S. to pay out for C. M."

W. S. Forman was an East St. Louis lawyer and politician. He died suddenly last spring while in Champaign, Ill., to attend the commencement exercises of his son, Hamilton, who was graduating in law.

On the morning of the commencement day Mrs. Forman, who was with her husband, was awakened by his gasping. He did not revive. An inquest was held and a Coroner's jury verdict returned that he died a natural death, due to heart failure.

Mr. Forman had been under medical treatment for many months. He had a throat affection, caused by smoking. His family say the same thing affected his heart.

YOUNG HANNEGAN, LAMBERT PSYCHIC, TALKS OF POWER

WEIGHS 200 POUNDS

Medium Studied by Prof. Hyslop Gives Interview to the Post-Dispatch.

In order to establish the personality of Will Hannegan, the young man who has made himself a national character by reason of his remarkable psychic manifestations as told in the Journal of the Society of Pyschical Research, Mrs. Helen Lambert of 4401 McPherson avenue, consented Wednesday morning to permit an interview between the carefully guarded psychic and a reporter for the Post-Dispatch.

Ever since the Post-Dispatch first made public the stories of the wonderful psychic power of the young man, who is the trained nurse in charge of Jordan W. Lambert's 5-year-old son Junior, he has been hidden from public view. Wednesday Mrs. Lambert was persuaded to permit him to talk to a reporter.

Hannegan came into the parlor of the luxurious apartments the Lamberts occupy as diffidently as a debutante. He is a moon-faced young man, short, stout and weighs 200 pounds. In spite of this his manner is diffident, not to say effeminite. He is very reserved in manner and more than reticent in the description of his psychical manifestations.

Does Not Seek Notoriety.

After he was introduced to the reporter he picked up a book from a music rack and chewed the corner of it, while he looked at the reporter in a dubious way.

"I have not been seeking notoriety in any way," said Hannegan, "and I am sorry that this publicity has come about. As for myself, I have not much to say. Prof. Hyslop seems to have said it all."

Mr. Hannegan produced a copy of the proceedings of the Physical Society's report and read a description of himself.

"I have lived in St. Louis all my life," he said, "in one parish in North St. Louis, up near the water tower. It doesn't matter about my life as a boy or afterward. I understand all you want to know is about what I have done in a psychic way. If that is so I will tell you I know nothing about them. I was a passive subject to the demonstrations and know no more than you do how they occurred."

Knows Nothing of Events.

"Is it true that your astral body ascended from you while asleep?" he was asked.

"I don't know," was the reply. "If Mrs. Lambert saw it I suppose it is true. I was not aware of it."

"Are you aware of how you perform the wonderful things that have been attributed to you?"

"I know nothing about what I do nor how I do it. When I write my hand is controlled and the pencil glides over the paper telling things I know nothing

DYING, REFUSES TO GIVE NAME OF HIS ASSAILANT

Man Stabbed in Street Fight Seeks Revenge According to "Gang" Ethics.

True to the code of his gang, Charles C. Garrett of 608 Biddle street, refuses to tell who stabbed him in a street fight at Sixth and Biddle streets, Wednesday night.

He is said to be in a dying condition at the City Hospital, and he is so weak that he can hardly talk at all.

When an officer of the law bent over his cot and asked him if he knew who stabbed him he whispered back:

"Yes, I know who cut me."

"Who was it?" he was asked.

His lips curled in a sneering smile as he answered:

"I don't ask no favors of the police. I don't want them to right my wrongs."

The officer begged him to tell, so if he should die, justice might be meted out to the one responsible for his death. Again the sneer came upon his pale face and he said:

"Until I'm able to get my own revenge I won't tell the man's name."

Went to Girl's Assistance.

Garrett was in a saloon at 618 Biddle street at 9:30 o'clock when he heard a woman scream for help. He ran out and saw Rosa Kelly struggling with several men in the street who were teasing her.

Garrett interfered on behalf of the girl and a fight followed, in which Garrett was stabbed once in the breast, twice in the abdomen and he was kicked on the head and in the face. He was unconscious when picked up, but at the hospital he recovered enough to talk.

Rosa Kiely and William Kean of 1423 O'Fallon, who is supposed to have been in the gang, are in the hands of the police, but they all refuse to talk.

Keane, Joseph Murano of 906 North Ninth street and Sam Nonato of the same address, were taken to the hospital and led to Garrett's cot. The wounded man said he could not identify them.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER BELOW BRIDGE

Police Unable to Identify Her; Apparently About Fifty Years Old.

A river mystery developed Thursday from the finding near the Eagle Packet Co. wharfboat at the foot of Vine street of the body of a middle-aged woman.

Nothing is known of the disappearance in St. Louis of such a woman. She was apparently 50 years old, five feet two inches in stature, weighed 130 pounds, had brown hair and wore a brown waist and gray skirt.

Casual examination made by the negro roustabouts who found the body and Policeman Murphy showed no mark of violence. The body was sent to the Morgue.

On the third finger of her left hand were a heavy gold band ring with the initials G. B. A., and a smaller ring set with opals.

She wore a heavy long black coat lined with silk, a blue silk shirtwaist and a black broadcloth skirt, and a black lace net collar. Her shoes were lowcut patent leathers and her stockings black.

FLOOD THREATENS OKLAHOMA

Rainfall Began Three Days Ago, Hasn't Stopped Yet.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Oct. 22.—A serious flood threatens portions of Central and Northern Oklahoma, the result of a steady downpour of rain that has prevailed for the past three days and which still continues.

In some portions the rainfall has amounted almost to the proportions of a cloudburst. Numerous reports of loss of life, made yesterday, remain unconfirmed, and are believed to be without foundation. No reports of drownings have been verified.

GETS PROMOTION AND INCREASED PAY; ENDS LIFE

D. W. Devol, Formerly of St. Louis, Takes Poison in Kansas City.

LEFT THREE LETTERS

LIKED BY EMPLOYERS

Young Man's Prospects Bright and Financial Affairs in Good Shape.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 22.—Within a few hours after he had been notified that he was slated for a promotion and increase in salary D. W. Devol, 22 years old, secretary of the Standard Paint Co., ended his life by drinking carbolic acid in his room at the Lafayette Hotel here this morning. He was found unconscious at 10 a. m. by the manager of the hotel and died at the Emergency Hospital without making a statement.

Beside the bed on which he was found senseless were three sealed letters. One was addressed to his father, W. C. Devol, president of the Farmers' Bank at Steelville, Mo. A second was addressed to his brother-in-law, Dr. E. A. Evans of Conway Springs, Kan., and the third to his fiancee, Miss Pansie Campbell of Stanton, Mo.

Young Devol's friends here could not throw any light on the motive for suicide. The explanation probably is contained in the letters he left, but they were not opened by the police.

Financial Affairs All Right.

Devol's father is one of the prominent men of Crawford County. He is well situated financially and so far as is known his son's financial affairs were in good shape. The young man came to Kansas City last July. For two years previous he had worked for the paint company in St. Louis.

His record here, according to his employers, was splendid. A. M. McCoy, manager of the Kansas City branch of the Standard Paint Co., yesterday notified him that he was to be promoted and that his salary would be increased.

Fiancee Weeps at News.

Miss Pansie Campbell of Stanton, young Devol's fiancee, wept when she was informed by a Post-Dispatch reporter over the long distance telephone Thursday that Devol had killed himself.

"I know of absolutely no reason why he should have taken his life," she said. "I have know him for about ten years. We expected to marry soon. I cannot imagine why he killed himself. We had had no trouble."

GOODENOUGH GAD ENOUGH TO GET FINED $25—ENOUGH

Hit Ragman With Brick—Costs Another $5 to Throw and Miss.

William Goodenough was bad enough to throw a brick at Hyman Moltzman and Judge Pollard was severe enough to fine him $25, which Goodenough thought was more than enough. William Schoene threw two bricks, which was not schoen, but he missed, and the Judge let him off with $5.

Goodenough lives at 5578 Labadie avenue and Schoene at 1927 Burd avenue. Moltzman is a rag man and lives at 1443 Biddle street. He was driving through an alley between Kennerly and Maffitt avenues, near Belleglade avenue, when Goodenough and Schoene undertook to suppress him. Goodenough's brick hit him in the back.

JOHN DIEHL AND JOHN DIEHL PUZZLE A MARSHAL

When the Marshal in the Wyoming Street Police Court Thursday said: "John Diehl, stand up," two men rose to their feet.

When he said, "John Diehl, sit down," both dropped back in their chairs.

"Which is John Diehl?" he asked.

"I am," said each.

"Which is John Diehl of 2930 South Ninth street?"

"I am," said each.

The elder man was finally identified as the defendant. His nephew of the same name and address was the accuser.

He said that when he went home Wednesday night his uncle wouldn't let him in and called him names.

The uncle's fine of $5 was stayed on promise of good behavior.

SNAKE GOT HIS TAFT BUTTON

WINSTED, Conn., Oct. 22.—James Post of Nepaugh, looking for his cows yesterday, came across a nest of black snakes. Instead of running they showed fight. He killed seven, one of them six feet long, but a dozen escaped.

After the battle he was unable to find his Taft campaign button and he believes one of the reptiles swallowed it.

JAPANESE SEND PEACE MESSAGE TO AMERICANS

Declare That Two Countries Have a Strong Note of Affinity.

FLEET'S WELCOME SURE

50,000 Tokio Residents in Celebration of Crowning Event of Visit.

TOKIO, Oct. 22.—The reception to the officers and men of the American battleship fleet reached a climax tonight. A spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm, in which 50,000 persons participated, crowned the unbroken series of luncheons, dinners, balls and garden parties that have marked the five days since the warships anchored in Yokohama harbor.

The people of Tokio did honor to the American visitors in a demonstration that eclipsed any in the history of the city, not even excepting the celebrations that have followed the most signal successes of the Japanese army and navy.

A torchlight procession, arranged as a surprise, was the concluding feature of the day. For nearly six hours the principal streets were packed with the paraders, who numbered upwards of 50,000 and who found their way through the city like a crooked river of running fire. Every individual of the vast multitude carried a lantern and in addition Japanese and American flags.

Dozens of Bands of Music.

At intervals were huge illuminated designs of costly and striking Oriental designs. Included in the line were dozens of bands of music, large and small, and a corps of buglers from the Jamanese army and naval stations.

Everywhere the Americans were cheered and nowhere was the enthusiasm roused to a wilder or madder pitch than when the great procession reached the American Embassy.

For more than an hour the pageant wound through the grounds, cheering the admirals of the American fleet and calling by name for Ambassador O'Brien, who, as it chanced, was in attendance at the dinner of Count Komura.

After the demonstration had extended over a considerable period, Mrs. O'Brien appeared and was received with evidences of the greatest popularity. The bands united in playing the American national hymn again and again and the buglers saluted.

Official Luncheon Elaborate.

The official luncheon of the Mayor of Tokio was an extremely elaborate affair. In addition to Rear Admiral Sperry and Ambassador O'Brien the guests, numbering 240 in all, included Count Komura, Vice-Admiral Saito, Minister of Marine; Baron Kaneka, president of the American's Friends Society, and other men distinguished in official and private life.

Mayor Osaki toasted the President of the United States and Ambassador O'Brien gave the health of the Emperor. The Mayor then delivered the royal address of welcome, inscribed upon a long scroll beautifully illuminated, which he presented, after reading, to Admiral Sperry.

In this address, Mayor Osaki expressed the most sincere gratitude of the nation for America's evidence of a friendly support of Japan in sending the fleet to Yokohama. He referred at length to the history of the cordial relations that have existed between the two countries, in part saying:

"This is what the great President of the United States has said your navy stands for: 'A power never used except to liberate the oppressed or assist the helpless.' The Japanese navy has fought only to save their country from aggression and possible extinction. Hence, there is betwen us a great note of affinity.

Sends Message to U. S.

"I may be touching a delicate subject, but I feel I would be doing less than my duty if I failed to convey the assurance that in this welcome the real heart of the Japanese nation speaks to the heart of the great American nation. We ask you to send to your people this message:

"Japan believes that war between America and Japan would be a crime against the past, the present and the future of both countries. Your nation has always represented the West to us and the waters of the great Pacific that separate yet at the same time join us, because that must be guarded by our two powers. It is a matter of inspiration to us to realize that our common point of meeting lies in the Pacific.

"We sincerely believe that the great navy which you are so proud to possess, and we are so proud to welcome, stands for those sublime principles, which in supreme moments can rise above the question of race and color. We are your friends forever."

Sperry Wildly Welcomed.

The address was received with the wildest enthusiasm as was also accorded the response of Rear Admiral Sperry, which was couched in the terms o fthe most feeling appreciation, with assurances of the continued friendship of America and with thanks for the welcome, the remembrance of which would be carried back to America by 15,000 representatives, each part of the bone and sinew of America and each anxious to wipe out all possible misunderstandings of Japan's attitutde of profound sincerity.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press. In addition it receives the service of the United Press and maintains a leased wire to its New York Bureau. Its news-gathering organization is unsurpassed in the United States. No other St. Louis newspaper approaches it.

Strange Demonstrations by Hannegan for the Lamberts

MRS. LAMBERT heard the key turn in the door of a room in which Hannegan and her boy were sleeping. Opening the door she saw the astral body of Hannegan floating above the bed where his physical body lay in deep slumber.

Her son, Junior, was going out to play, and was lamenting the fact that his tennis ball was locked up in the bathhouse. Arriving at the playground he put his hand in his pocket and the ball was there. Mrs. Lambert had locked the bathhouse and had the key. She is certain the ball was there when she closed the door

One stormy night in Mr. Lambert's office a large table followed Hannegan about the room.

Roses which did not wither for days and were of unknown species have been materialized at Hannegan's bidding.

Hannegan does not know one musical note from another. Yet he can play the scores of operas which he has never heard and can transpose the music at will when under the influence of his "guide."

When Mr. Lambert spoke of the loss of a coin, Hannegan told him it had worked through a hole in his pocket and had slipped down into the lining. It was found there.

AUSTRIAN EAGER TO GO HOME FOR WAR ON SERVIA

Lieutenant Harmuth Certain That Hostilities Will Soon Break Out.

Gust. Harmuth of 3567 Lindell avenue, lieutenant in the Austrian Army, feels so certain that there will be war between Austria and Servia that he is holding himself in readiness to return to his native land.

In event of hostilities he is anxious to og to the front as a soldier, war correspondent or artist.

Though he has been in the United States' only 18 months, he speaks and writes English well, having received the groundwork of his English education in the Austrian public schools and at the military college where he was trained to be an officer in the army.

His last commission, which he still holds, was as Lieutenant in the Thirteenth Field Artillery. Besides English, he speaks German, Hungarian and Servian. He is also a skillful pen-and-ink artist.

Goes Home to Practice War.

Having served his military term, he was permitted to come to the United States, but is required to return to Hungary every two years for practice maneuvers.

"I believe that Austria would be an easy victor in a war with Servia," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "There are thousands of Hungarians in this country who would be subject to a call o arms if their services were needed and most of them would respond. I would not wait for the call if I felt that I was needed.

"I believe that the call would be unnecessary, as Austria could subdue Servia with only a part of her fighting force.

Wants an Assignment.

"I am anxious, though, to go to the front as a correspondent. I would not care to do so for any St. Louis paper except the Post-Dispatch. It is the only one that prints all the news in a way to enlighten its readers."

Mr. Harmuth made a formal, well-written application for the position of war correspondent and embellished it with a pen-and-ink copy of one of his original sketches of a Servian farmer at the plow.

He is St. Louis representative of a New York novelty company.

STREET SWEEPERS CAN SWEEP, BUT NOT INTO THE STREET

Judge Tracy Fines One and Cites Ordinance Forgotten Long Ago.

Sidewalk sweepers who have been giving discomfort to St. Louisans, will have to quit it. Judge Tracy says so. He has convinced at least one of the sweepers, James A. Harrison, by fining him $10 and costs for sweeping into the streets, and $25 for resisting Policeman Moorman and making the latter roll in a pile of sweepings to take him.

The Judge made a talk, telling why he fined Harrison. The most startling thing he said was that there was an ordinance forbidding the sweeping of dirt from stores into the street.

This will be news to the sweepers and the public. The sweepers have long deemed it their right to stir up all the dust they wanted to, no matter how many were passing; and the public has come to take the nuisance as one of the necessary evils of existence—a sort of occupation tax for being allowed to walk in front of the stores that hire the sweepers.

ALLEGED RIVAL SLAYS HUSBAND

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 22—Edward Miers, 35, was shot and instantly killed by William Pugh in the presence of Mrs. Miers today. Miers was jealous of Pugh, who had befriended Miers' wife when Miers was in jail.

Pugh called at the Miers home and unexpectedly found Miers there. Mr. Miers declares that her husband made a motion toward his hip pocket and Pugh fired. Miers fell dead in his tracks. Investigation proved he had no weapon.

SOCKLESS WILD MAN NEAR ALTON IS REAL THING

Runs Like a Deer and Hair Falls on His Shoulders in Tangled Mass.

There is a wild man on Horse Island, near Alton, and anyone who will disguise himself as a pair of socks has a fine chance to capture him. For the w. m. is barefoot, and it is getting late for that sort of thing. There are fashions, even for near-Alton wild men, and socks are de rigeur after Oct. 25 or thereabouts.

Aside from his lack of footwear, this wild man has no claim to eminence among Alton's nature and denatured products. He runs like a deer, it is true, but who ever heard of a wild man who didn't?

Also, his hair falls on his shoulders in a tangled mass and hides his face, all save his piercing black eyes. And his beard comes down so far that his lack of a necktie is not noticed. All of which stamps him as the conventional wild man.

Horse Island is near the Missouri shore, a mile south of Portage des Sioux. Henry Hutch, a fisherman, had it all to himself until the wild man arrived. Hutch has been unable to come to any understanding with the wild man, as the latter has sought the brush whenever the fisherman approached.

Peter Jost told some of his Alton friends about the wild man, and when they were incredulous, took them up to the island a few days ago in his yacht Porpoise. The wild man made one appearance, enough to convince Jost's friends, but refused to respond to an encore.

about at such a speed that I could not do it if I tried."

Writes Without Knowing It.

"Do you know how those roses appeared upo nthe table at that seance which is reported by Prof. Hyslop?"

"Of course not. I did not know anything about the roses or what I wrote. I don't know anything about these things or what happens."

"When you were a boy did you ever have anything of this sort happen to you?"

"Not that I remember. When I was a boy I used to know things that would happen."

"Got what they call 'hunches' on things? In other words, you had intuitions, i stha tit? Yo uknew what was going to happen before it did?"

"Yes, I always knew when anything bad was going to occur. But the first I knew about my writing powers was March 4 last.

"How did it come about?"

"I was at the house of a friend. They were trying to do some table tipping and it did not succeed. I never took any stock in that sort of thing anyhow. Suddenly the table came across the room and was dumped upside down in my lap. The more I tried to get away from it the more the table pursued me.

"I started to write that night and they say I have written a lot that means more than I understand. I don't pretend to know antyhing."

Hannegan smiled, shewing a set of teeth like those of a girl. His round, rosy face beamed with merriment as he told that he did not know what he was doing when he wrote letters and laid white roses on the table.

Does Not Understand Power.

"Will is a mere boy," said Mr. Lambert, speaking of Hannegan. "Although he is 26 years old, he is entirely unsophisticated. He does not smoke or drink and he has never had a love affair.

"Really he is an extraordinary young fellow. His family have lived in one parish in St. Louis all his life. His mother, who died three years ago, was a superior woman, and he is the baby of the family. That is all I know about him. I don't know even where the family lives."

Hannegan is said to have been graduated from St. John's Hospital Training School. At the school it was said that he worked in the hospital as a nurse about five years ago, but that was before the school was established.

Two Hundred New Walking Suits For Women

Each Suit a Triumph of Style and Elegance: Better Still, each is a Triumph of Genuine Value-giving

JUST two lots, $25.00 and $32.50, but when we say that the first is a $32.50 value, and that the second could not be reproduced in the regular way for less than $40.00, we merely state cold facts, and almost underrate them.

We know, however, that the women of St. Louis who want something rather superior will accept these facts and attend the sale in full confidence that garments presented by S-V-B are fashionably correct and as represented.

BIG AUTO BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE; 3 MEN MISSING

Chicago Millionaire's Car Shattered to Atoms—No Trace of Occupants.

WAS SPEEDING IN ROAD

Police Believe Explosion Is Result of Plot Against Motor Scorchers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—That dynamiters are trying to curb automobile speed mania is the theory of the police, who early today left for Hawthorne, a suburb, in an endeavor to solve the mystery of the strangest automobile accident Chicago has ever known. Last night a big, red car was blown to atoms. In it, it is said, three men were sitting. No trace of the men could be found in the darkness.

The accident was followed by fire and almost the only part of the machine left intact was a portion of the gasoline tank, half filled with gasoline.

Dynamite, the police say, is the explosive that was used, and they declare that it seems probable that it was deliberately placed there to destroy the machine.

The only clue to the identity of the machine and its owner was the license tag which bears the number 2923 Illinois. This number is registered in the name of George F. Getz, a millionaire. Getz has four machines. The one bearing the number corresponding to the tag found was kept at the garage of he Chicago Automobile Club. According to the club attaches Getz was at the club last evening. He has not yet returned to his home or been seen at his other clubs, so far as the police can learn.

Stories told the police indicate that the car was blown up while in motion. It is their theory that some one who wants to stop automobile speeding in the suburbs put dynamite on the road to be struck by the first car that passed. They say they know of no reason why the Getz car should have been selected if the dynamiting was the work of such persons.

PAINTER SHOT IN A QUARREL WHEN HIS WAGON HIT A CART

Identifies His Assailant, Who Says He Fired in Defense of a Negro.

Lee Osborne, a painter who was shot and dangerously wounded Wednesday in a fight in the alley back of his home at 2641 Olive street, identified Frank Mingemann Thursday morning as the man who shot him.

The police took Mingemann to the City Hospital, where Osborne lay upon a cot and as soon as Osborne saw him he said: "That's the man that shot me."

Mingemann, John Lutz and Jesse Watkins, a negro, are being held by the police. The quarrel among the men concerned a collision between Osborne's wagon and a cart pushed by the negro, and Mingemann took the negro's part, firing to protect him from being killed, he says.

COLLECTOR OF TAFT CAMPAIGN FUND WHO PROFITED IN ICE POOL

Dismissal of Receiver Will Bare Secrets of Ice Pool Membership.

false. I shall pay no further attention to it."

Mr. Sheldon added that a statement printed in the Evening Post was correct. This statement follows:

"Some years ago the late Mr. Barney, president of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., came to me and asked me to help him and his friends organize the American Ice Co. I consented to be a member of an advisory committee of five.

"We organized the American Ice Securities Co., which paid dividends in 6 per cent bonds, that afterward went to 90. The reorganization was a successful one and the company later earned enough to pay 7 per cent upon its stock. I never bought any stock in this company or shared in its profits.

"Morse wrecked the company before and after the reoganization. I wish to say also that I was denied the privilege of denying or confirming the articles published this morning. I never have been an officer or director of the American Ice Co. or of the American Ice Securities Co."

Says Morse Wrecked Trust.

After he had thus accused Morse of twice wrecking the Ice company, Mr. Sheldon called up Mr. Morse on the telephone and had a long talk with him about Ice matters.

One of the confidants of Mr. Morse said:

"When John W. Gates was on the witness stand yesterday he denied that he was a member of an Ice pool, though he admitted having 10,000 shares of the stock. Others who went into the Ice speculation at Mr. Morse's invitation also regard themselves as not being members of a pool, and perhaps Mr. Sheldon reasons it out in the same way that he was not a pool member."

George R. Sheldon's Stock Exchange firm of W. C. Sheldon & Co., at 2 Wall street was one of the 59 brokerage houses through which Morse bought and sold 1,000,000 shares of Ice stock between October, 1905, and October, 1907, and by which he boosted the price of Ice stock from 25½ to 96. The connection of the firm of Mr. Taft's campaign fund collector with Morse's huge speculation is part of the record of his trial, but when it was brought out United States District Attorney Stimson did not call attention to it in any way.

The trial of Morse and Alfred H. Curtis, former president of the National Bank of North America, was interrupted today by the illness of Gordon Wendell, one of the jurors. Judge Hough adjourned court until tomorrow morning, but it is feared Wendell's ailment may incapacitate him from sitting on the jury, in which case a new jury must be impaneled.

Reflections of a Bachelor.
From the New York Press.

When a woman makes up her mind to marry a man he could escape by dying.

There is nothing more uncomfortable than being truthful in practice as well as principle.

Where a woman is smart is to follow a man's judgment to flatter him when she knows it is wrong.

A man can think he is having the grandest time in the world doing something he would know anybody else was a fool for doing.

There's nothing makes a man so proud of himself as to think he has some sort of disease unless it interferes with his eating and drinking.

Charcoal Purifies Any Breath

And In Its Purest Form Has Long Been Known As the Greatest Gas Absorber.

Pure willow charcoal will oxidize almost any odor and render it sweet and pure. A panful in a foul cellar will absorb deadly fumes, for charcoal absorbs one hundred times its volume in gas.

The ancients knew the value of charcoal and administered it in cases of illness, especially pertaining to the stomach. In England today charcoal poultices are used for ulcers, boils, etc., while some physicians in Europe claim to cure many skin diseases by covering the afflicted skin with charcoal powder.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges go into the mouth and transfer foul odors at once into oxygen, absorb noxious gases and acids and when swallowed mix with the digestive juices and stop gas making, fermentation and decay.

By their gentle qualities they control beneficially bowel action and stop diarrhoea and constipation.

Bad breath simply cannot exist when charcoal is used. There are no ifs or ands about this statement. Don't take our word for it, but look into the matter yourself. Ask your druggist or physician, or better still, look up charcoal in your encyclopedia. The beauty of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges is that the highest pharmaceutical expert knowledge obtainable has been used to prepare a lozenge that will give to man the best form of charcoal for use.

Pure willow and honey is the result. Two or three after meals and at bedtime sweeten the breath, stop decay of teeth, aid the digestive apparatus and promote perfect bowel action. They enrich the supply of oxygen to the system and thereby revivify the blood and nerves.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are sold everywhere in vast quantities, thus they must have merit. Every druggist carries them, price, twenty-five cents per box, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

ARCHBISHOP OF MANILA PRAYING FOR TAFT TO WIN

Rev. Father Harty, Former St. Louisan, Thinks Filipinos' Future at Stake.

The election of Taft for the sake of the Philippines is the subject of prayers by the Most Rev. J. J. Harty, Archbishop of Manila, according to Rev. Father Joseph Casey, chaplain of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who talked with Archbishop Harty in the Philippines recently and who was in St. Louis to attend the ceremonies at the Cathedral cornerstone laying. Father Casey left for Washington Thursday.

Father Casey, explaining that Archbishop Harty made his remarks regarding Taft in a private conversation, said:

Is Afraid of Bryan.

"This is the language His Grace used to me: 'I am convinced that Mr. Bryan is a very able and good man, and a most renowned orator, but I pray earnestly to God that Gov. Taft is elected because he knows the needs of the Philippine Islands and my dear Filipinos and will help us in every way possible while Mr. Bryan, if he should live up to the Democratic declaration, would merely produce chaos, unrest and most likely a terrible insurrection, as our ordinary Filipinos, while good, religious people, are not ready yet to govern themselves, and will not be for many years.

"'In fact, we are better off under the present form of government than we ever could be under even absolute independence, because now we have the powerful and generous United States behind us.'"

Formerly St. Louis Pastor.

Archbishop Harty formerly was pastor of St. Leo's Church and was one of the most popular Catholic clergymen in St. Louis.

Father Casey is a son of Peter A. Casey, a retired merchant, living at 4925 Evans avenue. Father Casey was educated at St. Louis University.

He says that in traveling across this country from California he asked most of the men he met whom they favored for President. He says he found the sentiment large for Taft. Americans in the Philippines are anxious to see Taft elected, he said.

Father Casey himself favors Taft because of the work the Ohioan did in the Philippines and for other reasons.

The Boiler Inspector has caused 18 arrests on similar charges in the last few weeks. The minimum fine is $50 and the maximum $300.

BARNSDALL HAS BIGGEST SUPPLY OF GAS, HE SAYS

Pittsburg Promoters Asks Right on Ground of Ability to Meet Demand.

RODGERS' STATEMENT

He Says His Syndicate Is Entitled to Franchise by Reason of Priority.

T. M. Barnsdall of Pittsburg, who has applied for a franchise to sell natural gas in St. Louis at 35 cents a thousand cubic feet, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday that he has absolutely no connection with the Laclede Gas Light Co. or the North American Co., or any of their officers.

Mr. Barnsdall, accompanied by G. T. Braden, also of Pittsburg, arrived in St. Louis Thursday morning to attend to various matters in connection with their proposed franchise.

"I have asked for a franchise in St. Louis because I have more natural gas than I know what to do with," said Mrs. Barnsdall. "I have three times as much natural gas as anybody else in the country.

"If I get the franchise I propose to sell natural gas in St. Louis independent of any other company. I do not know anybody connected with the Laclede Gas Light Co., or the North American Co., and I have had no dealings with those people.

Had Plan Years Ago.

"Several years ago when I wanted to pipe natural gas to St. Louis I called on Mr. Cowdrey, who was then manager of the Laclede. I did not bring natural gas to St. Louis then because the Department of the Interior objected to me owning 250,000 acres of Indian Territory lands.

"It is our present intention to pipe the city for the distribution of our gas and not to use Laclede mains. Piping gas to St. Louis is a big proposition, but I think I can have the pipe lines laid to the doors of the city in a year after the franchise is granted, if I get it.

"I did not get in with my bill earlier because I was figuring on piping my gas to Texas. I saw in the newspapers that St. Louis was 'hollering' for natural gas and I decided to try for a franchise, knowing if I got it that I would have a market for all of my gas. I propose at first to lay a 24-inch pipe line, with a daily capacity of 93,000,000 cubic feet and to increase the capacity as the demand requires.

Has Gas Bottled Up.

"As soon as natural gas is put into St. Louis there will be a demand for not less than 100,000,000 to 120,000,000 cubic feet a day. I have millions of cubic feet of gas bottled up now, just waiting for a market. All I ask is that the franchise be given to the company or individual who can show the most gas.

"I am now supplying dozens of towns with gas, including Kansas City, St. Joseph, Topeka, Independence, Joplin and others. I have several big companies now in active business, and do not anticipate any trouble in financing a project to pipe gas to St. Louis."

Mr. Barnsdall said he would be in St. Louis for the day only. He is a large, plain-spoken man, of nervous temperament. He was sick last week and could not get to St. Louis to attend the public hearing on his bill, but he was represented by Mr. Braden, who is associated with him in the enterprise.

When Mr. Barnsdall arrived in St. Louis he was met with an open letter from James O. Rodgers, in behalf of himself and other grantees named in the 35-cent natural gas bill introduced for him and his associates in the Council and now pending before the Public Improvements Committee of the House.

Claim of Priority.

On account of having introduced a natural gas bill last February and having made a campaign for natural gas in St. Louis, Mr. Rodgers wants to know if he should not, in fairness, receive the natural gas franchise, as the later bills introduced have offered no improvements over his original bill. In answering the question in his own behalf, Mr. Rodgers says:

"The Rodgers syndicate offered this great boon to the city Feb. 12, 1908.

"The Rodgers syndicate was the pioneer who first blazed the way to make cheaper the cost of living for the citizens of St. Louis.

"The terms of the Rodgers' bill and the prices which were asked have not been improved upon by any of the other competitors now in the field.

No Better Terms Offered.

"If the other competitors are more practical gas men than Mr. Rodgers and his associates why have they not been able to improve on his bill either as to terms or prices?

"No other competitors appeared in the field until September, 1908, after the Rodgers bill had been passed by the Council and upon the night when the chairman of the Committee on Public Improvements of the House of Delegates had promised he would make a report on the Rodgers bill.

"Should not the Rodgers syndicate, which was first to offer natural gas to the city, receive the franchise, or should the later applicants receive all the benefits and advantages of the campaign to give the city natural gas which campaign was inaugurated and pressed by the Rodgers syndicate?"

Mr. Barnsdall said he did not care to reply to Mr. Rodgers' arguments, or to make any public criticism of the original promoter or his bill.

EIGHTEENTH STREET VIADUCT TO BE OPENED NEXT MONTH

Compton Heights and Park Avenue Cars Will Soon Save Long Detours.

Southsiders who ride on the Compton Heights and Park avenue cars will reach their work in the morning and their homes in the evening 10 minutes earlier after Nov. 1.

On that date the Eighteenth street bridge will be so nearly reconstructed that street cars and vehicles will be permitted to cross and thus save long detours over the Twenty-first and Fourteenth street bridges.

The west sidewalk was opened for pedestrians a week ago. The east footway will be ready Nov. 1.

Since the reconstruction of the bridge began April 1, the Compton Heights and Park avenue cars have been crossing the Mill Creek Valley on the Fourteenth street viaduct.

The cost of rebuilding the south half of the bride—all that was included in the contract—will be $80,000. Five spans over 36 tracks have been rebuilt. Their total length is 470 feet.

MORE CARS TO CROSS BRIDGE

After Nov. 15 persons who travel between St. Louis and Belleville on the East St. Louis & Suburban Electric Line will be spared the annoyance of a transfer in East St. Louis. On that date the cars now in use between East St. Louis and Belleville, which are too heavy to bring across the bridge, will be superseded by cars of the ordinary size, but of heavy, high-grade construction, capable of high speed, and they will be run straight through from Third street and Washington avenue to the public square in Belleville.

POLICE MATRON KEEPS INSANE WOMAN FROM ENDING LIFE

Mrs. Demuth Saves Prisoner as She Attempts to Leap Into River.

The quickness and agility of Mrs. Sophie Demuth, Alton police matron, prevented Mrs. Minnie Kleeber from jumping into the Mississippi River there.

Mrs. Demuth was taking Mrs. Kleeber to the Jacksonville Asylum for the Insane. As she was about to board the train Mrs. Kleeber jerked away and ran toward the river, crying that she would drown herself.

Mrs. Demuth followed her across the railroad tracks and grabbed her just as she was about to make the plunge.

The woman struggled until men went to the assistance of Mrs. Demuth. When Mrs. Kleeber had been quieted Mrs. Demuth deputized six of the men to help her take the frantic woman back to the police station.

EXPLOSION OF NITROGLYCERIN

Forest Fire Reaches One Magazine and Threatens Second.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 22.—Forest fires which have been raging for days in the vicinity of Shannopin, near here, communicated with the nitroglycerin plant at that place shortly before noon today, causing an explosion which blew up one of the magazines, wiping out every vestige of the building.

Another magazine, 500 feet from the first, is momentarily expected to blow up, as the fire is quickly spreading in that direction. Residents fear to remain in the vicinity to fight the fire, as 400 gallons of nitroglycerin are known to be stored in the larger magazine.

WEDDING FULFILLS DAY DREAMS OF CHILDHOOD SWEETHEARTS

They Talked of Marrying When They "Were a Couple of Kids."

The marriage of Paul Mueller Jr. of 929 Lebeaume street and Miss May E. Primeau of 924 Lebeaume street is the materialization of air castles which they built many years ago, when they were childhood sweethearts.

They have lived in the vicinity of Tenth and Lebeaume streets "always," and Paul and May have been friends the same length of time.

When they were very small children their devotion to each other was marked and they talked of the time when they would be married.

And so they were. The ceremony was performed Wednesday at St. Michael's Church, Tenth and Clinton streets, and they were then driven to the bride's home, where a wedding breakfast was served. A reception was held Wednesday night, after which the couple left for Chicago, where their honeymoon will be spent. When they return they will live at 2305 Holly avenue. Mr. Mueller is 23 years old and his bride 24.

Finds Father Dead in Bed.

Mrs. Mary Adrain of 2301 LaSalle street found her father, Peter Dubray, dead in bed when she went to his room to call him at 7:30 a. m. Thursday. He was 82 years old. When he retired at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday he seemed to be in good health. The case was reported to the Coroner.

GIRL, SPURNED BY FATHER OF CHILD, SHOOTS

"Justice Is Too Slow," She Tells Police After Badly Wounding Man.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Her love turned to hate for the man who had abandoned her and the child of which he was the father, Jennie Dempsey, 18 years old, entered the fruit store at 75 Halstead street today and fired four shots at James Sergepolis, owner of the place. One of the bullets struck him in the side and he fell unconscious.

The attempted murder followed repeated demands of the young woman that Sergepolis keep his promise to make her his wife and save the child from disgrace. She begged and pleaded with the man, but all her pleadings were met with scornful laughter and contempt.

Driven to desperation the heartbroken girl decided on a last and final plea to the man. As she became hysterical in her pleadings the man simply laughed and ordered her from the store.

He even started toward her in a threatening manner. He had gone but a few feet, however, when the girl pulled a revolver and shot him.

"Why did you do it?" asked the policeman who arrested her.

"Justice is too slow," was her reply.

Then she became hysterical and was taken to the police station, while her victim was hurried to the County Hospital. The doctors, after a hurried examination, said he had a chance for recovery.

At the police station the girl told a sad story of her efforts to have the man right the wrong which she says he had done her. She told of scorn which he exhibited toward her in her distress and the absence of any feeling for either her or the child.

Hobson Glad Japan Seems Cordial to Fleet, but Says It Doesn't Assure Peace

RICHMOND PEARSON HOBSON, Congressman from Alabama, former naval officer and hero of the "Merrimac," has declared in hundreds of Chautauqua lectures and other public utterances that war between the United States and Japan was inevitable. He has used this as his argument for an immense American navy. He comments as follows on the spectacle of 16 American battleships lying in Yokohama harbor with 16 battleships of Japan.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 22.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE cordial exchange of courtesies between our fleet and the Japanese fleet is a happy event and should be gratifying to the citizens of both countries. But it would be an unfortunate error for Americans to assume that this event modifies in any way the fundamental conditions for peace in the Pacific Ocean.

With our undefended territory holding the great harbors that must determine the control of that great ocean, with the growing competition for the trade of China, with the overlapping of the different races and different institutions represented in the two nations, with no help from Europe to place a check or a balance upon the natural, expanding impulses and ambition of the warlike Japanese nation now armed to the teeth, fresh from two victorious wars, the only possible basis for a balance of power, and therefore enduring peace, is for America to hold constant and permanent control of the sea in the Pacific.

To persist in withdrawing our fleet will be to tempt Providence and to fail to make swift provision for the permanent control of the sea in this ocean is to mock the laws of nature and to make war inevitable.

PREFERRED MUSIC TO HUSBAND

She Went to Hear the Band Play, Met Other Men.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Oct. 22.—Evidence in the divorce case of John Loy against Noral Loy, tried here before Judge Hacker, developed the fact that Mrs. Loy cared more for music and bright lights than she did for the quiet of the home and the shaded lamp.

A carnival came and she wanted to hear the band play. He did not care how much the band played, and would not go, so his wife went alone and the witnesses told the Court that the music of the merry-go-round was so tempting she rode on this machine with another man. She just would go to the carnival, so the husband remonstrated. "I did not fuss," he said, "because I am not that kind of a man. I just reasoned with her." Whereupon she took her trunk and left.

KIRALFY'S FRANCO-BRITISH EXPOSITION ALWAYS CROWDED

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Franco-British Exhibition, aided by the joyous weather, is so patronized that its capacity is overtaxed. The exhibition is the crowning triumph of Imre Kiralfy's life, yet he gets only $500 for his services. The statement is made that, in spite of the enormous attendance, the venture is a financial failure and the guarantors will be called on for 20 per cent of their subscriptions. Nevertheless an international exhibition will be opened next spring on the same site.

MISS GORMAN WEDDED YOUTH TO REFORM HIM

Early Record of Navy Musician Didn't Deter Senator's Daughter.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Friends of Miss Ada Gorman, whose marriage to Charles Joseph Magniss, alias Hartlove, an alleged navy deserter, came to light yesterday through the mans' arrest at Louisville, Ky., today told the story of their romance.

Magniss, it is said, first became acquainted with Miss Gorman at the Vermont Avenue Christian Church in this city. Members of the church remonstrated with Miss Gorman when his intimacy with her became so pronounced, but were overruled by her declaration that even though the stories of his vicissitudes were correct she would be loyal to him and effect his reformation.

Later the pastor of Miss Gorman's church was asked to officiate at the wedding, which was set for this fall. Early in September her friends were astonished to learn that she was out of the city, and until her husband's arrest at Louisville they had no further news of the couple.

Was Incorrigible as a Boy.

Magniss was born in Baltimore in 1885. At the age of 7 he was sent to St. Mary's Industrial school, it is alleged, for incorrigibility, and at 17 he was paroled and began work in a sweatshop at Baltimore. Georgianna Kappler, a seamstress of Baltimore, today declares that Magniss became engaged to her last January, and says he jilted her for Miss Gorman.

On Jan. 21, 1907, he enlisted in the Navy at Philadelphia, and after a few months' service he became a cornetist in the band on board the Dolphin, stationed at Washington. Soon after Miss Gorman became interested in the man.

Early last June, hearing Magniss express distaste of his navy life, Miss Gorman is alleged to have given him $300 with which to purchase his discharge. This money, his associates here declare, was probably squandered on jewelry, clothes and for the entertainment of his friends.

Posed as Model Youth.

During the summer Magniss spent several days at a time at Laurel, where the summer home of the Gormans is located. Here he posed as a model youth, played with the local band, went to church religiously and assiduously attended Miss Gorman.

On June 15 the Dolphin left Washington with Magniss on board. On arrival of the vessel at Newport, Magniss obtained shore leave. On July 5 he was declared a deserter, having failed to report at the expiration of his time.

The present Mrs. Magniss is 38 years of age and her husband 15 years her junior.

Rengo Belt Corsets

We have never shown a new corset that so quickly attracted wide attention and comment as has the RENGO BELT.

This corset has the most pronounced style of any we carry, due to the remarkable idea of tailoring a reinforcing belt into the body of a corset, which positively produces an even, sloping waist and reduces the hips. A pronounced waist line is largely due to lacing. The RENGO BELT gives the waist a graceful, natural shape with long flowing lines from bust to thigh, unmarred by large hips.

BOY WORKER DIES; TWIN BROTHER FIGHTS FOR LIFE

Hospital Physicians Separate Sufferers When They See One Cannot Live.

Hobart Paterson, one of the 14-year-old twins, sons of a widowed mother whom they supported with their earnings as errand boys, died of diptheria in the City Hospital at 10:30 a. m. Thursday. Tammas, his twin brother, is ill at the hospital of the same disease.

The mother, Mrs. C. E. Paterson of 5711 Kennerly avenue, did not know Hobart had diptheria when she took him to the hospital Monday. She thought he had bronchitis and that he was nearly well.

Tammas went to learn Hobart's condition Wednesday and Dr. Kirchner, Superintendent of the hospital, looked at the visitor's throat. He saw incipient diptheria there, and Tammas, weeping and protesting that he would have to remain at work for the sake of his mother, was put to bed alongside Hobart's cot.

Wednesday afternoon when the physicians saw Hobart could not live they moved Tammas and the living twin was unaware of his brother's death Thursday. Mrs. Paterson was notified and sent word that she would send for the body.

BRIDE CAST OFF BY HER PARENTS HUNTS HER HUSBAND

HENRY J. SCHMITZ

Henry Schmitz Disappears After Sending His Wife From Their Home.

Cast aside by her parents and ignored by her husband's family, Mrs. Rose Schmitz, bride of two months, is prostrated and under the care of a physician at the home of friends at 3523 Cook avenue, after walking the streets for a month looking for her husband.

After sending his wife from home by strategy Sept. 5, Henry John Schmitz packed his clothing, resigned his position as checker in a cafe and disappeared.

Mrs. Schmitz has appealed to the Post-Dispatch to aid her in her search.

Aug. 4 last Schmitz and Rose Kaminer, 19 years old, eloped to St. Charles and were married by Justice Frye. He is a Catholic and she is a Jewess. On this account both families were displeased.

Ordered From Home.

The young couple went to the Kaminer home and were ordered away. Then they went to the Schmitz home, and remained until the latter part of August, when they moved to 3706 Finney avenue, where they lived happily until September. One day Schmitz sent his wife to visit his brother, Adolph Schmitz, 4534 Adkins avenue, and while she was away he disappeared. He told his wife he was 23. His mother says he is but 19.

DEMOCRATIC GENS TO CENTER ON INDIANA AND OHIO AT FINISH

Four Special Trains Will Carry Foremost Speakers Whirling Through Two States.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—What is announced at Democratic headquarters as a "whirlwind finish of the campaign in Indiana and Ohio," will be made in the two States mentioned next week, beginning Monday. Four special trains will be used, two in each State.

In Indiana John W. Kern will head the list of speakers on the "National Special," while Thomas R. Marshall, Democratic gubernatorial candiate, will head the speaking force of the "Indiana Special."

The force of speakers who will reinforce the two candidates during the campaign include Senator Gore of Oklahoma; David R. Francis of Missouri; former Senator Charles A. Towne of New York, Representative Mark Smith of Arizona, Judge Knox of Minnesota, and Congressman Rainey of Illinois.

It is stated that the use of the four special trains will enable the speakers to reach practically every voter in the two States. Speeches, it is said, will be delivered morning, noon and night, and literature distributed in abundance.

$15,000 GIVEN TO CHARITY UNDER MRS. HOOD'S WILL

Check for $10,000 Sent to London, One for $5000 to St. Louis Institution.

Martrom D. Lewis, former Recorder of Deeds, executor without bond of the estate of the late Mrs. Eleanor Hood of Webster Groves, who died two years ago at the age of 81, has just divided $15,000 left by her between two charitable institutions, one in England and one in St. Louis.

The English charity is the Dr. Barnardo's Home, one of the largest orphanages in the world, at 22 to 26 Stepney Causeway, London. A check for $10,000 was sent to that institution. Another check for $5000 was turned over to Mrs. Roger Hayne, president of the St. Louis Bethesda Homes.

DOWAGER QUEEN REGRETS SHE CANNOT RIDE IN AIRSHIP

Special Cable From the Paris Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Dowager Queen Margherita of Italy has been at the Hotel Castighone here for a week. Like every woman of good birth, her Majesty is no older than she looks and like so many other royalties, she is sincerely interested in "the conquest of the air." The Dowager Queen has expressed the highest admiration for Wilbur Wright's skill and bravery and for his aeroplane.

"I would have liked to be the first woman to make a trip in a flying machine. But such an exploit might not be seemly for a Queen," said the Dowager of Italy.

Queen Margherita goes everywhere, sees everything, enjoys herself hugely. In the morning, she drives on the Rue De La Paix, that paradise for women who have good taste and money; stopping often before the shop windows and often entering the shops to buy or give orders.

Canal to Drain 10,000 Acres.

DE VALL'S BLUFF, Ark., Oct. 17.—Bonds to the amount of $12,500 of Drainage District No. 1 of Prairie County were placed on sale at the courthouse to pay for a drainage canal extending southwest six miles and emptying into Lagrue Bayou. This canal is to be eight feet wide at the head and 20 feet wide at the mouth, or an average depth of three feet, with two laterals of about the same dimensions, each three miles in smaller subdivisions. Ten thousand acres will be drained.

QUARRY AT GIANT'S CAUSEWAY

Columnar Basalt to Be Used in Making Good Roads.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A syndicate has been formed for the purpose of quarrying the columnar basalt on the north coast of Antrim between Ballycastle and Portrush.

It is understood that the consession which the syndicate has obtained from the ground landlords, Lord Antrim and Sir Francis Macnaghten, includes the famous Giant's Causeway.

Columnar basalt, of which this coastline is composed, has been proved to be admirably suited for road-making and the building of sea walls, and the syndicate will find employment for about 200 persons.

It is intended to begin quarrying near Portrush, but before long there will be a chain of quarries along the coast.

The promoters declare that they have no intention of interfering with the Causeway or with any of the well-known features of the coast.

Farmer, Money, Stock, Disappear.

ROGERS, Ark., Oct. 17.—With drafts and money on his persons to the amount of $5000 and a drove of seven horses, in addition to farming machinery, F. H. Peters of near this place disappeared. Mr. Peters bought property near here and went to Oklahoma, where he disposed of a farm near Manchester. He was returning with his stock and property and had reached Vinita, Ok., where he was last seen.

CHOPPED-UP BODY IN TRUNK

Sailor Catches Man Trying to Throw It Into the Ocean.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 22.—A man with a trunk boarded the steamer Cordillera, which sailed for Bordeaux. He never let the trunk out of his sight. One night at sea a sailor saw him trying to throw the trunk into the sea.

The sailor dragged the trunk back, collared the man, and forced him to raise the lid. Inside was a corpse cut into pieces. The man then confessed that it was the body of his employer, whom he had murdered with the complicity of the latter's wife. He was handed over to the police here.

BRYAN'S LABOR PROMISES WICKED, SAYS ROOSEVELT

President in Letter Puts Nebraskan on Blacklist and Boycott Platform.

WILL HE PACK COURT?

Argues That Is Only Way Bryan's Ideas Can Be Made Legal.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—In a letter addressed to Senator Knox and filled with questions asked on behalf of Mr. Taft, President Roosevelt charges that the labor legislation Mr. Bryan promises would be declared unconstitutional unless Mr. Bryan packed the Supreme Court. He then proclaims himself the honest friend of labor and Mr. Taft the man best fitted to continue the work of obtaining full justice for laboring men.

He puts the following questions regarding Mr. Bryan:

Does he favor the blacklist and secondary boycott, which the President says are part of the platform upon which Mr. Gompers has put Mr. Bryan?

Does he believe, with Mr. Gompers, that the right to do business in a lawful way is not a property right and should not be protected by the courts?

Does he indorse Mr. Gompers' attack on the Federal courts in "unmeasured terms of reproach?"

Says Trust Men Are for Bryan.

In support of his charge that the legislation Mr. Bryan proposes would not stand in court, the President says:

"I happen to know that certain great trust magnates have announced within the past few weeks, in answer to the question as to why they were openly or secretly favoring the election of Mr. Bryan, that the laws that Mr. Bryan proposed, and especially this law, would be wholly ineffective because the courts would undoubtedly throw them out, and that the promises to enact them could therefore be safely disregarded."

In praise of himself and of Mr. Taft the President says:

"I feel that I have the right to speak frankly in this letter, because throughout my term as President it has been my constant object to do everything in my power, both by administrative action and by endeavoring to secure legislative action to advance the cause of labor, protect it from unjust aggression and secure it to its legitimate rights.

Calls Taft Best Qualified.

"I have accomplished something; I hope to accomplish something more before I leave office; and I have taken special and peculiar interest in Mr. Taft's candidacy, because I believe that of all the men in this country, he is the man best qualified for continuing the work of securing to the wage workers of the country their full rights.

"I will do everything in my power for the wageworkers of the country, except to do what is wrong. I will do wrong for no man; and with all the force in my power, I solemnly warn the laboring man of this country that any public man who advocates doing wrong in their interest cannot be trusted by them; and this, whether his promise to do wrong is given knowingly that it is wrong or because of a levity and lack of consideration which makes him willing to promise anything without counting the cost, if thereby, support at the moment is to be purchased.

"Just as I have fought hard and shall continue to fight hard, to bring about in the fullest way the recognition of the right of the employe to be amply compensated for injury received in the course of his duty, so I have fought hard and shall continue to fight hard to do away with all abuses in the use of the power of injunction. I will do everything I can to see that the power of injunction is not used to oppress laboring men.

Bryan's Plan Wicked, He Says.

"I will endeavor to secure them full and equal justice. Therefore, in the interests of all good citizens, be they laboring men, business men, professional men, farmers or members of any other occupation, so long as they have in their souls the principles of sound American citizenship, I denounce as wicked the proposition to secure a law which, according to the explicit statement of Mr. Gompers, is to prevent the courts from effectively interfering with riotous violence, when the object is to destroy a business, and which will legalize the blacklist and the secondary boycott, both of them the apt instruments of unmanly persecution.

"Messrs. Bryan and Gompers are seeking to delude their followers by the promise of a law which would damage this country solely because of the vicious immoral purpose that would be shown by putting it upon the statute books, but which would be utterly worthless to accomplish its avowed purpose.

"I have not the slightest doubt that such a law as that proposed by Mr. Bryan would, if enacted by Congress, be declared unconstitutional by an unanimous Supreme Court unless, indeed, Mr. Bryan were able to pack this court with men appointed for the special purpose of declaring such a law constitutional.

"The President" uses Mr. Gompers' statements on the stump and before congressional committees in his effort to prove that Mr. Bryan favors the blacklist and the secondary boycott, which, he says, the courts, the anthracite strike commission, John Mitchell and other labor leaders have denounced as crime.

Mr. Gompers said, according to the President, that the Democratic party "pledged its candidates for every office to those remedies which labor has already submitted to Congress."

The Pearre anti-injunction bill, introduced in the last session, was described by Mr. Gompers, according to the President, as the measure embodying the remedies which he desires.

"The gist of this bill," the President says, "is this:

"1. After forbidding any Federal Judge to issue a restraining order for an injunction in any labor dispute, except to prevent irreparable injury to property or property right, it specifically provides that no right * * * to carry on business of any particular kind, or at any particular place, or at all, shall be construed, held, considered, or treated as property, or as constituting a property right.

The Boycott Clause.

"2. It provides that nothing agreed upon or done by two or more parties in connection with a labor dispute shall constitute a conspiracy or other criminal offense, or be prosecuted as such, unless the thing agreed upon would be unlawful if done by a single individual."

Under the second clause, the President says, the blacklist and the secondary boycott are legalized, although at present they are both declared illegal and criminal under the common law.

Freight Man to Address Accountants.

Freight claims and similar matters will be discussed by M. C. Rhodes, contracting freight agent of the "Katy," at a meeting of the St. Louis Society of Accountants and Bookkeepers to be held in Bookkeepers' Hall, third floor of the Odeon, Thursday evening.

CABINET OFFICER CAMPAIGNING FOR TAFT, AND HIS YOUNG WIFE

FOURTH SON OF KAISER WEDS AS CANNON BOOM

Prince August Married to Schleswig-Holstein Duchess Before Big Assembly.

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Duchess Alexandria of Schleswig-Holstein, daughter of Prince Frederick, Duke of Schleswig-Holstein, was married in the chapel of the imperial palace at 5 o'clock this afternoon, to Prince August William of Prussia, fourth son of Emperor William.

The ceremony was witnessed by the members of the imperial family and of the minor German royal house, the Chancellor of the Empire, Prince von Buelow and other high state functionaries, the diplomatic corps, including Dr. Hill, the American Ambassador, and about 800 guests.

The civil ceremony was held in the private apartments of the palace, after which the Empress placed the Hohenzollern crown upon the head of the young Princess. The royal party then marched in procession to the chapel for the ceremony.

The bride was clad in a white silk dress, trimmed with lace, and her train which was richly embroidered with silk and 13 feet long, was borne by four pages. The simple ceremony of the Lutheran State Church was performed by Dr. Dryanzer, the court preacher assisted by several minor ecclesiastics.

As the wedding march was played the artillery in the courtyard began firing a salute. The Emperor and the Empress kissed the bridal couple.

After the ceremony the royal party marched to the white hall of the palace and held a reception to some 2000 invited guests.

GOV. FOLK TO END CAMPAIGN IN ST. LOUIS

Will Speak Next Week at Odeon and North and South St. Louis.

Posters bearing the portrait of Gov. Folk will be used to advertise his prospective political addresses in St. Louis at the close of his campaign next week. They will be different from the ordinary campaign portrait in the matter of coloring, being ornamented with many hues, likely to arrest the attention of any passerby.

These posters will be placed upon bill boards and other conspicuous places by Democrats interested in the success of the Governor in his race to succeed Senator Stone.

Much Advertising Matter.

In addition to the portraits there will be advertising matter on the posters, calling attention to the meeting.

The first of these will be at the Odeon next Tuesday night. The committee in charge of this gathering will be John F. Lee, chairman; Henry T. Kent, E. S. Lewis, Nelson W. McLeod and John C. Roberts.

The publicity committee is composed of Lon. Sanders, chairman; Thomas E. Mulvihill, Dorsey E. Jamison, Judge A. A. O'Hallaron and Councilman Arthur Fitzsimmons.

North and South Sides.

For the North and South St. Louis meetings the committee will be Guy A. Thompson, William W. Culp, J. W. Sikes, Ernest Marshall and J. C. A. Hiller.

The Governor will speak at Social Turner Hall and Concordia Club Hall Thursday night and at St. Leo's Temperence Hall and Gillick's Carondelet Hall Saturday night of next week.

BRYAN DECLARES SUNSHINE IS FREE, AND NOT REPUBLICAN

Addresses West Virginia Farmers at Sunrise and Discusses Prosperity Claims.

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va., Oct. 22.—Although he did not retire until 2 o'clock this morning, a half hour after making his last speech, William J. Bryan was up at sunrise, and a short time afterward was speaking to a good-sized crowd here. As most of his auditors were farmers, the speaker proceeded to puncture the Republican contention, that the farmer owed his prosperity to the Republican party.

"I can prove to you," he said, "that the Republican party has nothing to do with fertility of soil or sunshine or rain, for if it did, there would be a trust on sunshine. The fact that these things are not monopolies is conclusive proof that the Republican leaders exercise no control over them."

He declared the Republican leaders had spent their time legislating in the interest of the financiers of Wall street. He maintained that Mr. Taft's position in respect to guaranteeing deposits was that the unsecurity of the depositor is the security of the banking system.

SHOT WIFE'S FRIEND; CONVICTED

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Oct. 22.—The jury in the case of William Hill, charged with the murder of David Alexander, near Coffeyville, Aug. 7, brought in a verdict last night of guilty of manslaughter in the first degree.

Hill shot Alexander while the latter was in a carriage with Mrs. Hill. The Hills had been separated and Alexander was paying attention to Hill's wife.

STRAUS SAYS LABOR LEADERS ARE FOR TAFT

Cabinet Officer Reads Letters to Disprove Gompers' Assertions.

For an hour and a half Oscar S. Straus, Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, held the attention of 4500 persons as he denounced William J. Bryan and Samuel Gompers in the course of an address Wednesday night at the old Simmons Building, Broadway and Locust street.

In point of numbers and genuine enthusiasm, the meeting was the most successful that has been held under the auspices of Chairman Howe's city Republican organization.

While 50 well-known business men, lawyers and financiers occupied seats on the stage, the hall itself was packed for the most part by toilers who reside in the lower river wards.

At least 500 persons were unable to gain admittance, and when Secretary Straus began speaking, following an introduction by Gen. John W. Noble, the atmosphere was about as comfortable as a bake oven.

While the crowd was awaiting Mr. Straus' arrival, Circuit Attorney Sager made an address, reviewing the operations of the ballot-box thieves and the other incidents of the August primary election.

Mr. Straus started cheering and laughter when he declared that "Mr. Bryan's volubility is only equaled by his shifty versatility in principles."

Advocates "Square Deal."

There was another volley of applause when Mr. Straus turned his attention to Samuel Gompers, who, he asserted, was misrepresenting the labor cause.

"I believe in a square deal for everybody," said Mr. Straus. "Mr. Gompers' son works in my office at Washington."

Cries of "Fire him" drowned the speaker's words.

"I won't fire him," retorted the speaker. "He is a good young man, honest, capable and industrious and that's all I ask.

"He is all right, and I can't blame him if his father has gone astray."

The audience cheered this utterance vigorously.

Mrs. Straus Guards Him.

Perhaps the most pleased person of all was Mrs. Strauss, vivacious and pretty, who is maintaining almost constant vigil over her husband in this campaign.

Mrs. Straus says that her husband would wear himself out if she allowed him to talk politics at will.

Although she did not join in any of the handclapping herself Wednesday night, she smiled approval at those who did.

Mrs. Straus sat directly behind Benjamin Altheimer, president of the Altheimer-Rawlings Brokerage Co., to the rear of the platform.

Mr. Straus produced letters from Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and other labor leaders to show that the laboring masses are not for William J. Bryan.

He discussed Bryan's views with regard to government ownership of railroads and other public utilities.

Mr. Straus dismissed Bryan's bank guaranty plan with the statement that it would throw good and bad banks in the country together "and put them all on the abyss of ruin such as no other country ever witnessed."

Mr. Straus' criticism of the Bryan bank guaranty proposition, however, was received in silence, apparently many not comprehending the exact meaning of the subject.

"The administration of President Roosevelt," said Mr. Straus, "will go down into history as the administration of achievement, one of the most brilliant and prosperous in the history of the nation.

"Bryan has been classed as a modern Henry Clay. There is a resemblance. Clay was an orator; so is Bryan. Clay ran three times for the presidency. Clay said that he would rather be right than President. Bryan acts—and acts speak louder than words—as if he would rather be President than be right."

Falls on Street, Fractures Skull.

Morris Hook, 34, a printer, 6171 Bertha avenue, was stricken with heart failure Thursday morning on Chestnut street, near Eighteenth street, and fell to the sidewalk, striking his head on the curb, fracturing the skull. He is at the City Hospital.

SAGER PRAISES ADMINISTRATION OF GOV. FOLK

Declares It Cleanest St. Louis Has Known in Thirty Years.

In the course of an address at the Straus meeting Wednesday night, Circuit Attorney Sager declared that during Gov. Folk's administration "St. Louis has had a cleaner administration of police and election affairs than has been known in 30 years.

"It does not become any man, who is honest," declared Mr. Sager, "to fail to pay tribute to the people and the man responsible for it. We may have our criticism of Gov. Folk and we may not agree with him in all things, but I say, as a citizen and a Republican, I owe more to him in this city than I do to any Democratic official that ever lived.

"We Republicans put him in office and he has given us a great many things he promised and I say if we want to continue that kind of an administration, which means that one man is as good as any other at the ballot and that the panel worker and the police will not work together, and that in the future the winerooms will not suck in the life and virtue of the young people of the city and State, vote against the man that promises a return of the 'old gang' to power."

Mr. Sager paid a tribute also to Seebert Jones, candidate on the Republican ticket for Circuit Attorney. He declared that he appointed Jones to office without solicitation from Chairman Howe of the Republican Committee or any other Republican leader, but solely because of his legal ability. He told of the work done by Jones as an Assistant Circuit Attorney and said that his election would perpetuate a square administration of the Circuit Attorney's office.

Mr. Sager's remarks were loudly applauded.

DR. BROOME WILL VOTE FOR FOLK, HADLEY AND JONES

Dr. G. Wiley Broome, a well known St. Louis surgeon, has written to Chairman Howe of the Republican City Committee that he will cast his vote at the coming election for Gov. Folk for Senator, Attorney-General Hadley for Governor and Seebert Jones for Circuit Attorney.

"My Democracy is of the State of Georgia kind," writes Dr. Broome, "but it is not of the kind that supports unfit men for public office.

"In the coming election I shall with much credit to this Democracy of principles cast my vote for Hadley for Governor, Folk for Senator, the two young brilliant Missourians whose splendid service in office has placed their names so conspicuously among honest and capable public officials. I shall vote for Seebert Jones for Circuit Attorney in preference to Walsh, for like reasons."

CATHOLIC UNION'S STRAW VOTE: BRYAN 154, TAFT 31

Stevenson for Governor of Illinois Gets 155 Votes, Deneen Only 17.

In a straw vote of the delegates to the annual convention of the Western Catholic Union in session at St. Henry's School Hall, East St. Louis, Bryan received 154 votes and Taft 31.

For Governor of Illinois, Stevenson was the choice of 155, while Deneen was given 17 votes. Most of the delegates are of German descent.

Bryan Refers Roosevelt to Speeches.

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Oct. 22.—When shown President Roosevelt's letter assailing his labor views and declaring that he had failed to take the public into his confidence regarding his beliefs on the injunction question, W. J. Bryan declared if the President really desired the information, all he had to do was to read the speech which he delivered in Chicago on Labor day and had repeated many times since.

Mr. Bryan will reply at length to the Roosevelt letter later on, as he believes personally that the more prominence that is given the President in the campaign the better it will be for the Democratic cause.

PRINCESSES LEAD WOMEN IN WAR FEVER DEMONSTRATION

Montenegro Worked Up About Annexation of Provinces by Austria-Hungary.

CETTINJE, Montenegro, Oct. 22.—A remarkable expression of the depth to which the war fever has penetrated the Montenegrian people as a result of the annexation of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria-Hungary was witnessed in Cettinje today when the women of the capital united in a great street demonstration.

They were headed by the Princesses Zenia and Vera, daughters of Prince Nicholas, who marched through the streets carrying Montenegrian flags. They were followed by a great throng of women of all classes, who chanted war songs as they marched, stopping from time to time to plead with the men who followed in their wake to defend the sacred rights of the nation.

The two princesses subsequently formed a committee for the followers of the Red Cross nurses.

FRENCH ANGERED OVER DISASTERS TO THEIR NAVY

288 Men Killed and Damage Exceeding $17,000,000 Without Battle.

Special Correspondence From Paris Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—There is a loud outcry all over France over the recent disasters to the French Navy.

Since the year 1900, 288 officers and seamen have been killed, and material losses sustained to the amount of $17,000,000. Many newspapers are publishing very severe articles.

The Éclaire points out that, in his report of the Jena catastrophe, Senator Monis described the service as organized anarchy, adding that all the officers who were questioned had replied: "We are not commanded," while Gende La Rocque, who years ago was at the head of the Naval Ordnance Department, had frankly expressed his opinion thus: "It is the system that is at fault, the system of irresponsibility and of general indifference, which is horrible where military matters are concerned."

The Rappel, a Socialist Radical organ, asks what the mysterious factor is which produces this anarchy in the fleet; and the Republique Francaise, a Moderate journal, remarks that catastrophe is following on catastrophe because confusion prevails in the navy.

The Petite Republique, a Socialist organ, exclaims: "There is something rotten in our naval artillery." Meanwhile the naval dock yard hands at Rochefort have gone on strike, and have paraded the streets bearing the red flags of revolution.

Cures Drunkards

Mary's Miracle.

The day of working miracles,
I'm sure is far from past,
And now to show you what I mean
I'll tell you of the last
Great one that happened right to me,
For I was part of it, you see.

You know the life I used to lead—
O God, a living death,
A drunkard of the hopeless kind—
For, scarce a sober breath
I ever drew, and hope and pride
Were lost to me and nearly all beside.

Mary's Miracle.

One friend alone was left—my wife,
God bless her ev'ry hour!
She saved me from a drunkard's grave,
And whiskey's wicked power.
Just how she saved me you shall see—
This is the way she told it me.

When hope was almost dead within
Her faithful, constant breast,
She read of Dr. Haines' Cure,
Then without stay or rest,
She sent for one Trial Sample free,
And gave it unbeknown to me!

I drank of it at ev'ry meal—
I ate it in my bread,
While Mary watched me anxiously,
But ne'er a word she said:
Until one day I stopped to think,
That I had lost my love for drink!

MARY'S MIRACLE.

When, quite unconscious I was cured,
My Mary told me all;
It seemed the very act of God,
A modern miracle;
I call it this, because my wife
And Haines' Cure had saved my life.

And now my little story's done,
My ev'ry word is true,
And what this treatment did for me,
The same 'twill do for you;
And wives and mothers—one and all,
Take heart of Mary's Miracle.

Save those near and dear to you from a life of degradation, poverty and disgrace. You can do it by cutting out this coupon.

Free Treatment Coupon.

Fill in your name and address on blank lines below. Then cut out this coupon and mail it to Dr. J. W. Haines, 2904 Glenn Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio. You will receive in return enough of the remedy to prove to you that it will cure drunkenness in any form. You give it in tea, coffee or food. The drunkard will stop drinking without knowing why. You will also get books and testimonials to prove how hundreds have been saved.

FIRST ST. LOUIS CHURCH PAID FOR WITH DEERSKINS

The Animals Were Killed Near Where New Cathedral Will Be Erected.

WORSHIPED IN WOODS

Services Held at What Is Now Corner of Second and Walnut Streets.

DEERSKINS paid the cost of building the first church in St. Louis. The skins were obtained from the deer that roamed over the ground where the Catholics of the city march today to assist in laying the cornerstone of their new Cathedral.

There was no cornerstone laid for the first church. It was built of upright logs. Prior to its erection in 1768 services were held under the protection of a tent, anterior to that in the open forest, near where Second and Walnut streets now intersect.

Father Sebastian Meurin was the first missionary, coming in a canoe from Cahokia, just after the landing of Laclede. Father Meurin was appointed vicar general of the West by Bishop Briand of Quebec, and was the first parish priest at Cahokia, coming there in 1742. He held services in St. Louis from May, 1766, to February, 1769, being assisted by the celebrated Father Gibault of Kaskaskia, to whom is accorded the honor of erecting the first church in the city.

THE history of the Catholic Diocese of St. Louis has yet to be written, particularly that relating to its missionary days. What little can be gleaned is conflicting in many details. Originally under the jurisdiction of Canada, then of Cuba and New Orleans, and lastly of Baltimore, the records of the Missionary Fathers must be searched before anything like a chronological sequence be given with certainty as to the names and dates of its pioneer preachers.

Paul Keeseran, the church chorister, called the congregation together every Sunday by beating a pestal and mortar in front of the church door and they responded to its tones with much more alacrity than that accorded to the chimes of modern church bells.

The Second Church.

THE old church proving inadequate, Gov. Piernan in December, 1774, called a meeting to arrange for the erection of a new one. The villagers decided to erect a church of white ash posts, its dimensions to be 60 by 30 feet. The inhabitants were to furnish the wood and other material and to assist in raising the heavy timbers, the contractor to supply the labor. The cost to be defrayed by a pro rata assessment on every white and black resident over the age of 14, except widows and persons over 60 years old.

In those primitive days the absence of newspapers was supplied by the Sunday gatherings around the church. Here all public announcements were made, the sale of lands and chattels held, and criminals exhibited as a caution and warning to others. Slanderers were compelled to make public recantation of their untruths in the presence of all assembled. A survival of one of these customs still lingers in the sales held on the east end of the Courthouse steps.

The terms of the contract were cried out for three successive Sundays in front of the church door after high mass, and it was awarded to the lowest bidder, Pierre Baron, at 1200 livres, to be paid in deerskins at current value.

Baron died before completing his contract, and the 78 householders of the village made another with Jean Cambus for its finish at 1480 livres, to be paid in shaved deerskins of current value, the increase indicating that labor was early on the increase here.

Before the building was finished the first church bell in the territory was erected on a scaffold beside the church. This bell may be seen in the rooms of the Missouri Historical Society.

This church was built during the ministry of Father Valentine, the first resident priest, serving from 1772 to 1775. From the end of his term to 1776 Father Hilaire officiated occasionally.

Bernard de Limpach, described as a man of great zeal and apostolic curage, was the next pastor, his pastorate lasting for 13 years, from May, 1776, to November, 1789. In 1776 he built the first parochial residence, which was also paid for in peltries.

Bernard's successor, Ledru, remained until 1793. Pierre Joseph Didier had charge to close of 1799, when Pierre Joseph Jarien came, remaining until 1804.

Under American Rule.

AT the cession of the territory the Bishop of New Orleans appointed an Irish Jesuit, James Madoell, V. G., Province of Louisiana, over the American settlers. He was popular with all classes. President Madison, on the creation of the first legislative council of the territory, appointed him one of its members, and in 1814, when located at Ste. Genevieve, he was elected its presiding officer.

The Rev. Thomas Flynn served from 1806 to 1808, when Bishop Carroll of Baltimore appointed Abbot Urban to the pastoral care of the Upper Mississippi. He returned to France in 1812, leaving his assistant, the Rev. Marie Joseph Deenand, as missionary in Missouri and Illinois. Father Savigue was priest from 1811 to 1817. He caused the village to be illuminated and sang high mass and a Te Deum at the church when news of Jackson's victory at New Orleans was received.

Made St. Louis a Diocesan See.

LOUIS DUBOURG, attached to the Diocese of Baltimore, was appointed in 1812 Administrator of Louisiana. At the request of its citizens in 1814 Bishop Flaget of Kentucky visited the town and administered the first confirmations here and baptized three of Gov. Clark's children.

Dubourg was consecrated Bishop of Louisiana at Rome in 1815. He was the first to urge the creation of St. Louis as a separate see. Not succeeding in his efforts, on his return in 1818 he made the city his official seat and began the erection of its first cathedral, for which he received many donations in Europe, and a number of sacred relics which made it one of the most interesting shrines in the country.

It was a brick building, 40 feet in width by 135 in depth, and stood on the west side of Second street between Walnut and Market streets.

Bishop Dubourg was noted for his learning and owned the largest library west of the Mississippi. He founded St. Louis University, and the first orphan asylum in the city. In 1823 the church got into financial troubles and 27 trustees were appointed to sell part of the church square, sufficient to raise the $4500 required. Dubourg resigned in 1826, going to France, where he was made Archbishop of Bensancon, where he died in 1833.

Chicago Once a St. Louis Parish.

THE Rev. Joseph Rosati, who in 1823 was made coadjutor to Dubourg, in 1826, when St. Louis was made a separate see, became its first Bishop. In 1830 he began the erection of the present Cathedral in Walnut street.

In 1833 he received a request from a number of families residing, they state, "in a town commonly called Chicago," for a priest to minister to them. He sent the Rev. John M. St. Cyr, who established the first parish in Chicago, St. Mary's. In later years the second, third and fourth Bishops of that city, Van de Velde, O'Regan and Duggan, were formerly pastors in St. Louis.

The diocese of St. Louis then embraced Missouri, Arkansas, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Dakota, Nebraska, Utah, Oregon, Washington, Oklahoma and two-thirds of Illinois.

This territory today is the site of eight archbishoprics, and 40 bishoprics. When Rosati came, in 1818, to Upper Louisiana, there were seven small wooden churches with four priests and about 8000 Catholics. St. Louis had a population of about 3000.

Cradle of Western Catholicity.

PETER RICHARD KENRICK, in 1841, was consecrated coadjutor to Bishop Rosati. At the later's death, in 1843, he assumed direction of diocesan affairs. When the Bishopric, in 1847, was created an Archbishopric, he became its first Archbishop.

During his encumbency rapid strides were made in the advancement of Catholocity in the West. Few prelates in any church can claim the honor of consecrating so many bishops for new sees as belonged to him.

He introduced the Christian Brothers in 1849, and in the same year founded the seminary that bears his name. He edited the first magazine published west of the Mississippi.

Under his auspices April 28, 1871, the St. Louis Cathedral Building Association was incorporated with the following trustees: Archbishop P. R. Kenrick, Bishop P. J. Ryan, Rev. Henry Muhlsiepen, James H. Lucas, Henry S. Turner, Joseph O'Neil, John Withnell, Nicholas Schaeffer, H. J. Spaunhorst, J. B. Ghio, Bernard Crickhard, M. B. Chambers, Julius S. Walsh, John Byrne, B. and S. Sleven, James Maguire, Joseph Garneau and Charles P. Chouteau.

The site then selected for the new Cathedral was city block 915, Chestnut, Pine, Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets, which was secured by the Archbishop.

The growth of the city soon demanded a new site.

St. Louis owes to Archbishop Kenrick its Calvary Cemetery, the ground for which he purchased in 1853 from the son of Henry Clay.

His coadjutor, Bishop Patrick J. Ryan, in 1884, was appointed Archbishop of Philadelphia. Bishop Ryan's successor, Rev. John Joseph Rain, was created Archbishop after Archbishop Kenrick's death in 1895. Shortly after Archbishop Kain's death, in 1903, the Rt. Rev. John J. Glennon, then coadjutor to Bishop Hogan of Kansas City, was transferred to the see.

The little log church of 1768 was the parent of the 79 massive Catholic church buildings which now are necessary to accommodate the churchgoing residents of the city. There may be some alive who remember the first Cathedral building whose memories on seeing the parade of today will receive an awakening to the gigantic growth not alone of the church, but of the city.

WIFE DENIES SHE TREATED HUSBAND AS FARM HAND

Combatting the suit of John C. Kremer for divorce, Mrs. Philippina Kremer, his wife, in the St. Louis County Circuit Court Thursday indignantly denied his charge that she had treated him as a farmhand.

"It isn't true that I wouldn't let him eat with me and my children," she testified. "Why, we always rang the bell for him at meal times. He was the first one at the table, too. And you ought to see how that man could eat. He was the last one away from the table, too.

"The first year we were married we didn't have any trouble at all. He got along nice with my seven children, just like he was their papa. Then all of a sudden he changed. Every morning he got up he would go out in the yard and cuss for half an hour. It was regular as breakfast.

"He called somebody a lot of awful bad names. I don't know whether it was me he meant or not.

"I was good to him. I kept his money for him. He had $850 when we were married in 1902. I never spent any of that. I saved it for him.

"He left home just because I wouldn't give him all the money from the sale of farm products. That wouldn't be right, because it was my farm. He was always asking for money."

Kremer testified Wednesday that his wife offered him a salary of $100 a year to work as a farmhand for her, and that in a period of three years she gave him only $10 to buy a suit with, and this only on condition that he would buy the suit in Belleville.

ONE NAME FOR HIS WIFE, ANOTHER FOR THE WORLD

Accidental Discovery Six Months After Sporting Man's Death, Reveals Mystery and Brings Widow a Fortune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—The discovery made by Katherine De Mott that her late husband, with whom she had lived for more than twenty years, knowing him as Joseph De Mott was really Joseph Ordish, an eccentric sporting man, has created a sensation here. Ordish died suddenly several months ago.

To the world he was Ordish; to his wife he was De Mott. With this discovery came news that he had left an estate worth $50,000 in New York and also a grown daughter of whose existence the woman had hitherto no knowledge.

The dual life was quite in accord with the characteristics of the man. Whatever his motive, he carried it to the grave. To the world he was as much a mystery as he was to his wife. None knew where he lived or anything of his previous history. As Ordish he acted as bookkeeper for Harry Corbett, sportsman; then he vanished to appear before his wife as De Mott. Even at the funeral his closest friends, seeing Mrs. De Mott dressed in mourning, did not know her as his widow. They had never seen her nor heard of her. Even then she did not know that the real name of the man whose body was being lowered into the grave was Ordish.

Six months after the funeral she went to the office of the public administrator to ask about the estate of Joseph De Mott, and was then told that no such estate existed. A few days later, while going through Ordish's personal effects, one of the deputies found a letter addressed to Joseph De Mott. The woman's visit was recalled and she was hunted up. A few days later the existence of an estate in New York was brought to light.

Mrs. De Mott has put the case into the hands of Attorney Theodore Roche, and negotiations for a settlement are now under way.

IMPERILED LIFE FOR WIFE

Now Both Mr. and Mrs. Junker Are Recovering and Happy.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., Oct. 22.—Councilman Charles F. Junker of the Second Ward is rapidly recovering from the effects of an operation in which strips of skin were removed from his limbs and body and grafted on the head of his wife, who lost her scalp several days ago by getting her hair caught in a shaft while out riding in their pleasure gasoline boat.

The skin-grafting is proving a success, and Councilman Junker, who lay almost at the point of death several days as the outcome of the operation, said he would be willing to undergo the same experience again if necessary later.

WOMAN LEAPS TWO STORIES INTO ARMS OF A POLICEMAN

Both Knocked Unconscious by Impact, but Neither Was Seriously Injured.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Anna Kline was saved from probable death when she jumped from a third-story window of her residence which was afire. Policeman Michael Egan caught her in his arms after he had shouted to her not to jump.

The fire spread so rapidly that while Mrs. Kline was gathering some of her personal belongings, she found escape cut off.

The policeman was standing almost directly under Mrs. Kline and as she plunged almost head forembost, he caught her in his arms. Both fell to the ground and were unconscious when spectators ran to their rescue.

Egan's helmet was broken, but aside from being stunned, he was not injured. Mrs. Kline suffered bruises, but was not seriously hurt.

BRIDAL JOURNEY ON A DRAY

Friends Would Not Permit Use of the Carriage.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 22.—After the marriage of Miss Dorothy Haydn Campbell to William J. Smith, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Campbell, 1725 John avenue, the wedded pair started for their future home in the Broadway apartments, but not in the conveyance which the bridegroom had engaged for the purpose.

Through the scheming of members of the bridal party, when they went out to enter a carriage they were forced instead to a dray, on which were two chairs draped in white, and, accompanied by members of the party with pans and other "musical instruments," were driven through the principal streets of the city.

NEW MONOPLANE HAS APPEARANCE OF PARACHUTE

Inventor Claims It Will Act as One and Is Perfectly Safe.

IT CANNOT TURN OVER

Experiments With Many Machines to Be Made at Morris Park.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Aeronautic inventors and investigators believe that in his monoplane, now at Morris Park for a practical test, C. W. Williams of Richmond Hill has a machine which will prove a revelation in stability, if not in speed.

The greatest point in favor of the Williams machine is its stability. It has the appearance of an enormous parachute, and Williams asserts that in case of accident in mid-air it would act as one, and settle gently to the ground without damage to airship or aviator. This action would be due first, to the unusually large sustaining surface and the air spaces between the four separate planes which compose it, and, second, to the low point at which all the weight of machinery and operator is suspended. Williams says that it is impossible for his machine to turn over, and if this proves by actual experiment to be a fact, one of the greatest dangers of aerial navigation will have been overcome.

Sustains Pound to Foot.

While the spread of the planes in the Williams machine is 30 feet, the framework on which the canvas is stretched is constructed to fold back on itself when the machine is not in use, making the monoplane much less cumbersome than one with fixed planes and more easily handled on the ground.

The whole sustaining surface of the four planes is about 600 square feet and the weight of the machine, with the operator, is about 600 pounds, making the sustaining proportion about one pound to the square foot. This is considerably lower than any other aeroplanes in practical use.

Leased Park for Experiments.

The Aeronautic Society of New York is the only organization of the kind to provide grounds for aerial experiments. It has leased the old Morris Park race track for a year, and has given a general invitation to all experimenters to bring their machines to the park for trial.

Already a queer collection of freaks—acroplanes, monoplanes, helicopters, gliders and "wind wagons"—occupy the paddocks and stalls where only a few years ago the thoroughbred held undisputed possession.

The old clubhouse has been refitted, and sporting prints and pictures of the kings of the turf, past and present, have been replaced by photographs of all the well-known aviators and their machines.

In the center of the old infield a catapult arrangement has been built for launching aeroplanes and gliders, the starting device being of the tower and weight type used by the Wrights. Every Saturday is to be a field day for the society.

LADRONES ARE NOT BEGGARS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—By order of Acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry, the name of the Ladrone Islands in the Pacific Ocean has been changed to Mariana.

The people object to the name Ladrone ("loafer" or "beggar"), because, as they assert, they are sober, industrious and thrifty, despite Gov. O'Leary, who, in a report to the department several years ago, intimated that Ladrone was an elegant name for the island, because it's so descriptive of the people.

I was unable to move my feet in bed without the use of a hook stick. Now I feel like a new man and am able to do my regular work."

Thousands of such testimonials evidence the ability of these specialists to cure diseases where others fail. The treatments consume but a few moments and in many cases no drugs are used. Consultation is free at 523 Chestnut street.

George N. Fickeissen Succumbs to Illness Caused by Work for State.

DIED IN LOS ANGELES

His Body Will Be Brought to St. Louis for Burial on Monday.

Hard work done during the boodle trials brought on the illness which caused the death of George N. Fickeissen, Assistant Circuit Attorney of St. Louis, in Los Angeles, Cal., Wednesday night. It was he who prepared the briefs used by Circuit Attorney Folk and even before the trials were ended the strain told on his health and his friends became aware that he had tuberculosis.

Nevertheless, Mr. Fickeissen remained with Circuit Attorney Sager until September, 1907. Then, with his wife, he went to Mexico in search of health.

Once he returned to St. Louis, but it soon became apparent that he could not live here and he was hurried back to the Southwest. Recently he had been in El Paso, Tex., but several days ago went to Los Angeles. He died shortly after his arrival there.

Sister Notified of Death.

His death was announced in St. Louis by a telegram to his sister, Mrs. Martha Blackshaw, 4154 Connecticut street. Besides Mrs. Blackshaw, the St. Louis relatives of Mr. Fickeissen are: Frederick E. Fickeissen, his father; four brothers, Frederick E. Jr., an attorney, and William, Oscar and Otto, and four sisters, Mrs. Helen Scarborough, Mrs. Sophia Schindler, Miss Flora and Miss Cornelia Fickeissen.

Mr. Fickeissen studied law while teaching in a Lutheran parish school in St. Louis. He was 38 years old. Before becoming one of Mr. Folk's assistants he was in the office of Circuit Attorney Eggers.

The body will be brought to St. Louis for the funeral Monday.

GRIEF REVEALS BROKEN RIBS

Mourner Faints at Funeral From Old Injury.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 22.—Earl Hoover, aged 17, discovered an old injury in an odd way. He was attending the funeral of his younger brother, and he repeatedly fainted during the services.

The family summoned a doctor, who, while making an examination, discovered the fact that four ribs had been fractured.

A year ago Hoover fell off an ice wagon, and emotion at the funeral aggravated the wound to such an extent that the fainting spells resulted.

GAME WARDEN KILLS 3 BRAVES, BOY KILLS HIM

Indian Lad Shot Dead as He Mortally Wounds Montana Officer.

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 22.—Game Warden W. F. Scott and Deputy Warden Henry A. Vass arrived here last night with the body of Deputy Game Warden Charles B. Peyton, who was killed in a fight with Indians Sunday in the Swan River country, while attempting to arrest them for violating the State game laws.

According to the story of Peyton's death, told by Herman Rudolph, the ranch hand who accompanied Peyton within forty feet of the Indian camp, the deputy game warden was shot by a 13-year-old Indian lad, who had been behind the horses of the redskins and had not been noticed by Peyton.

When Peyton told the Indians they were under arrest, one of them grabbed the officer by the neck.

Peyton shook him off and advised them to be peaceful. Another Indian uttered a war whoop, pulled his rifle and was about to shoot, when Peyton dropped him in his tracks with a bullet.

Two other Indians attempted to get their guns unsheathed, but Peyton killed them before they could get into action.

Rudolph then observed the Indian lad kneeling between the horses aiming at Peyton, and he fired at the boy at the same moment that the latter fired at the officer.

Peyton was mortally wounded and the Indian boy toppled over dead.

The squaws put Warden Peyton out of his misery, according to Rudolph, ending his sufferings by several shots from small bore guns.

The mountain passes are being watched for the fleeing squaws, who have with them the bodies of their braves.

CHIEF CREECY'S FATHER DIES AT RIPE AGE OF 96

Chief of Police Edmund P. Creecy received a telegram Thursday announcing the death of his father, Col. Robert P. Creecy, at the age of 96, at the old family home at Elizabeth City, N. C. Chief Creecy left at noon for North Carolina.

Col. Creecy was probably the oldest newspaper man in the country. In spite of his advanced years, he was actively engaged in newspaper work up to a few months ago and was writing an autobiography when death called him. He was born and raised on the Creecy plantation, which has been in the possession of the family a very long time.

When Chief Creecy was promoted from a captaincy his father telegraphed: "You know I always told you we are all winter apples."

Chief Creecy explained that the saying of his father referred to the fact that members of the family were at their best in ripe old age. The Chief spent his vacation at the old home a year ago and on his return spoke of the mental and physical preservation of his father. He had a remarkable memory.

He leaves two sons and three daughters. The other son is Joshua Creecy, who has a City Hall position here. Two daughters, one his private secretary, are at home. The other is Mrs. E. F. Lamb of El Paso, Tex.

DESERTED WHEN BABY, PROVES HER RIGHT TO RICHES

Mrs. Vantine Proves She's Daughter of "King of Blackfoot."

ENTITLED TO $25,000

Mother Left Her With Stranger and She Didn't Know Own Name.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Lizzie Vantine is the daughter of John Butler, the "King of Blackfoot," and entitled to $25,000 of his estate, according to the decision of Judge Nicholas M. Bradley in the Circuit Court. The case was a suit in equity to establish the claim of Mrs. Vantine to a sixth interest in the estate of Butler, who died in Perche Bottom two years ago. He had made a will in which he failed to mention this daughter of his first wife, Mrs. Jane Butler, and left his estate to his widow and other direct heirs.

Butler and his first wife separated after a quarrel. She gave birth to a girl baby in Sturgeon a few weeks later. This child was named Elizabeth Caledonia. Some time later the mother and child went to Mexico and were seen in the camp of the Union Army during the stormy times of '62 and '63.

Finds Home With Strangers.

She was picked up by a stage on the Mexico-Paris road and taken to Paris. Here the child found a home with a man named Wetmore. A woman came to visit the child once or twice. Finally she took a picture of the child and disappeared.

Didn't Know Own Name.

The little girl grew to womanhood not knowing that Father Wetmore was not her true father and entirely ignorant that her real name was Lizzie Butler. She later married a man named Vantine and now lives in Illinois near Chicago. Her children are here with her attending the trial.

So many of the witnesses were dead that the chain of evidence to establish her identity had to be built by piece meal. Mrs. Jane Butler had been severely burned on the arm and the scar was borne by a woman giving the name of Jane Butler in Paris.

The testimony of the woman's statements was objected to and was not permitted to go on record until it was proved that Butler had said that his first wife was dead. Then her conversations were admitted.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler had three children before their separation. These and their descendants were mentioned in his will. They came to Sturgeon a few years before the war and a little later moved to the Perche bottom. He was not very wealthy in those days, but later accumulated a fortune in Missouri land. The estate is estimated to be worth about $150,000. Of this amount Mrs. Vantine is entitled to a sixth interest, or $25,000.

Butler was an eccentric old man and had little to say about his private matters. He was married four times and had children by two of his wives. He seldom spoke of his absent wife and few heard him mention his child, which probably he never saw.

ALTON POLICE FORCE HAS BEEN STRENGTHENED—ONIONS!

Shallenberg Only Man in Town Who's Happy About It—He Sold Them.

Follow your nose and you'll find a policeman in Alton.

They've been eating onions. That is Alton's way of strengthening the police force, but it has put the department in bad odor.

Fred Shallenberg, a Missouri Point farmer, is the only one that's happy about it, because he doesn't live in Alton and because he got the money for the onions.

He crossed on the ferry and was driving past the City Hall with his wagon load of "redskins" when the policemen were changing shifts. Before any of them had a chance to escape in his night shift Shallenberg had them all cornered and was telling them about the strong points of his onions.

Chief Maxwell bought a sackful. Jim Pack, the policeman-fiddler, followed suit. In a few minutes the force had bought all of the onions. Patrolman Steiner borrowed Green Parker's wagon and delivered the onions at the policemen's homes in time for their wives to make zwiebel kugen for supper.

Sought Death When Husband Teased.

Because her husband teased her when she asked for his wages Wednesday night Mrs. Lulu Merkel, 22, of 827 South Sixth street, swallowed a solution of blue glass stone in an effort to end her life. Her husband, Charles, took her to the City Dispensary where she was given an antidote and revived. Husband and wife then returned home basking in each other's smiles and forgiveness.

Home Is Woman's Sphere; Divorce Too Common in This Country, Mgr. Falconio Tells Marguerite Martyn

"Know One Another Before You Wed and Don't Mistake Infatuation for Love," Is Distinguished Prelate's Advice to the Young.

BY MARGUERITE MARTYN.

IT was in a meek and contrite frame of mind that I approached Mgr. Falconio after a frank criticism of my work and that of illustrators in general by Archbishop Glennon.

"Whoever you draw it is a Martyn girl. You artists never vary your types. I can tell Gibson girls and Martyn girls at sight," said His Grace to me when I called at the archepiscopal residence and asked to see his reverend guest.

"The delegate has run the gauntlet of newspaper correspondents this week, but I will tell him you are a very respectable journalist who exaggerates only a little bit, and"——

And presently, like magic, the eminent prelate, papal delegate to the magnificent ceremonies incident to the laying of the cornerstone of the New Cathedral, appeared.

The Woman's Sphere.

I WANTED his eminent opinion to add to the diversified expressions of what constitutes woman's sphere in the world.

"The Catholic Church has settled the question for itself as to woman's position. Her highest sphere outside her church is her home," he said.

"That would seem to mean that you think a woman should marry as soon as possible, for after reaching an age of independence, unless she has decided upon some definite aim, she is likely to drift. How young do you think she should be?" I inquired.

"That depends upon climate and country and customs. In warm climates I have noticed that women mature earlier and should marry earlier, as it is natural. In some societies where women are carefully guarded and kept from becoming acquainted with the world, they are not inclined to marry so early, and shouldn't.

Thorough Acquaintance Necessary.

"A MAN and woman contemplating marriage should know each other thoroughly. Hasty marriages are one of the chief causes of divorce, which is so deplorably common in this country.

"The Catholic Church is doing its utmost to right this evil by publishing the bans and instructing young people in the responsibilities and obligations of married life.

"No, I don't think financial conditions should have so great consideration as other things, in judging a couple's fitness to marry.

"This discontent with financial conditions is a national one and unreasonable in this prosperous country. The independent government is a great blessing and privilege which is abused. In Europe the poor are as happy, it seems to me, as the rich.

"The great fault of Americans is their disinclination to adapt themselves to circumstances. Of course, a man should have money enough to support a wife, but all income may cease. A man should first of all be able to judge the character of the woman whom he intends to ask to be his wife.

Qualifications of a Wife.

"WILL she be willing to live within his means, or will she want to outshine everybody else? And there should be a practical understanding before marriage.

"With too much freedom young people are liable to get excited and mistake what is infatuation for love. Well, if they make such a mistake they should abide by it. Marriage is a sacrament, not a temporary agreement.

"The Catholic Church does not meet divorce. The church endeavors to prevent unhappy marriages by education before it is too late.

Worldly Knowledge Doesn't Count.

"IT doesn't matter how much knowledge of the world a woman may have—the more knowledge and experience she has the more surely will she realize that she can have no higher sphere than her own home.

"And I think if she merely attends to her husband's and children's wants and welfare, keeps house and minds her own business, she will be happy."

The venerable prelate speaks with the conviction of the accumulated wisdom of years. Listening to him a woman could never question his advice, for he tempers his observation to humor many of the traits of human nature which we are sometimes taught are failings and faults.

For he isn't only a churchman—he is a cosmopolitan man of affairs, a public-spirited citizen of the United States and an executive in his office of Apostolic Delegate, with his residence at Washington.

Pleased With St. Louis.

AND he is optimistic.

"I am pleased beyond measure with the prosperity of the Catholic Church in St. Louis. All over the world there is this wave of doubt and unrest and disbelief, but it is temporary. The people must have the substantial comfort—the haven they find in the church.

"That was a fine parade Sunday, and not an accident. Remarkable! Due, most likely, to your excise law, which is so vigorously enforced. In Europe we have no need to regulate the amount a man shall drink.

"In Italy, a wine-growing country, we see no drunkenness—sometimes a man takes too much, but he gets over it in half an hour. That is because the poorer classes have not the opportunity of forming a taste for strong drink. The cheapest wine is the purest and mildest.

"In this country it is just the reverse. Cheap, strong, impure liquor causes intemperance in this country and its production is what should be regulated. And sobriety will do more to increase domestic happiness than almost anything else.

"Well, we have talked a long time, but I want to say that I am much impressed by the hospitality of St. Louis, not only of Catholics, but of the whole city, to Catholics this week."

TWO RECEPTIONS TO FALCONIO

Apostolic Delegate Welcomed at Workingmen's Hotel.

A reception was tendered to Apostolic Delegate Mgr. Falconio at Father Dempsey's Hotel, 1111 North Seventh street, by the Workingmen's Club of that institution. Wednesday Father Dempsey explained the purposes of the hotel, N. C. Stark, a member of the club, read an address of welcome, to which Mgr. Falconio responded, and Archbishop Glennon followed with a short address.

Another reception was tendered the delegate Wednesday evening by the Knights of Columbus.

ORDERS GIVEN TO RUSH MISS ELKINS' TROSSEAU

It Will Contain Court Gown Studded With Pearls, Thirty-Three Tailor-Made Traveling Gowns and Twenty-Two Boudoir Gowns.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A morning paper says a Fifth avenue firm has nearly completed the trousseau for Miss Katherine Elkins.

Included in this wonderful collection, says the story, are a wedding gown of white satin, a court gown studded with pearls, a number of traveling dresses and no fewer than 22 boudoir gowns of rare Italian lace.

No little significance is attached to the fact that, while the Fifth avenue firm originally was instructed to take its time, orders came recently from the Elkins family to hurry everything along. So the entire trousseau is expected to be ready by the latter part of next week.

Plans for the trousseau were begun more than three months ago. At that time an expert was sent abroad under instructions to search Europe for the most beautiful laces, particularly Italian laces.

Laces Carefully Matched.

It is now a month since the expert arrived home in America. From the establishment it was learned that the laces supplied for Miss Elkins were especially matched to suit the periods which her wonderful wardrobe represents.

The empire and directoire styles and a revival of the famous "Eugenie lift" are the distinguishing characteristics of Miss Elkins' trousseau. The extensive preparations of the bridal suite, the fame of which has traveled abroad, have been under way for months, even while controversies about the betrothal occupied columns in the daily papers. The purchasing of fabrics and planning of gowns was carried on quietly and secretly.

Every stitch of the lingerie of the bridal suite is trimmed with real lace. The design of every gown is a la empire, from the ivory satin court gown, fashioned after the style made famous by Empress Eugenie, to the 22 boudoir gowns not yet completed.

The Princess Margherita, who prides herself on her pearls, will marvel at the trimming of priceless seed pearls which, it is rumored, will adorn the court gown.

Wedding Gown of Old Satin.

The wedding gown, classic in its simplicity, will be made of old satin. The point lace is of Josephine design, to be in keeping with the period which the costume represents.

Since the sudden decision to rush the trousseau in order that everything may be ready for the bride-to-be in case the anticipated fitting should be necessary sooner than is expected, the services of several other well-known New York establishments have been enlisted. Thirty-three tailor-made traveling gowns are also well under way. These dresses all have been carefully designed by the most noted modistes, both here and abroad. No expense has been spared.

Will Spend Honeymoon on Ship.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—"The Stella Polare, on which the Duke of the Abruzzi made his famous Arctic expedition, is lying at Spezzi," the Rome correspondent of the London Globe telegraphs.

"It is understood that in the last few days the ship has been undergoing extensive redecoration and repair. A special stateroom, luxuriously furnished, is a feature of the renovation.

"It is hinted among those employed on her that the Stella Polare wears the appearance of a honeymoon ship."

The Stella Polare (Pole Star) may be considered rather a frigid name for a "honeymoon trip." On that ship the Duke and his men sailed July 12, 1899, for the North Pole and returned Dec. 5, 1905. The vessel was wedged in the Arctic ice for 11 months. Members of the party, with dogs and sledges, attained April 24, 1900, a latitude 86 degrees 33 minutes on the sixty-fifth parallel of longitude, or 239 statute miles from the North Pole, making a record as the furthest point north reached by man. Peary has since gone farther north.

CHILD CLUNG TO LAST COIN WHEN KILLED UNDER TROLLEY

She Had Last Nickel of Mother's Hoard to Buy Milk for Her Baby Brother.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Reciting over and over to herself the little verse which she was to have spoken before school today and clutching in her hand a 5-cent piece, the last coin of her mother's little store, with which she was to buy milk for her baby brother, Marian Meade, 3 years old, ran in front of a trolley car last night and was crushed to death.

For some time Marian's father has been out of work and for several days the family has been in want. Agents of the charity organization furnished food for Mrs. Meade and Marian. The last nickel in the house Mrs. Meade gave to Marian when she sent her for milk for the baby.

When a policeman called for volunteers and a hundred men put their shoulders to the car and turned it on its side, there was no life left in the mangled little body. The nickel was still clutched in the little hand.

MERCHANT WHO TELLS WHY MEN DO NOT SEEK OFFICE

CHARLES A. STIX.

TRAMP EATS WOMAN'S PIE, STEALS HUSBAND'S CLOTHES

They Were Sunday-Go-to-Meetings and $40 Watch Went With Them.

A comic supplement tramp in real life "panhandled" a "handout" from Mrs. Mary Vonnecheck of 1217 North Eleventh street, East St. Louis. After starting away with many expressions of gratitude, he returned unnoticed, concealed himself in the house, an departed a while later wearing Mr. Vonnecheck's best Sunday clothes.

While Mrs. Vonnechek was still smiling over the compliments her cooking had received, and enjoying the consciousness of a charitable act, she saw the man leaving the house the second time, wearing her husband's suit.

"Police!" she cried. But the polite trapm turned and waved his hand—he had only one hand—and was away before a policeman came.

The policeman found the tramp's tattered suit in a closet, where he had left them in exchange for Mr. Vonnecheck's. In his haste the man had neglected to remove the gold watch from the pocket of the vest which he borrowed. It is valued at $40.

SAILORS GUESTS OF TOKIO; 5000 JACKIES AMUSED IN PARK

Officers of the Fleet Are Entertained at Luncheon, Reception and Garden Party.

TOKIO, Oct. 22.—The municipality of Tokio today entertained the men and officers of the American fleet. There was a luncheon at noon, attended by Admiral Sperry, Ambassador O'Brien, half the members of the embassy staff, and an hour later, at 1 o'clock, Hyba Park was opened to 1000 bluejackets and marines, and there was every form of amusement for the men. About five thousand invitations were issued for this function.

In the afternoon there was a garden party at the residence of the British ambassador. Foreign Minister Count Komura will give his reception tonight.

The day opened with rain, but later the weather cleared and the sun shone brightly.

TELLS COURT WIFE COMPELLED HIM TO COOK HIS OWN MEALS

Fred Kubisch Files Divorce Suit When She Withdraws Her Action.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Leonora J. Kubisch against Fred Kubisch was dismissed at her instance and a suit by the husband against the wife filed at Clayton Thursday morning. Mrs. Kubisch is living at Oakland, St. Louis County, with her two children, Cymbeline, 9 years old, and Mildred, 7. Kubisch lives at Valley Park.

They have figured in several different kinds of litigation, among other suits being one by Kubisch against George Gates of Valley Park, in which $10,000 damages are asked for alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Kubisch.

In his divorce suit Kubisch alleges that Mrs. Kubisch went to places of amusement with men against his wish, that she told him she preferred the society of other men to his, that he had to cook his own meals much of the time and that Mrs. Kubisch threw articles of household furniture at him.

"UNCLE JOE" HAS NOTHING TO SAY, NOT EVEN DAMN

Speaker Cannon Leaves for Home After Declining to Answer Questions.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon departed from St. Louis after a night's visit at the home of Col. R. C. Kerens in Vandeventer place, without uttering a single "cuss word," Thursday morning. Speaker Cannon and Mr. Kerens arrived from Cape Girardeau Wednesday evening. The former left over the Wabash for Danville at 8:20 a. m.

He was seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter, but, in reply to all questions, merely replied, "I have nothing to say." This answer was made without profanity.

WIVES KEEPING MANY GOOD MEN OUT OF OFFICE

—Chas. A. Stix

Would Be More Worthy Candidates if Women Didn't Dread Criticisms.

DUTY NEGLECTED NOW

All Good Men Should Take a Hand in Public Affairs, He Declares.

Charles A. Stix, merchant prince and Republican City Council nominee, has a new answer to the question why more good men don't go into politics.

Their wives won't let them.

"The public doesn't show its appreciation of public servants who do good work," said Mr. Stix Thursday to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "The newspapers are largely to blame in this matter. They should commend as well as condemn.

"Well, what is the result? Many women are very sensitive to any criticism of their husbands, and when an effort is made to get their husbands to run for office they begin to get worried.

Women Dread Campaign.

"They recall this man and that man who has gone into politics, and who has never had any good said of him, and maybe has been severely criticised, and they beg their husbands to keep out of it. And many a good man is kept, in that way, from running for office.

"The public and the papers should not neglect to praise the public servants who do their duty well. They should follow the same principle as a business man, who, when one of his employes gives good satisfaction, tells him so and perhaps gives him a better position."

Mr. Stix has taken an interest in politics for some 20 years. He has held office in political clubs, has been a delegate to conventions now and then, has written checks in nearly every campaign, and has helped persuade more than one reluctant business man to permit the use of his name on a ticket.

"It is the duty of good men to take a hand in public affairs," he would say at such times. And the City Committee turned these words of his own upon him the other day, when they put him on the Council ticket for one of three vacancies.

Duty to Contribute.

"I believe it is the duty of men of means, who are disinterested, except for their interest in the city's welfare, to give to campaign funds," said Mr. Stix. "If the party committees cannot get money from those who have no favors to ask, they may be tempted to seek it from those who will be demanding favors after election.

"The office I am running for is only an unexpired term of six months, so I can't speak of having a policy to follow in case I am elected. But I am for everything that will help our city and draw people here.

"Those aren't matters that can be carried out in a few months, or even in a full term of an official. But progress can be made constantly, as, for instance, by bringing natural gas here now, and thereby helping our manufacturers and our homes."

It was suggested to Mr. Stix that, in case of his election, his renomination next spring would be almost a matter of course.

Six Months Enough.

"There's no obligation about it," said Mr. Stix. "The party doesn't have to nominate me then, and I don't have to run. At present I feel as if six months will be all I want."

Mr. Stix took a prominent part in the reception and entertainment of Secretary Straus of the Department of Commerce and Labor Wednesday.

POLICE MAKE DOGS' GOOD SAMARITAN MOVE MENAGERIE

Five Cats and a Turtle Also in Mrs. Boote's Animal Orphangae.

Mrs. Mary Boote, at the behest of the police, has moved part of her dog and cat colony from 1401 North Sixth street to 907 North Fifteenth street. All the rest have been moved from North Sixteenth street, but she will not tell where she has taken them.

For 15 years Mrs. Boote has been a good Samaritan to unfortunate dogs and cats. She has two rooms at 1401 North Sixteenth street, in which she has been in the habit of leaving her charges when she was away during the day at her work. The animals made so much noise that the neighbors complained to Capt. Schoppe at the Car Street Station.

The policeman who went to the house found two fox terriers, a black and tan, a collie and a pointer, five cats of doubtful pedigree and a turtle. She agreed to move the menagerie and during the night she took all the animals away.

COWHERD'S DANGER EMPHASIZED.

The estimates of the Cowherd and Hadley voters in the State, based upon impartial reports of Post-Dispatch correspondents in every county, indicate a Cowherd plurality of less than 10,000, while Bryan is credited with gains.

This estimate emphasizes the Post-Dispatch's warning to Mr. Cowherd that he is in danger.

But the reports of correspondents emphasize the cause of Cowherd's danger, to which the Post-Dispatch has repeatedly directed his attention. They show that the Democratic drift from Cowherd to Hadley is due to the belief of voters that Mr. Cowherd represents the reactionary policies of the old Democratic machine and is too closely associated with its leaders, coupled with the belief that Mr. Hadley better represents reform policies.

If this drift to Hadley is to be checked Mr. Cowherd must awaken to the necessity of discussing progressive State issues and of defining clearly his attitude thereto. The time is short for effective work.

Mr. Hearst is said to have given orders to the Independence Leaguers to "vote direct for Taft to beat Bryan." But when it comes to direct voting, will not most of the Leaguers vote the other way? The trick was exposed too early.

MARRYING ON $12 A WEEK.

The Boston preacher who refuses to perform the marriage ceremony where the income of the couple is less than $12 a week acts from the viewpoint of individual interest and disregards the social interest.

There is no doubt that no sensible couple will marry on such an income without grave misgiving as to the future. And experience shows that too often such improvident marriages have resulted disastrously for the couple and their children.

But just as clearly does experience prove that any check upon the free inclination to marry, either through motives of prudence within the breast of the individuals themselves or through actual legal restraint as in many countries of Europe, results disastrously to society.

What this means is well known to every intelligent reader. The question is between individual and social interests. How to reconcile them is the problem of problems in these days, when the cost of living presses so heavily upon all but the well-to-do. The Boston preacher makes no attempt to reconcile them. He gives up the problem by giving the individual the benefit of his views and lets the social interest take care of itself—if it can.

It takes as long to pipe natural gas through the St. Louis House of Delegates as to dig a Panama canal.

TARIFF AND NATURAL PROTECTION.

In his article in the Annals of the American Academy, mention of which has been made in these columns, Mr. H. E. Miles thus neatly tells the story of the Steel Trust:

"When the Dingley bill was passed the cost of manufacture of steel rails was $12 per ton in Pittsburg and $16 in England; ocean freight was and is about $3.50, making $19.50 the English cost, delivered in New York, or 63 per cent above the Pittsburg cost. Imagine any Congressman being so foolish or so daring as to attempt to explain why, with this 63 per cent of 'natural protection,' $7.84 per ton, or 65 per cent, more protection was given by Congress. The granting of a tariff like this is a farming out of the taxing power for private interests."

This is a picture in little of the Steel Trust—its origin, power and operation.

In the light of these facts Mr. Taft's plea for protection adequate to cover the greater cost of production of American products over that of foreign wares looks like a huge joke. To this the platform adds "a reasonable profit to American industries."

Just why the United States Government should guarantee a reasonable profit to anybody is not made clear. And when it can be done only by levying a tax on the many for the benefit of the few, the argument becomes an affront to every intelligent American. But when the profit becomes unreasonable by adding a 65 per cent tariff protection to a natural protection of 63 per cent, it becomes a monstrous wickedness.

But this is the philosophy of the Dingley tariff. It is designed to perform just such miracles by using the consuming public as a rich opportunity for plunder for the benefit of the men who contribute the campaign funds and so secure "favorable" treatment from the Government. In every schedule will be found, in greater or less degree, this same story of legalized robbery.

There ought not to be any trouble in Tennessee in dealing with the mob which killed Capt. Quentin Rankin. Fortunately Judge Zachary Taylor escaped to testify to a plain case of murder and to identify the murderers. The courts ought to handle that mob with ease.

PUBLICITY VS. SECRECY.

Nathan Strauss of New York, a man of the highest character and standing, charges that Treasurer Sheldon is shaking down Wall street for the Republican campaign slush fund, and challenges Mr. Sheldon to submit the facts to an impartial committee of citizens.

Mr. Sheldon, while denying the charges, refuses the challenge.

A challenge of this sort is futile except in so far as it emphasizes the secrecy surrounding the Republican campaign fund and its contrast with the frankness of the Democratic Committee. If the Republicans could, without inviting the construction which Mr. Roosevelt feared the people would place upon the contributions of monopoly and privileged interests, make public the names of contributors and the amounts contributed, they would do so at once. The greatest activity among the Republican campaign managers from the President down, for the past few weeks, has been devoted to the collection of campaign funds. If the sources of the funds were untainted by monopoly and privilege, the public would be informed of the source of every dollar.

No one knows better than the shrewd managers of the Republican campaign that nothing could be deadlier than secrecy, in contrast with Democratic frankness as to contributors, than exposure of the fact that the funds are contributed by men to whom immunity from punishment, or legislative privilege, is worth millions.

But secrecy ought to be as fatal as exposure, because it is confession that tainted money is in the party treasury.

The great trusts and protected interests which turn governmental favors into millions of spoils taken from the people's pockets are willing to pay a huge percentage of their millions of profit to retain the million-producing privilege. The campaign corruption fund depends wholly upon privilege and secrecy until after the election. After the battle has been won by secret contributions, the privileged interests and their allies can laugh at the duped voters.

This year the issue, which embraces other vital issues, is publicity for campaign contributions—the cutting out of the secret corruption fund by which the great robber interests hope to retain their robber privileges. Corruption ends with the attainment of that object.

In Democratic publicity contrasted with Republican secrecy Mr. Bryan has the strongest possible plea for the support of the plain people. It ought to make the majority unpurchasable by any amount of slush funds.

The adoption of the Fair Grounds purchase bill by the House of Delegates will settle the question of gaining for the city a beautiful ready-made park at a bargain. That is the thing to do now. Subsequently the voters can determine whether to pay for the park in installments or to save interest by an issue of bonds. Pass the purchase bill.

A GOOD PLACE TO FISH.

Now that bass are biting best and many people, including most city employes, are rigging up their rods and scanning the geography for a good place, we take the liberty of saying a word about Reelfoot Lake, Tenn.

The true sportsman will find Reelfoot Lake unsurpassed for everything that goes to make a fishing trip memorable, in addition to plenty of fish. Anybody who will go down there under the auspices and exclusive privileges of the Reelfoot Fishing Club may be certain of having the time of his life. The neighbors will see to it.

It is perhaps true that Izaak Walton would never have picked this place for his kind of preoccupied and meditative angling. The pastoral quiet of the neighborhood is broken by more or less shooting and sometimes a hanging. We should advise anyone who contemplates piscatorial pursuit in Reelfoot Lake to obtain a guard of at least two companies of militia, which can be had by applying to the Governor. This will enable the fisherman to give his undivided attention to the fish.

Persons who think of going down to Reelfoot can obtain fuller information of the conditions and the character of the sport by writing to Col. R. Z. Taylor of Tiptonville. The Colonel has recently been there and he knows all about it.

Why bother about the profitable Ice Trust investments of George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National Committee—Vice-Presidential Candidate James S. Sherman had an ice trust of his own. He is the man with the icehooks.

VOTE FOR THE FIFTH AMENDMENT.

The proposed Fifth Amendment to the State Constitution provides for discontinuing the State property tax, and providing home rule and local option in taxation.

This is effected by a separation of the sources of State and local revenues. The general property levy will be discontinued, while the counties and cities may subject to taxation for local purposes the real and personal property within their jurisdiction and may exempt any class from taxation, wholly or in part. The State will secure its revenue from the exercise of its general taxing power, by license and the like, or by apportionment to the counties and cities. The State is given power to select any special subject of taxation, withdraw it from local taxation and apply the proceeds to State purposes.

The advantages of this reform is that inequalities among the different cities and counties will be removed. The State Board of Equalization has found it impossible to remedy these inequalities of the counties as regards local expenses. Some counties have completed their improvements and desire to reduce the burden of taxation. Others are only beginning or are in the midst of an expensive scheme of improvement, and therefore need large revenues. To "equalize" in such circumstances is impossible. If this amendment is carried, each county will raise what revenue it needs without regard to other counties. The whole subject will be within its own control.

The General Assembly will have power to appropriate certain sources for State revenue exclusively. A corporation tax, for instance, as recommended by Gov. Folk of one-fifteenth of one per cent on the capital stock and surplus of corporations will yield a large revenue. A State tax on the recording of mortgages is a prolific source of revenue in New York and will be in Missouri, if this amendment is adopted.

The effect is to lighten the burden of taxation by distributing it more justly, and to insure a more accurate assessment and collection.

Vote for the Fifth Amendment.

Says Mayor Wells: "I think the United Railways Co. will find the one-mill-a-passenger tax cheaper in the long run than 3-cent fares." But the run may not be so very long, after all.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

An Indictment of Housekeepers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

What has become of the good housekeepers of our youth? I can remember the time when a woman was as proud of her kitchen as of her parlor—often more so. Today, if one could only see the kitchens and cellars and pantries of most St. Louis homes one would be tempted, from a sense of duty, to notify the Board of Health. Many is the wife I have heard say: "Housework just kills me," as an excuse for untidy rooms, and yet I have also heard of these same women sitting hours and hours at the card table, guzzling high balls and making glorious rounds of the theaters, day after day and night after night. Truth is, probably, women are ashamed to be good housekeepers on the ground that manual work of that kind is degrading. N. E.

The Full Dinner Pail.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In perusing one of your editorials of last week I was very much impressed by your interrogatory, which, in substance, was with what is the full dinner pail filled? I believe we all concur in that it is filled with something. Mayhap, Teddy, the bear catcher, from whom all blessings flow, could be prevailed upon to take the "honest workingman" and "intelligent wage earner" into his confidence by permitting the publication of his letter written on this subject to Hon. Luke McGluke, at Big Rock Siding, Mont. Or has 12 years of plenty (for proof, or corroboration, rather, see Republican morning daily) rendered the average worker and wage-earner so corpulent and intellectually fit that an appeal to the stomach is no longer effective? Very likely this accounts for the absence of any reference towards the full dinner pail during the present campaign. Another time-honored familiar Republican vote-siphonic figure is conspicuous by its absence is the picture of the Adonis-like, symmetrical, immaculate, large-browed, unwrinkled, clear-eyed American workingman clad, perchance, in union overalls, wearing a square cap, back of whom stood factories galore, smoke issuing from the chimneys and activity abounding. Beside him stands his wife and progeny. A look of defiance exudes from his picture-book countenance. What does he see? Ah! my countrymen, he sees the other end of the picture. Shall I strike terror in your heart by describing it? I shall be brief and render it as painless as the circumstances permit. It is the desolation concomitant to Democratic rule. Starvation, closed factories, innumerable unemployed, poverty, poor crops, no rain, no sunshine. Is it not awful, Ethel? Again I rise to inquire whither goeth this fairy-book picture of the American workingman, and why, and what are the contents of the full dinner pail, and also why? J. LEONARD DUDLEY.

Injury to Woman's Cause.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It was on a crowded Suburban car going west. A young lady and her escort boarded the car at Eighteenth street and the glance of appeal which she gave the men seated in the car soon won for her a seat relinquished by an elderly man who retired to the rear platform. She thanked him, but after occupying the seat a few minutes arose and gave it to her escort. Moving farther up in the car, she repeated her former tactics and soon had another seat. Now, do you think that either one of these men will be in a hurry to give their seat to a lady in the future? Such tricks do more to injure the woman's course than can be overcome by courtesy and politness on her part in a long time.

Vandalism at Creve Coeur Lake.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Botanists, entomologists and nature lovers generally, will learn with much regret that the United Railways Co. has begun the intended complete destruction of all small growth on their large amusement tract at Creve Coeur Lake, the object being to transform the place into an open grove for picnic parties. As this means the annihilation of nearly everything which made the place a naturalist's paradise, it would be well, if, while there may still something be spared, the various naturalists' societies of the city, would lose no time in appointing committees to call on the president of the United Railways Co. and explain to him why at least a portion of this beauty spot should be preserved in its original natural state. Would like to see the Post-Dispatch take up this matter in its editorial columns. A DISCIPLE OF THOREAU.

An Inventor Observes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

After many years of experience with the working class of women I noticed that the leak in the husband's or father's pocketbook is cosued by the extravagance of wives and daughters. I have come in contact with the best of them, and I have made it my business to go shopping with a good many of them in order to see if they have any sympathy with their poor, hard-working fathers, and if they have any sympathy with their poor selves, but I see that fashion on anything has the advantage of their poor little minds. And most of them buy whether they need or not. To this I will add that the biggest easy-money graft is inventing new articles for women. I found it so. AN INVENTOR.

RAMPANT SPECIAL PRIVILEGE.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

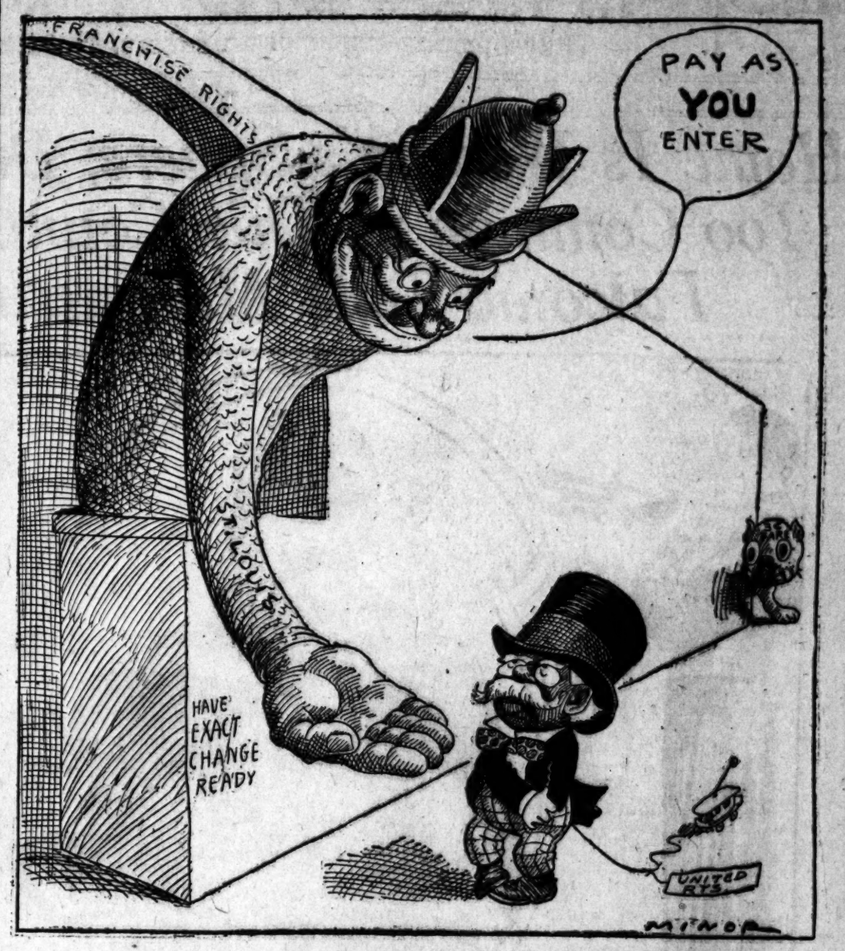

Flying the flag of Roosevelt, the Republican leaders have made their peace with the System. From Rockefeller to Carnegie, from Harriman to Corey, every chieftain of wealth and predatory wealth, the honest too often making common cause with the dishonest, is well content with Taft and Sherman. They foretoken and imply the old order of special privilege to the few, impositions of every sort to the many; high finance rampant; high tariff, "revised by its friends," rampant; the end of Rooseveltism and agitation "for the good of business"—business only organized capital and licensed monopoly; the same old story, the same old song, the same old crowd slicked over with goose grease from the Roosevelt larder, but meaning four years more of the rascaldom which Roosevelt has unmasked but not downed; which Roosevelt has exposed, but left intact; which, in spite of Roosevelt and all his works, stands today as impudent and as defiant as ever it stood, a gray wolf lording it over the Senate, a gray wolf lording it over the House, and two gray wolves, Sherman and Sheldon, "Sunny Jim" and "Black George," giving tone and effect to the ticket.

A NAME FOR A PARK.

From the St. Louis Mirror.

It is proposed that the new parks about to be established in St. Louis shall be named after distinguished departed St. Louisans. One of them should be named after the late Frank R. O'Neil, one of the strongest individual forces for good that this city has known in 40 years. His work as a journalist and as a citizen deserves such recognition by the community, and a park for the children of the poor would be a commemoration appropriate to the character of the man who combined greatness and sympathy with brilliance and energy of service.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY.

JUST A MINUTE FOR VERSE AND HUMOR

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

AN OMISSION.

The Secretary of Commerce and Labor had just riddled the last of Mr. Bryan's fallacies.

"O, Mr. Straus!" cried a man at the rear.

"What is it?" asked the Secretary.

The man walked halfway down the aisle, where he could be heard a little better.

"You omitted something," he said.

The Secretary's brow clouded, and he tried hard to think.

"Did I? What was it?"

A very dry smile cracked on the countenance of the man in the aisle.

"You forgot to tell us how many men are out of work."

With great presence of mind, Mr. Howe leaped to his feet and shouted:

"We will sing No. 310!"

IN THE BIG LEAGUE.

Where will the little ones bunk?

ANSWER.

ASTRAL—A wins the bet. Joe Wentworth was a policeman in Jamestown in 1608.

Molly: I should think you would be crazy for one of those green hats.

Coddle: My dear, you forget that green is the color that keeps us from going crazy.

About all that Tom Watson is going to carry in the forthcoming election is the Populist banner.

THE VANQUISHED SUFFRAGETTE.

WHEN Ma says wimmin ought to vote,
Pa always raises that old din
About the mess that wimmin folks
Has got the hired girl problem in.
Says Pa: "We've left that field alone,
And given wimmin folks their whirl,
And what's the answer? Eh, by George,
There ain't nobody got a girl!"

At that Ma tries to switch the talk
To gossip and the need of rain,
But Pa keeps on with politics
And wimmin votin in the main.
"It only goes to show," he says,
"What heads is put on wimmin folk"—
And maybe Ma, her face all red,
Ain't awful sorry that she spoke!

"To judge by what they've done at home,"
Says Pa with scorn upon his face,
"If wimmin had the upper hand,
This country'd be a lovely place.
"By George!" he says (and meanwhile Ma
Is just as silent as a clam),
"Try that, and there won't even be
No one to work for Uncle Sam!

"The sailors will give notice—quit—
And try the navy of Japan!
The soldiers will throw down their guns
And work a while for Empress An!
That's what the wimmin votin' means,"
Says Pa in thunderous dismay—
"Ridiculous—yes ma'am, absurd!"
But Ma ain't got a word to say.

A POSER FOR WILSON.

Close on the heels of Secretary Wilson's assurance that our farmers raise more per acre under Republican rule comes the announcement that a Connecticut orchardist has found four apples bearing on the skin an excellent likeness of Mr. Bryan.

In the light of this timely discovery we must reserve judgment until the Secretary of Agriculture produces some fruit of the soil bearing similar likenesses of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Taft or Uncle Joe Cannon.

'SH!

Marsh: You look as calm as a still pool.

Mallow: Yes, I'm watching the race for vice-president.

About Brush.

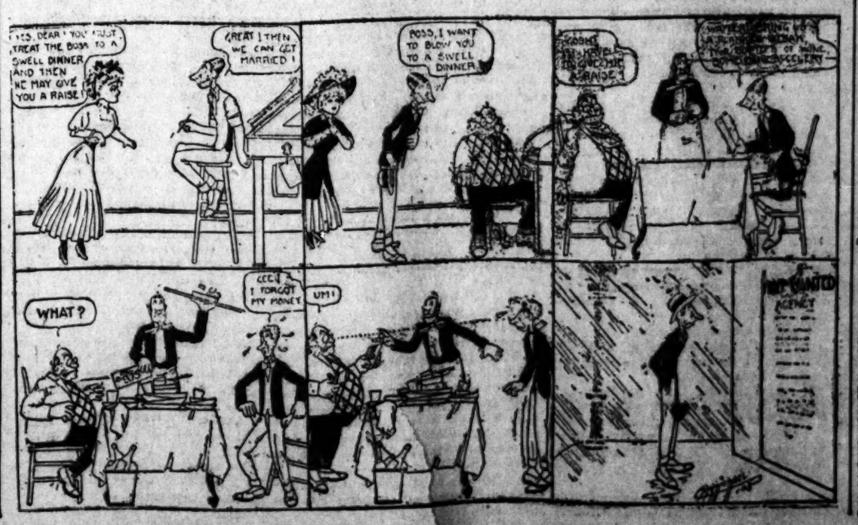

Paraphrasing Mr. Howells, the best thing about most desert towns is the outbound train, but the best thing about Brush, Colo., is the huge sign telling about Brush. It is especially exposed to the passing tourist, and the information conveyed is something like this:

This is Brush.
Climate—great.
Prospects—rosy.
Population—500.
Elevation—4200 feet.
Principal crop—sugar beets.
Distance from Denver—80 miles.
Population two years ago—none.
Schools—nothing better in the West.
Principal virtue of town—rain center.

WANTED—Sandwich men; $1.50 and board.

E. J. C.—Catholic priest, Jewish rabbi, Methodist minister, Mormon elder, or any person of any religion whatever, whenever he can obtain enough votes, may be president of the United States and may serve all the rest of his life if the people choose to re-elect him.

F. S.—For early baldness (before hair roots are dead): Sulphate of quinine 4 drams, tincture of cantharides 1½ drams, tincture of shatang 2½ drams, spirits of lavender 1 ounce, glycerin half ounce, alcohol 6 ounces. Apply night and morning until new growth is established.

M. T.—There is no ordinance prohibiting the wearing of mask costumes at any time, but there is a law against the wearing of costumes belonging to the opposite sex. This latter ordinance is not rigidly enforced on Halloween, however. Arrest depends upon the conduct of parties masquerading.

EHSER.—Durable whitewash: When lime is properly slaked with hot water and a cover over the vessel, it will boil fiercely and as soon as the slaking is done the wash should be used. If some tallow is added to the boiling lime it will make a wash that will wear like paint. Salt tends to harden the lime, and is useful for doing damp places. There are two kinds of lime, the magnesian lime being the proper one for whitewashing purposes.

X. Y. Z.—You fail to state whether the estate of your father has been probated upon; if not, this requirement is necessary before real estate be sold, and it depends on what your stepmother's guardian may claim; whether a child's share absolutely or merely her dower; if latter, her interest ceases on her death and belongs to yourself and brothers; if former, her heirs would be entitled to the same.

S. R.—Engagement announcement may be made by the mother, at a luncheon or dinner. When dessert is served, whoever makes the announcement may rise and make some appropriate remark about having "something pleasant to tell everybody. But perhaps it will not be a surprise to hear that our friends, Miss —— and Mr. —— have decided that they will climb the hill together. Let us all join in a toast to their long life and happiness."

G. B.—Dickens' "All the Year Round" (1859) says: "In South America an area of country 43 miles square was found strewed with fish; in England, at a considerable distance from the sea, a pasture was found scattered over with about a bushel of fish. Herrings fell in 1828 in Kinross-shire; and instances of other similar falls are legion. The fish are taken up in a waterspout, borne along by the currents and dropped, it may be, hundreds of miles away, just as dust, containing small animals and plants, is gathered up near the Amazon and dropped on some vessel.

BRENNAN.—Capt. Wm. Andrews started to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a 14-foot dory, the Dark Secret, Oct. 6, 1901. Miss Mary Sothrow, whom he married Oct. 5, accompanied him. They sailed from Atlantic City, N. J. They were sighted a week later. Nothing was heard of them afterwards. Sept. 11, 1902, Capt. Andrews was declared legally dead by the Massachusetts courts. He had made five trips across the ocean. Capt. Ludwig Eisenbaum sailed from Moston, Aug. 11, 1902, in a 17-foot dory and arrived at Gibraltar Nov. 13. His boat was the Columbian.

F. E. D.—On shipboard for discipline and to divide the watch fairly, the crew is mustered in two divisions, the starboard, the right side, looking toward the bow, and port, the left. The day commences at noon and is thus divided: Afternoon watch, noon to 4 p. m.; first dog watch, 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.; second dog watch, 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.; first watch, 8 p. m. to midnight; middle watch, midnight to 4 a. m.; morning watch, 4 a. m. to 8 a. m., and forenoon watch, 8 a. m. to noon. This makes seven watches, which enables the crew to keep them alternately as the watch which comes on duty at noon one day has the forenoon next day and the men who have only four hours rest one night have eight the next. Time is kept by means of bells.

A.—There are some persons who think a Friday birth unlucky. The Friday superstition, some say, had its origin in the fact that the crucifixion occurred on Friday, and some assert that Eve and Adam ate the apple on Friday afternoon. The Buddhists and the Arabs mind hold the identical distrust of Friday that the superstitious among us maintain. The fact that it is hangman's day is rather the result of the superstition than one of the causes. Of all the nations of the Christian world, the Scotch have a fondness for Friday; with them the day is the favorite one of the week for weddings. Queen Victoria, Gladstone, Beaconsfield, Washington, Bismarck, Fahrenheit and Napoleon were born on Friday. Henry VIII gave Cabot his commission which led to the discovery of North America; Columbus actually discovered the continent and the Pilgrim Fathers landed on Plymouth Rock on Friday. The first newspaper ad and the first newspaper printed by steam power (the London Times) appeared both on a Friday; while the stamp act was repealed in England on the same day of the week. With Charles Dickens Friday was an especial favorite.

THE WHITE HAND

A Flirtation Across Back Lots
Conducted by Models of Propriety.
Told for the Post-Dispatch

BY IVAN WHIN.

PART I.

ROGERS' room was at the back of the house. From the window he looked west over a space of lawn, some low sheds and an alley, another stretch of lawn and the backs of more costly houses than the one in which he dwelt. That house which was immediately opposite his own was painted white and had green shutters, like all the notable houses in the small town from which he came.

It was a three storied house, a kitchen on the first floor, a bed chamber on the second floor and another chamber on the third floor. The top room had but one window, set in the angle of the roof. Its interior was hidden from Rogers' view by lace curtains apparently as costly as those hung in the second-floor windows.

Rogers rose at the ridiculous early hour, 5 a. m.

One morning, while dressing, Rogers looked idly across the back yards to the white house just as a hand was thrust between the curtains to close the shutters against the rising sun. Only a hand and arm were visible, a hand and arm that even at that distance Rogers realized were of exceptional delicacy and beauty. Although the shutters creakingly resisted the hand drew them steadily in place.

As he came from his bath the next morning he looked at the back of the white house and saw the white, delicate, strong, beautiful hand and arm thrust from between the curtains to close the shutters.

It was the first sign of life in the long row of houses. So far as observation convinced he and the owner of the hand were the only persons awake in the block. Forgetting that bathrobes are not considered sufficient attire outside one's room and that his windows were uncurtained, he stood close to the sill until the shutters ceased to creak and hid the hand.

Morning after morning this was repeated. As the days grew longer Rogers and the lady of the hand rose earlier; she to shut out the sun and he to see her do it. Never once did he as much as detect the contour of a form pressing against the curtains. The hand and arm were as bodiless as those that float above you ringing bells in a spiritualistic manifestation.

One morning she was late. The sun was shining full and fierce upon the lace curtains. Rogers, dodging from the mirror to the window, was tieing his scarf. The curtains swayed and parted; the white hand thrust forth and, as he watched it, waved toward him. Instinctively he waved his hand.

He could not have defined his interest in the hand before that morning, nor indeed was he certain of the motive that lay back of his agitation as he questioned Morgiana when she served his breakfast.

Morgiana was not the proper name for the daughter of Martha, who brought his eggs and coffee. Nor was her name Cinderella, nor Mrs. Cophetua, nor Sister Annie, nor Marchioness; yet Rogers was as like to use one name as another in addressing her and she answered to all.

"Morgiana," he said, "who lives in the white house with green shutters back there?"

The handmaiden yawned prodigiously, wet a finger on her lips, wound some strands of her disheveled locks and tucked the ball back under her comb.

"The white house with green shutters?"

"Yes."

"Back there?"

"Yes."

"Aw, I don't know them guinnies. They just moved in."

"You fabricate, Lord Ullen's daughter. The family has lived there for two months to my certain knowledge."

"Well, don't you call that just moved in?"

"It is plain to be seen, Guinevere, that you are of the aristocratic type of servant. But in two months have you condescended to learn the name of the young lady who occupies the third floor back of them guinnies' house?"

"What? Up there in the roof? She's batty."

"Betty—that's a beautiful name."

"Naw, not Betty, I say she's batty—got bats in her curls; dippy—ah, you know."

"Do you mean so simple a thing as that she is non compos mentis?"

"What I meant is, she's cracked in the head."

"Old or young, Imogene?"

"Awful old."

"Good. Now, Maybelle, what's the name of the beautiful white-armed Venus who takes care of the old crazy woman?"

"Her? Say, Mr. Rogers, is you stuck on her? Well, all's over between me and you and I'll put tacks in your wheats. Her? Well."

"Evidently no friend of yours, Brunhilda?"

"Nit, not, no time, never."

"Why?"

"She's too flossy. I know Phila Biggers since she was born. I used to 'tend her with me sisters and brothers when she was just able to walk and her mother goes out to manicure. When she grows up her mother sends her to training—to the nurse's school, and when she gets hep she plants her mother in a fine flat and goes around on jobs at $3 a day and her board. Then she sees me once and she says: 'Oh, is this Dora?' and she laughs and says 'I thought you was a giant and you're not so tall as I am.' 'No, thank God, I ain't,' I says. 'I wouldn't be a clothes pole like you, and if you don't like my fat you can"——

"Mellsande! Mellsande, I'm afraid you used language and all because Phila as a child thought you a giantess and later realized your lovely dumpiness. But all is not to be over between us and if you put tacks in my wheats I'll put rats in your guimp. You are to continue adoring me passionately and you are going to make friends with lovely Phila and invite her to come play in our back yard."

Dora swore she would not, but that evening at dinner she whispered: "Say, but you're a flirt. I seen Phila this afternoon. I wouldn't believe it of you."

"Did you invite her to play in our back yard?"

"Yes, but she won't come. She's scared of you."

When he woke the next morning the shutters of Phila's window were partially closed. A week passed before he again saw the hand reach out from between the curtains, and when he waved he was not sure the hand responded.

His interest had grown immeasureably. Unconsciously Dora inflamed it by artless repetitions of conversations with Phila.

"Naw, I ain't going to describe her. She says to me: 'Now, Dora, don't you talk to Mr. Rogers about me and don't you never tell nothing about me to him,' and I swore I wouldn't tell you a joecannon thing."

"Tut, tut, my gentle Rosalind. Such words are permitted only in the heat of political controversy. But you ought to tote fair. Inasmuch as you enlarged upon my attractions to her, you should tell me, is she blind in her left eye, red-headed, scarred or piebald?"

But not to be beguiled, Dora refused all information.

At irregular intervals, in the morning, Phila would acknowledge his greeting. Sometimes at night he would see her form flitting about the room, but the infrequent light was always turned low and the curtains were never looped back.

Often before retiring he would sit by his window and dream of the nurse. He wondered what chance would gain him speech with her. Surely some time he would meet her. Until then he could not give over the thought that he might love her. When they met it was possible that no sentiment would flame in their hearts and yet he felt this could not be true.

As he watched her dark window one evening the curtains were parted and a black object slipped over the sill. As it descended slowly from the window, its blackness laid against the white wall, he recognized it was a woman's form.

Somewhere in the house a woman screamed.

Rogers did not pause to analyze the situation. He ran downstairs, out the back way, across the alley and into the yard back of the white house.

He saw a slim young woman standing in the third-floor window and heard a cool voice saying:

"Wait a moment, Mrs. Trepp. I'll go with you."

The woman hanging from the sill shrieked and released her grip. As she fell the young woman grasped her arms.

"Hold on hard," shouted Rogers. "I'm coming."

To Be Concluded in the Post-Dispatch Saturday.

AUTUMN LEAVES.

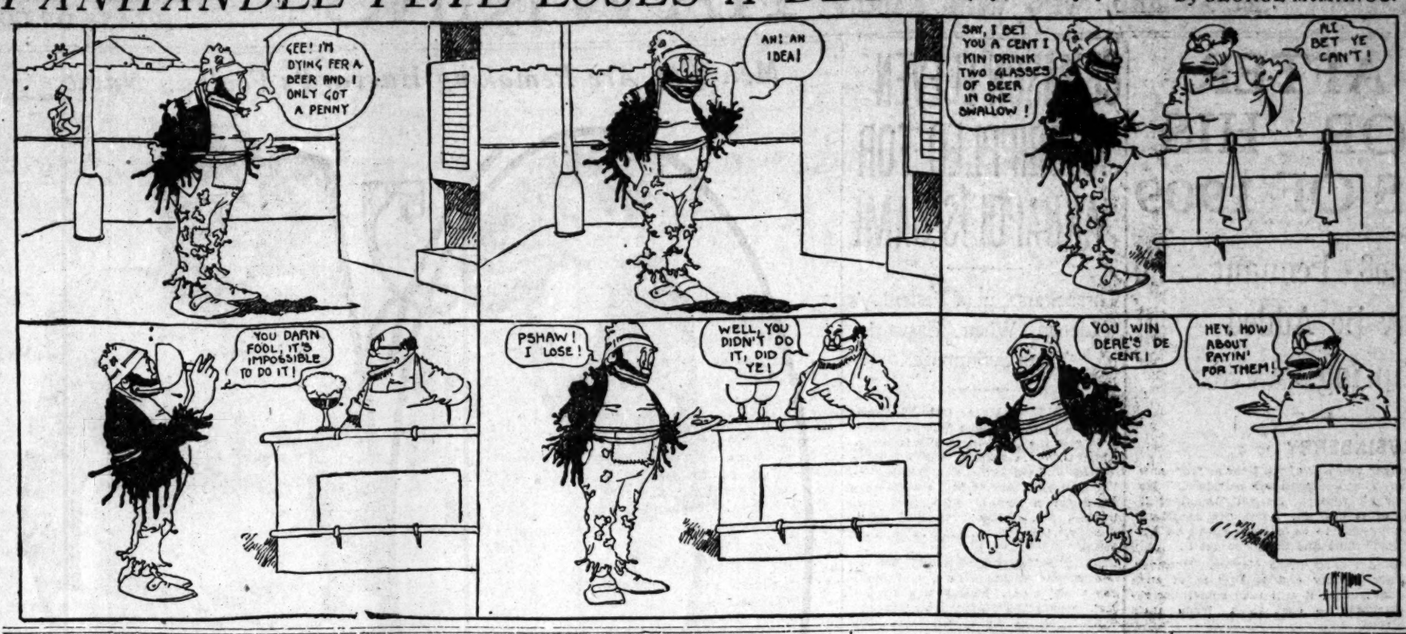

I AM sorry to say that much of the late autumn work that I see going on is purely mischievous. Why on earth should a man or a woman run a lawn mower in October; or why should they rake all the beautiful brown leaves out of the grass, and burn them? Nature sprinkles these leaves all over the lawns as a protection against the cold of winter, and I would have removed only those which gather in heaps, or possibly lie so thickly as to smother the grass. Nature works all summer weaving at millions of looms, to shade us and the earth, and when the work is done she shakes off the leaves to keep the earth warm during the zero weather. It is a wonderful gift, and that man is a fool who rejects it. Leaves not needed on the lawn, should be gathered for the compost pile; others to be used as bedding in the stables; and others still to bank the buildings, and cover the floors of the chicken room and the apple cellar—if these are under the barn. In all sort of ways autumn leaves are money-savers and money-makers, and yet, I think that over half of these brown beauties are burned—that is, of those that fall near our villages. If I had no other use for them I would pull off my shoes, just as I did when a boy, and kick through the piles along the hedges and in the swale. Then I would throw myself down on them and smell the delicious odor of beech and maple and basswood. I would let a little of the poetry that is floating loose through the world get into my soul, and I would keep up my boy for life.—From "Closing the Farm," by E. P. Powell in the Outing Magazine.

AROUND THE WORLD

EVER since Jules Verne published his "Around the World in Eighty Days" there has been wide public interest in the time required to circumnavigate Mother Earth, says Charles H. Cochrane in the Metropolitan. Unquestionably it could not have been done in 80 days at the time of the great novelist's story. But with improvements in railway and steamboat routes such a trip became possible about 20 years ago. Nellie Bly, traveling for the New York World, cut the pace in 1890 to 72 days and the eccentric George Francis Train, shortly afterward, going in an opposite direction, was able to make it in 67½ days. It has now been figured that there are several routes by which a traveler may make the grand circuit in from 40 to 42 days, but the best performance is that of Lieutenant-Colonel Burnley Campbell, who circled the globe in the early summer of last year, in four and one-half hours less than 41 days. He would have made it in 40 even, but for missing one train by a close margin. His itinerary was: Liverpool to Quebec, seven days; Quebec-Vancouver, by Canadian Pacific Transcontinental mail train, eight and a half days; Vancouver-Yokohama, by Canadian Pacific steamer, seven days; Yokohama - Vladivostock, by Japanese steamer, four and a half days; Vladivostock-Moscow, by Transsiberian Railway, eleven days; Moscow-London, three days. It is obvious that the Canadian railways were particularly slow, but the route affords shorter steamboat travel on the Pacific than the New York and San Francisco route.

PANHANDLE PETE LOSES A BET

MUSIC IS MATHEMATICS.

Prof. Nix's Latest Discovery Described for the Post-Dispatch

By David H. Dodge.

"WHY, I did not know you were musical, Charles," said Prof. Nix's wife as she entered the room and found her husband standing by the piano, with one hand on the keyboard.

"I'm not,' said the professor. "I was only making a slight calculation."

"Oh, calculation, calculation;" said the professor's wife; "everything's arithmetic with you. I don't see how the piano helps your calculation, though. You can't make mathematics out of music, anyhow."

"Indeed?" said the professor. "I fear you have another ideal shattered, then. Would it surprise you very much to learn that the musical scale is merely a multiplication table?"

"It would," said the professor's wife, "for it isn't."

"All right,' said Prof. Nix, striking a note near the bottom of the piano and following it with a note near the top; "now can you distinguish between those two notes?"

"Of course I can," said the professor's wife. "What a foolish question!"

"Quite foolish, no doubt," said the professor, "but are you able to tell me how you distinguish them?"

"Why, one is bass and the other is treble," said the professor's wife; "even a cat could tell that."

"Yes, but what distinguishes a treble note from a bass note?" insisted the professor.

The treble note is high and the bass note is low," said the professor's wife.

"Why?" asked Prof. Nix.

"Oh, because," said the professor's wife, impatiently.

"Ah, I see you don't know," said the professor. "Well, I'll tell you. The only difference between them on this piano is the fact that the high note makes more vibrations than the lower, that's all."

"Vibrations," said the professor's wife. "What are they?"

"Did you ever drop a stone in a pond?" asked the professor.

"I asked you what vibrations were," said the professor's wife.

"Quie so," said the professor, "and I'll tell you. You no doubt remember the circles that made their appearance on the surface of the water, with the spot where the stone fell for a center? Well, waves in the air made by a sound, like a musical note, for instance, are very much like those in the water, and these waves are the vibrations I was referring to. Now, this middle C here, as I strike it, causes a certain number of vibrations in the air to take place. The note above it causes more, and the note below it less."

MAKING A SLIGHT CALCULATION.

"How many does C cause?" asked the professor's wife, ironically.

"The number is 264 per second," replied Prof. Nix, gravely; "the note below gives about 247 and the note above about 272."

"How on earth do you know that?" said the professor's wife.

"O," said the professor, "all the notes of the scale bear a certain ratio to each other in regard to the number of vibrations they cause. For instance, the two simple facts that a note and its perfect fifth cause vibrations in the proportion of 2 to 3 and the same note and its octave in the proportion of 1 to 2, give the figures of the whole keyboard, provided one knows the number of vibrations caused by any one of these three. Give me a piece of music."

"Here's a song," said the professor's wife, taking it from the top of the piano.

"H'm," said the professor, "I see the chorus starts with B-flat Let me see, that gives about 470 vibrations per second; the note C, 528; the next D, 594; the next"——

"O," never mind," exclaimed the professor's wife. "Everything's reduced to mathematics with you. I shall never care to play 'I Love You' and 'Harrigan' any more now."

"Ah," said Prof. Nix, "another triumph for science."

INSOMNIA.

A PHYSICIAN who has made a specialty of insomnia advises those who are afflicted with it in its earlier stages to sleep with a pillow under the feet and nothing under the head. He also recommends this as a remedy for nightmare, which is not a jest to those who suffer in this way.

When one is tired the best way to woo sleep is to place a pillow in an upright position at the foot of the bed and to press the feet against it. This will rest the entire body.

He advises against sleeping on the back with the arms thrown over the head. This, he says, invites disease of the throat, eyes and nose; the pressure of the palate against the back of the throat prevents free breathing and weakens respiration.

He also advises against sleeping with the arms folded on the chest. Of all parts of the body, the chest and lungs need to be free of any weight.

No matter how short the slumber or how warm the night, it is best to cover the body with some light covering, even if it is only a newspaper over the feet. The discarding of sheets is a bad practice.

New Year's Eve in Syria.

"CRACK-THE WHIP—and the climax of earthly joy was achieved. We put the camel-boys on the end of the line; we sent them tumbling head over heels—rolling over the soft sand like rag balls—far into the farther moonlight. Wellah! but they would be cracked again. By the Prophet! the thing must be done. And we cracked them with such joyous fervor that we never expected to see them more.

"In the uproar of laughter I put my hand on the shoulder of Ahmed, 'Are you happy?' I asked.

"'By the Lord!' he swore, his hands clenched with earnestness, 'but I am happy!'

"Mustafa clamored to be cracked—for the very joy, said he, of this swift flight. We indulged Mustafa; we put Mustafa where he craved to be, and we gripped hands with a new and mightier grip, and we ran faster and farther, and we turned more abruptly, and we cracked the old gentleman clean out of sight over the ridge of a sand-drift.

"'By Mohammed!' he screamed, returning; but there is a deep hole in the desert where I alighted!'

"And with this the evening's entertainment came to an end."—Norman Duncan in Harper's.

MEN'S WEAR

THERE is a feeling now-a-days that the men are coming into their own again, as far as the beauty and richness of their clothing and "accessories" are concerned. Not for years have they worn such gorgeous scarfs, such high colored shirts and socks, such "loud" waistcoats, buttoned with semi-precious stones, and such brilliant jewels and pins.

A NEW dress suit is made of dark green unfinished worsted. This is the latest concession to the green fever, which everyone seems to have caught at the present time. It remains to be seen if this particular departure from the conventional will meet with favor among the well-dressed men of today.

THE difficulty of obtaining cheviot shirts nowadays is one of the curious whims of fashion. There is no better fabric for shirts for fall wear, but very few houses are putting them out. They may be found, however, if one takes the trouble to "shop" for them, and it is distinctly worth while to do this, as cheviots make handsome shirts; they wear well and are just about the proper weight for the chilly mornings of the current season.

A COMBINATION bath and lounging robe is made of a fast-dyed, mercerized fabric, with a shawl collar. It comes in an extensive color assortment and is quilted with white terry.

HOW many vents shall we have in the backs of our coats? This is one of the much-mooted questions of the present time. While some of the new coats are still being made without any, the single vent in the middle would seem to be the more popular fashion, but there are indications that a revival of the vents in the side seams is in order. A number of such coats may be seen almost any time in the streets now and some of the shops are even showing them among their displays of fall models.

THE very newest model of a sack coat is made without any pockets at all, is close fitting and has a slight dip in the front. The coat buttons with a fly and is very neat in appearance, although somewhat ecclesiastic in its suggestion.

ANOTHER sack coat is made with a shawl collar, no breast pocket and two vertical slash pockets. The severity of this garment, however, is relieved by an elaborate cuff.

Which Will You Elect —Bake Day heat and drudgery or →

"I have quit baking my own bread since trying 'HOLSUM.'"
"I've got the 'HOLSUM HABIT.'"
"I've turned my bake day into rest day," is what scores of people are telling us every day.

The "HOLSUM" process of mixing ingredients and baking is furnishing St. Louis families with the cleanest and most delicious bread that ever came from an oven.

While twice the size of five-cent bread, "HOLSUM" is daintily modeled and makes closely grained slices, just right for serving, with double the quality and substance of ordinary bread in them.

"HOLSUM" is not only more tasty than other bread, but is cheaper, as well. You simply can't put such all 'round quality into bread at any cost, to say nothing of the heat and drudgery and chance of failure which you must endure if you make your own bread.

Why do you do it? Why not let "HOLSUM" save you time, energy and money?

Your grocer has it in big ten cent loaves. A plate of "HOLSUM" slices make a dressy table—it has been characterized as "a plate of refinement and good manners."

"It's better than your mother ever made."

McALEER AFTER SPEED FOR HIS BROWNS OF 1909

Lack of It Cost 1908 Pennant and Fast Men May Be Added Before Spring.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY

ONE word will be in the mind of Manager McAleer of the Browns from now until the next baseball season opens. That one word will be "speed." He will say it over to himself every hour all winter. He will dream of it at night. Speed, speed, speed. The lack of it cost St. Louis the American League pennant this season and McAleer intends to have some speed on his club next year if he has to sacrifice batting, fielding and brains to get it.

The Browns had enough pitching strength this season to have won the pennant had there been more speed on the bases. Their hitting was good enough if they had stolen more bases. Their fielding was strong enough to hold down the best of them providing there had been just a trifle more speed in their offensive play.

So Mr. McAleer and Mr. Hedges have decided that more speed must be on next year's team and what trading or buying is done during the winter to build up the team for the season of 1909 will be with the idea of gaining in speed. The owner and manager were forced to see too many games lost last summer where a stolen base or a dashing runner on the base lines might have brought in the winning count.

It is hard to see where any change can be made in the infield for the coming season unless McAleer should be so fortunate to land a great first baseman such as Hal Chase. The infield is likely to stand just as it was this year and there is none too much speed among those players. However, their fielding and batting is of such quality that it will take something remarkable to oust them from their places.

So the speed that McAleer expects to add to the team next season must be placed in the outfield. At least one and possibly two new outfielders are to be added to the team if the plans of McAleer and Hedges can be put through.

George Stone has speed now and there is little doubt he will stick. Young Al Schweitzer showed flashes of speed during the year that were wonderful, and if his running gear will only stay in condition he will undoubtedly be another regular in the outfield. In Heidrick, Hoffman and Charley Jones, McAleer has a lot of speed, but in each one of these men something was lacking that made a weakness in the outfield all season. Hartzell, the other outfielder, is better than any of them, but in reality he is an infielder and McAleer would rather keep him as an extra infielder for the coming season.

Heidrick Not Likely to Star and Rumor Says McIntyre Will Come

THERE is a chance that Heidrick will get into condition for the coming year, and if he can even approach his oldtime form of four or five years ago, the Browns outfield will be complete and no team will be better unless, perhaps, Detroit. But Heidrick was overweight and sluggish all the time he was with the Browns this year and at his age, it is doubtful if he ever can acquire the speed he had when at his best.

Rumor has it that a deal is on to secure Matty McIntyre of the Detroit club. That would be a most pleasing addition to the fans here, who were given the impression during the summer that McIntyre was about the best allround player in the American League. To tell the truth of it, luck was with McIntyre in the St. Louis games more than against any other team, so his year didn't begin to average up as well as he showed while in our city. However, he is a splendid outfielder, can hit, field and throw and run the bases exceedingly well, though he has not as much speed as George Stone.

Danny Hoffman could be made into the greatest baserunner in the game today if some wise manager could only get his head and feet to work in unison. Danny lets his head carry his legs into danger too often, and then, just the reverse is the case at times—his head holding back his feet when they should be digging for the home plate. However, he is not aged, and if he ever gets started he'll be the sensation of the game, for he's got more speed than any of them.

If McAleer can add one speedy man to the club before the season opens and then develop the latent speed in three or four of his present members, he will have as vicious an attacking machine as Detroit. Then slip in a sterling pitcher, a genuine top notcher who can beat those big stars in those close games, and give him a brainy and experienced catcher, and the Browns will be the best team in the American League.

WORLD'S TENPIN MARK SMASHED

Two American Bowling Congress, or world's records for tenpins, were broken by the Schneidt team of the St. Louis Tenpin League in their match with the Grands on the Grand alleys last night.

The Schneidts got a total of 3306 pins, or an average of 1102 pins per game. This is a world's record according to Maurice Phillips, a member of the executive committee of the A. B. C., the body that controls the tenpin game.

In the first game of the match the Schneidts got a total of 1183 pins. This also is a record. If this mark is not beaten before February when the A.B.C. competition will be held at Pittsburg each member of the Schneidt team will be awarded a golf medal emblematic of the world's record holders. These medals are awarded for the highest single game bowled by a five-men team, according to Mr. Phillips, and not on the high average for three games, as generally thought.

The Grand alleys are sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress. The St. Louis Tenpin League is also sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress. Last year the Coughlin Stars of Chicago took the gold medals for the high single game with a 1166 game.

Rothwell's Great Game.

Arthur Rothwell of the Schneidts also is eligible for a medal for the high individual game, when he got a 300 not long ago. While higher scores have been made by five-men teams at previous times, they were never recognized by the A. B. C. Last year the Palace team of the Palace League got a total of 3364 pins and a high game of 1206 pins on the Palace alleys. This was marvelous bowling. The team was not allowed the prizes at Cincinnati because of an oversight, the alleys not being sanctioned by the A. B. C. Coffman of the Schneidts averaged 246, Rothwell 243 2-3 and Gus Schneidt 241 2-3. Schneidt got a 289 game as a starter.

The great work of the three men mentioned is demonstrated in the score of the match which follows:

MORTON BREAKS A RIB IN PRACTICE

Strat Morton, who has been the star player of the Washington University backfield, suffered a broken rib in scrimmage practice yesterday afternoon in the Stadium and will be unable to make the trip to Lawrence, Kan., for the game with the Kansas University eleven Saturday.

It is thought that some player unintentionally kicked Morton yesterday. Morton felt a sharp pain in his side, but played for several minutes more before he finally got out of the game. An examination by Frank Ewerhardt, athletic director of the university, disclosed his injury. He will in all probability be out of the game for some time.

Coach Cayou is still driving his team at top speed to get it ready to meet Kansas at Lawrence, Saturday. A long, hard signal practice, followed by 30 minutes' hard scrimmage, was the program Saturday.

Tries Out Four Quarterbacks.

All of the four quarterbacks who are eligible to the team were tried out. C. Castlen, H. Castlen, Goldsmith and Ailsworth were used, but Ailsworth was given the hardest work, as Cayou is anxious to get him into shape as soon as possible. It is not probable that Ailsworth will be used against the Jayhawkers, but he will very likely make the trip.

Eighteen men will leave for Lawrence Friday morning, besides Cayou, and Manager Henger. These are: Ends, Hagler, Elliott and Maddox; tackles, Bock and Rodenberg; guards, Luckey, Horting and Glasgow; centers, Hagin and Perrings; backs Pitzman, Bouton, Hager, Goldsmith and Ailsworth.

The W. U. "Scrubs" or "Michigan," as they are styled, will play Smith Academy Saturday morning at the Smith grounds. The odds look to be very much in favor of the "Michigan" aggregation, for in Rozier, Nipher, Sihler and Williams they have about the best set of backs available at the Pikeway College. However, as Smith had the date open, they decided to play in order to get into shape for their next interscholastic contest, which comes the following Saturday.

O'Brien Gets Bout Abroad.

Rouse O'Brien, the Boston fighter, who fought so many grueling battles at the local clubs last year, and who went to England three weeks ago in search of fights, has been matched to fight Johnny Summers, the English lightweight, for 20 rounds at the National Sporting Club of London on the night of Nov. 23. Summers ought to win, as O'Brien is all in.

CRIMSON ELEVEN IS CRIPPLED FOR ANNAPOLIS GAME

Three Stars Out of Yesterday's Lineup When Harvard Team Scrimmages.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 22.—Secret practice in the stadium Tuesday afternoon saw the Crimson varsity in scrimmage with the seconds without Burr, McKay and Gil Browne in the line up. The wen also were taken behind closed gates and a new set of signals were worked out. After that the whole squad's work was confined to catching punts.

Burr is suffering from a cold, Browne has trouble with his face, and Smith has a bad ankle. McKay was given a rest. Again the Harvard varsity met their equals in the second team. The varsity advanced the ball to the second's three-yard line by line bucking and tackle plays, but they lost the pigskin on downs.

After an exchange of punts the seconds got the ball on their 35-yard line and rushed it down the field by consistent line bucking and the use of forward pass to the varsity's goal line, where Page went through Fish for a touchdown.

The seconds were given the ball on the varsity five-yard mark, and Burrage went through the right wing in three rushes for the touchdown. Beaman was too much for Fish and Page went by him for the first score handily.

The team leaves for Baltimore tonight where they will remain until Saturday, when they go to Annapolis.

TIRED INDIANS DRIVEN HARD BY SCARED COACHES

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 22.—Practice at the Carlisle Indian School on Tuesday showed that no effort will be spared by Carlisle to present a strong front against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia on Saturday. Bruised and strained as the majority of the Indian players are, they kept at their work with a determination that was surprising, and it was only when Thorpe twisted his ankle that Warner sent him to the cage for treatment, because he did not wish to further risk this valuable kicker and runner.

MIDDIES HOPE STILL TO DOWN HARVARD TEAM

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 22.—Practice at the Naval Academy this week continues to be inspired with the one idea of winning from Harvard on Saturday, if possible. Wednesday afternoon a spirited battle with the scrubs took the place of the University of Maryland game, which had been canceled, and the scrub was helped most of the time by Howard and Douglas, former Navy stars and now of the coaching staff.

The latter gave the regulars a chance to diagnose some of Harvard's favorite plays, particularly the formation in which two of the backs stand ready to receive the ball for a punt so as to keep the opponents in doubt as to which will receive it.

YALE COACHES RALLY TO AID ELI HUSKIES

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 22.—Ralph Bloomer, Morris Ely and Charles Chadwick, famous Yale graduate football men, have arrived to coach the Yale squad. They were remarkably effective in their first day's work, injuring two of the star men—Fred Murphy, the quarterback, and Andrus, the giant guard. Andrus was carried off the field unconscious, and both he and Murphy were taken to the infirmary in carriages. It was stated that their injuries will not prove serious. While there they will be entertained by Capt. Burch.

GANZEL OUT; HOBLITZEL IS REGULAR ON THE REDS

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 22.—It was announced today that John Ganzel would not manage the Cincinnati National League team next season, and that Hoblitzel would be the permanent first baseman for the Reds. The new manager has not been selected, according to Herrmann, but Noodle Hahn, former pitcher for the Reds, who is very close to the team management, predicts that Clark Griffith will be the one to get the job.

Demarest Plays Great Game.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Calvin Demarest displayed a flash of wonderful form in his 18-inch balk line match with Brown (200) at the Rochester Hall, the amateur champion winning in a walk, 400 to 53. The game went 16 innings, but Demarest struck his gait in one round when he clicked off a high run of 153. In executing the feat Demarest averaged 25.

Men Who Are Remaking Harvard's Football Name.

M'FARLAND TOYS WITH EASTERNER IN SHORT FIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Leach Cross, dentist by day, glove artist by night, had his feet placed in the valley of the shadow of a knockout last night by "Packey" McFarland, the plucky Chicago lightweight. It was only owing to the fact that the bout was limited to six rounds that the pride of the East Side escaped a nap lasting longer than it akes to count ten. Fighting fans—about 3800 of them—filled the Fairmont Athletic Club in the Bronx.

McFarland had much the better of the battle, but when Cross, seemingly goaded to desperation, came to life in the fifth round with a cyclone of swings and a volley of jabs, the spectators were enthused almost to the point of frenzy.

McFarland's opening was so spectacular that the referee had all he could do to keep track of events. Cross passed out some of his best samples, but he could not lay a glove on the elusive Chicagoan. In fact, before the round was half completed McFarland had the New York boy covering, and this condition prevailed until the end of the fight.

Cross tried to retrieve himself in the third. He was fighting valiantly for an opening when he half slipped. McFarland was quick to take advantage of the accident and drove a straight left to the jaw, which scored a clean knockdown. Cross took the count as he made a brave effort to pull himself together in his corner, where his seconds dashed water over him. The knockdown came toward the close of the round, and this undoubtedly saved Cross from a knockout.

In the fourth McFarland shot over two stinging lefts to the jaw, which sent Leach to his knees. Again Cross came back bravely and succeeded in scoring two punches while Packey was boring in. The blows lacked strength, however, and McFarland was not to be denied. He forged ahead with swings and jolts and sent Leach through the ropes.

Spectators caught him on the edge of the ring and shoved him back into the arena. McFarland's attack was so precipitous that Cross had no chanec to get a start, as in the preceding round, the gong probably saved Cross from defeat.

Cochems Will Have 315 Plays to Puzzle Indians

EDDIE COCHEMS, coach of the St. Louis University football team, declares that by next Thanksgiving day, when his team will play the Carlisle Indians, his eleven will have at least 315 different plays or formations to use against the redskins. This is pretty hard on the players of the eleven as to remember just where a man should be on 315 different plays is no easy task to learn, let alone the signals. Evidently Coach's team has reached about the integral calculus stage in mathematics.

Cochems says that every day Hawkins, his big fullback, is out of the game is a great handicap to him for his future contests as at present he is giving the team the different plays, and Hawkins has been missing out on seeing where his part of the formations comes in.

Hawkins, after over a week's illness, was out on the field yesterday. He was looking pale and still feeling weak. He did not attempt to get into a suit. Brinkop, who has also been ill, got into a suit and worked hard. Hawkins will, in all probability, be able to get into Saturday's game against Wabash.

Mepham's Loss Will Hurt.

Mepham will probably be out of the game for some time. He was out on the field yesterday, but did not get into a suit. In addition to a broken nose and a badly swelled pair of ankles, he is now said to be suffering from dropping of the arches of both feet. Efforts will be made to strengthen the arches of his feet. His ankles were "baked" last night.

There is an excellent chance that St. Louis University will play the Wisconsin University eleven next year. Cochems is a former Wisconsin star. At a meeting of the St. Louis Alumni of Wisconsin U., held yesterday, a motion was carried to the effect that a letter be sent to Wisconsin asking that a game be scheduled with St. Louis U. next year.

St. Louis U. will next year be playing under conference rules with the one year eligibility rule in force and will, therefore, be "pure" enough to play any of the big varsity teams.

Cochems announced after yesterday's practice that nobody would be admitted to the field any more to watch the practice of his squad. The pavilion is being torn down and a crowd got up on that point of vantage yesterday to see Cochems' eleven meet the P. and S. team in scrimmage practice. A number of men refused to leave the park before the practice, when requested to do so, but when about five members of the "beef trust" moved on them en masse they changed their minds about going.

The P. and S. eleven gave Cochems' squad a good workout. The St. Louis U. men had the ball the entire time. The forward pass still failed. Cornet managed to kick a field goal or two, but the work of some of the men was anything but pleasing to Cochems, judging from the roars he emitted at his own men while standing behind the P. and S. line coaching that team on the defense.

VANDERBILT CUP CARS GIVEN FINAL TRYOUTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Every one of the 17 cars expected to face the starter at daybreak of Saturday for the fourth running of the Vanderbilt Cup race was taken over the 23.45 miles of the circuit this morning for final practice. Although no attempts were made by any of the prospective entrants to approximate racing speed for any considerable distance, a number let out to the last notch coming down the eight-mile stretch on the turnpike from Woodbury to Westbury.

HAPPENINGS IN SPORT FOR HASTY READING

SOUTHPAWS NOT GOOD AT FORWARD PASSING

SULLIVAN, who is playing fullback on the St. Louis U. eleven at present, pitched for the varsity baseball team last year. He had some baseball work before the football practice yesterday. He is a southpaw, and because he is left-handed is said to be one of the reasons why the players seem to experience difficulty in handling his forward passes. Hawkins will probably throw the ball when he gets back in the game.

The Smith Academy-McKinley High School game scheduled on Nov. 7 has been postponed until Thanksgiving morning. The Smith Academy-Central High game is at present scheduled for a week from Saturday.

A hot argument was brought up yesterday between Cornell and Smith of the St. Louis U. squad as to whether or not a man that has been put out of a game three times during one season for slugging or rough playing can play any more. There is no rule covering the point, but the Rule Committee recommended that the player be barred from playing any more during the season after his third offense.

A giant tackle, Reed by name, playing on the left side of the P. and S. line, put up a great game against the St. Louis U. men yesterday. He was breaking through regularly, almost had a fist fight with Schumacher, St. Louis U.'s big tackle, and became involved in quite warm tilts with other men, in all of which he showed that he fears nobody. Yes, Cochems tried to get him to enter the university about six months ago, but Reed declined.

Yackey of McKinley and Lueking of Yeatman may possibly be suspended by the Interscholastic League for their little boxing bout on the field last Saturday morning. Kelley of the Western M. A. was also put out of a game last Saturday for rough work and may also be suspended.

The McKinley High School team will go to Carlinville, Ill., to play the High School team of that place at Carlinville Saturday. The McKinley men are going to work their hardest this season in an effort to win the interscholastic championship.

HARD MATCH FOR HUESTON SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

FRED DUPREE, a professional billiard player, and a strong pool player as well, will oppose Thomas Hueston in the pool match at the Rex Billiard Hall this evening. Dupree met Hueston some time ago in a practice match and in a short game gained a big lead on Hueston, which the former champion was only able to overcome by the hardest kind of playing. This afternoon Hueston plays Lou Baker. Yesterday afternoon Hueston defeated Jake Bobmeyer, 125 to 62, and Martin Maley in the evening match, 125 to 42.

Hendricks will oppose Thompson in the three-cushion tournament match at the Grand this evening. Last night Cornell won from Meyer, 30 to 20.

George Sheble, one of the scratch men in the business men's 18.2 balk-line billiard tournament, will meet Kajiwara in the match at the Hauser this evening. Sheble is one of the strongest amateur balk-line players in the city and a good match is expected. Last night Williams defeated Lentine, 200 to 198.

Zell defeated Agens in the three-cushion billiard tournament match at the Rex last night, 30 to 15. Tonight will be an open date in the schedule.

Johnny Layton is scheduled to oppose Thomas Hueston in the pool game at the Rex tomorrow evening. Layton is the local boy who defeated Keogh in a practice match and gained a watch for giving Hueston the hardest game in their previous practice match.

THAT Kansas University college yell will sound like a favorable omen for Washington Saturday. As pronounced by the Jayhawkers it is: "Rock Chalk! Jayhawk! Cayou! (K.U.)"

That baked ankle scheme for Cochems' warriors was probably devised with the idea of making them hotfoot during their games.

Now if the Cubs' second baseman would just come here to manage the Cardinals, wouldn't it be Everso nice?

Racing men will never learn that when a stone wall is encountered too high to climb, too long to go round and with no opening in it, the graceful thing to do is refrain from kicking it with unshod toes—also the least painful.

McAleer recognizes the fact that he needs a good catcher, pitcher and outfielder. He is zealously trying to trade for one. But who, now in possession of the flawless article desired, is going to let one go? And who, besides, is willing to trade for what the Browns are willing to let go?

Hackenschmidt Spencer might do well, during the winter, to heed the injunction of long-dead seers to "till the waste places." Hack has plenty of waist tissue to begin on.

LAST year about this time Cochems' unconditioned team ran up 78 points on Washington. This year at this time, the eleven could hardly run up 78 points on a cinder path. Cochems will have to get speed into that beef trust before Saturday or the little ones from Crawfordsville will shame him again.

It is too bad that the duck and the football seasons must be on at the same time. Punts are required for both.

Is it not too expensive for the Browns to purchase a new grandstand and a new baseball club at the same time? If not, money will get pitcher Walter Johnson, might get catcher Sullivan, and could probably secure an outfielder who could hit, run and throw. And what a difference that would make.

EVIDENTLY the effete East is degenerating in the manly art. It has not contributed a fighter of class to the world in many moons. Its best made a poor showing against Packey McFarland last night. It has remained for the West to contribute Tommy Burns, heavyweight champion; Bill Papke, Hugo Kelly and Stanley Ketchel, with whom surely lies the middleweight supremacy; Battling Nelson, and Packey McFarland, the two great lightweights of the country; Abe Attel, the premier featherweight, and Johnny Coulon, the only bantamweight who can go a route, in the entire United States. The East has but one representative, Gardner, in the welterweight, and he is no novelty, not by a decade. He refuses to meet even our own Willie Grupp for a title that is already sadly clouded. Six-round fighting is certainly not good for the fighter, if the experience of the East means anything.

Cochems is evidently taking his cue from the master minds of football in the East and saving his team for the important games of his schedule. The wily teacher of the St. Louis men knew his heavy aggregation could defeat the earlier teams to which his team was opposed and did not care to draw his men fine and run the risk of having them go stale early in the season. The eleven which goes on the field Thanksgiving day will be one worth watching, unless Cochems loses some of his stars.

The important Eastern elevens, with the exception of Harvard, have all passed up the idea of heavy scoring in early games. Princeton, especially, has just begun to show its native strength, and beyond a doubt the Tigers will be formidable late in the season, when the real games are played.

Honestly, now, did anyone really expect Fordham College to do anything more than wink at the Tigers? By the way, what is this Fordham thing?

Will Herr Cochems kindly explain how he is going to hold secret practice with no fence on one side of the ground and no prospect of any being put there? The hole left by the destruction of the baseball stand will be hard to stop up, even with a small army of bluecoats.

LOCAL HORSES TO THE FRONT

St. Louis Should Make Grand Showing in Coming Coliseum Exhibition.

Local owners of fine horses and vehicles must not be overlooked in preparation for the approaching horse show. While the glamour of the great Jones stable from Louisville, with its champion, Gallant Lad, in the lead, the Wilke and Pepper stable from Canada, the Brown lot from Indianapolis, the Cudahy jumpers and tandems from Omaha, the Cohen crew from Lexington, and so forth, has filled the eye of the reader, it must not be fancied that St. Louis owners will be without representation in the show.

Mrs. Walsh has a neat and concise little stable. In Honesty and Honor Bright she has two blue winners, sure. These are heavy harness horses. Her walk-trot mare, Moonbeams, will also be heard from when she meets Mrs. G. L. Crawford's Confidence in the women's riding classes.

Robert Walsh, who is the brother-in-law of Mrs. Walsh, has a three-gaited saddle horse said to be a rare one, in Moonbeams, a heavyweight entrant.

St. Louisans run very heavily to roadsters. Quite a number of good ones are entered from the city which is giving the show. Miss Augusta B., which is owned by J. W. Duffy, is rated a crack mare to a wagon. She will have some warm members to dispose of, as Dr. W. B. Dorsett has the good horse Leonell to go in the same classes.

In the three-gaited classes Sol Oppenheimer, the manager of the American Theater, has the mare Lady Diamond, of whom he has high expectations. So great is Mr. Oppenheimer's faith in Lady Diamond that he has her in both the three and five gaited classes. She will meet Edna Mae Cohen's star from the Louisville show and Thomas W. Dunn's famous posing beauty, McDonald.

Oliver P. Langan thinks that his Red Leaf will take a lot of beating in runabouts and Mr. F. J. Foster has dreams about what his Red Feather will do in the same class.

TIGERS' OFFENSE A BIG SURPRISE

Princeton Team Shows Improvement in Snappy Game With Fordham College.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 22.—The Princeton team made good the expectations of its supporters on Tuesday when it defeated Fordham by the score of 17 to 0. All the scoring was in the first half. The visitors came with the confidence born of success and played well.

But the attack of the Tiger eleven was a totally different quantity from what it was a few days ago. With the players weeded out and the defense drilled to a high degree of efficiency, the coaches turned their attention to developing the offense. The result was that Fordham did not once hold for downs, while the first string of players were in. Read, Coxe, Cunningham and Bishop never failed to make what was required of them.

S.S.S. MAKES A LASTING CURE

There are certain mineral medicines which will remove the external symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison, and shut the disease up in the system for awhile, but when the treatment is left off the disease will surely return. Then the loathsome symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., are usually worse because the disease has made rapid progress on the internal members, and weakened the constitution and general health of the sufferer. S. S. S. is the only remedy that can be used with perfect safety in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison, and with the assurance that a lasting cure will result. This medicine, made entirely of roots and herbs of recognized curative and tonic value, antidotes and destroys the powerful virus of the disease, and by purifying the blood of every particle of the poison and enriching and strengthening the circulation, removes every sypmptom of the trouble. S. S. S. does not hide or cover up the disease in any way, but drives it entirely out from the blood, leaving not the slightest trace for future outbreaks. Home treatment book with valuable information and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

MIDDLE WEST UNSHAKEN BY RECENT PANIC

Conservative Financier Sees Reason in Production of Necessaries.

ONLY LUXURIES HURT

Fewer Emergency Loans and Sooner Repaid Than in East.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 22.—"I have been closely in touch with every section of the United States during the past year," said a very important business man, the president of a large life insurance company of the Middle West, who has been making a tour of the prairie states. "In forming an estimate of the relative business conditions," he continued, "it is clear that nowhere are trade, business and confidence so nearly normal as in the Middle West.

"The regularity of income and the fact that the people of the Mid-Western States produce those things that the world must have, rather than the things classed as luxuries and which can be dispensed with if necessary, have made them masters of the situation.

"They have gone ahead in a normal and regular manner, buying and selling as if no panic had ever occurred, and it has been the experience of the insurance companies that have large and tremendous applications for loans on policies that these demands came in fewer numbers from the Middle West, and repayments commenced sooner in this section than anywhere in the United States.

Confidence Greater in West.

"It is pleasing and oftentimes surprising to compare the average Western town with corresponding communities in the East, and to see the high measure of confidence in the future and satisfaction with the present that exists all through the agricultural communities west of the Mississippi River.

"Many people have an idea that because the West is prospering it has no more use for borrowed money, but this is a mistake. Men borrow money in good times as well as in bad times, but with a different object in view. In the latter, they eat up the loan in living expenses; in the former, they use the amount borrowed to increase their business and to add to their prosperity.

"The farmer who borrows money today has provided a way to meet the interest, and his security is so ample that he is certain to meet the principal. Our company has nearly $30,000,000 loaned on Western farm mortgages and finds them gilt-edged securities. The Western mortgage has back of it a value that makes it a stable and marketable security. No borrower on a Western farm under present methods of loaning can afford to allow his note to go to protest, nor to have the mortgage foreclosed, and no borrower who makes an intelligent loan need have any doubt about the prospects for meeting every obligation. The security is far in excess of the amount of the loan.

Rates Higher in West.

"There is, however, a little prospect of a reduction in interest rates. The rates on farm loans in this country range from 5 to 10 per cent, the highest rate being in the newer sections of the mountain states, Utah, Montana and Idaho. The lowest are in the old-settled communities, such as Iowa, Missouri, Eastern Kansas and Nebraska, and similar sections. The average rate, however, in the Middle West at this time is 6 and 6½ per cent, and it is not likely that a lower rate will obtain except in some favored circumstances.

"After the expenses are paid and the mortgagee meets the taxes assessed, he has left only a moderate income from other classes of securities that rank as first class. All over the civilized world there is today a demand for money. It takes a great deal to carry on the tremendous expenses attached to modern commercial affairs. In consequence, the money rates are held up and there seems no immediate prospect of any reduction.

"The land values of the Middle West are unquestionably high, and in the opinion of many they are excessive. However, it should be remembered that the West is producing liberally, and that is the basis for all real estate values. Speaking for ourselves, we are making our loans on a conservative basis compared with present prices.

Land Is Overestimated.

"We are holding them down to approximately 40 per cent of appraised value, and consider this is absolutely safe. While at present farms in such sections as the valleys of Eastern Kansas are selling at $100 and $150 an acre, the idea that all the lands of Eastern Kansas and Nebraska will soon bring such prices permanently, as do those of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, is over-optimistic.

"It will take a long time before the prairie states attain to such a high state of income as is maintained farther East. Other elements than those of mere crop raising in good seasons enter into land values there. The proximity of a good market for every kind of product, and the lessened distance over which crops must be shipped to reach a market are a part of these, and the farther West must contend with its distance schedule and other elements that are inseparable from its location.

"However, there seems no doubt of a steady and permanent prosperity in the Western states, both because of the better systems of agriculture now in vogue, and the more intelligent methods of conducting business that prevail. The West is a marvelously rich section, and is adding immensely each year to its importance as the great balance wheel of national business life."

Shot in Mouth by Brother-in-Law.

OWINGSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 22.—Bob Woodward, a young man of Menifee County, who was shot in the mouth by his brother-in-law, John Phelps, died. When Phelps thought he had killed Woodward he turned his pistol on himself and sent a bullet through his brain, which killed him instantly.

MAN AUCTIONED FOR 13 CENTS

Kentucky Farmer Buys Vagrant Sold on Public Square.

HAZARD, Ky., Oct. 22.—In the public square today Stephen Atkins, a vagrant, was sold at public auction. For months Atkins, who is an able-bodied man, has been lurking around the premises of John Hays, a farmer, part of the time stealing something to eat, at other times starving.

When Atkins was put on auction, bids began going at 3, 4 and 6 cents. When Robert Combs Slemp, farmer, offered 13 cents he was declared the purchaser.

Ex-Governor Says He Will Carry Missouri and Doubtful States.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Ex-Gov. Francis and E. B. Goltra of Missouri were at Democratic national headquarters today.

Gov. Francis said: "Mr. Bryan will carry Missouri by a good big majority. He has a splendid chance of being elected. I believe he will carry the states described as doubtful. The outlook was never better for Democratic success."

Move for Street Lights.

A meeting of the Civic League will be held Oct. 28 at the Mercantile Club for the purpose of inaugurating a uniform system of lighting in the downtown section of St. Louis. Property owners and merchants of the section bounded by Market street and Washington avenue, Fourth and Twelfth streets, will attend. The system of electroliers, recently installed on Pine street, is favored by many business men.

PEOPLE'S FIFTEEN-DAY-FREE-TRIAL PLAN IS INSURANCE FROM MERCHANT TO CUSTOMER

YOUNG married people will especially appreciate the fact that we furnish homes on the 15-day-free-trial plan. Starting out in life they should be sure that every penny spent brings a just return. Therefore, they should have every chance to examine carefully every article they buy. And there's nothing like an examination for 15 days in one's own home. Inspection at the store is more or less hurried, and besides the merchandise is all displayed in attractive surroundings. But once you have it in your home, you know precisely how it is going to look, and there's no one there to prevent you from turning it upside down and looking at its insides. In other words, when the 15 days are over, you know as much about the furniture as we do, and you know whether you wish it or not.

The effect of all this is not only to convince you of our sincerity of purpose and the fine character of our furniture and household goods, but to prove by actual demonstration and trial that we are giving you from 25 to 30% more for your money than any other house in town. You understand, of course, that if the outfit of articles do not suit you or the flat you occupy, we will gladly exchange them for pieces that will suit. The purpose of the 15-day-free-trial plan is to prevent you from buying something that you may not want. If you can suggest a fairer or better sales-plan than this, we will be pleased to put it in force. But in our estimation it is so eminently fair, so complete, and so desirable that it cannot be improved.

It is a sort of insurance given to a customer by the merchant who sells to him and it beats a guarantee "all hollow." It is always assumed that a reputable merchant will guarantee his goods, but it is going much farther to say "Try the goods out for 15 days free of cost. If you like them, keep them and pay for them in small monthly sums. If you don't like them, we'll take them back without the cost of a penny to you."

What more can be said or done?

Are YOU the WOMAN?

Who says there's but one way to wash clothes clean, and that's with the old-fashioned washboard? We hope you are not she, for with more than 200,000 self-running washing machines now in use in the United States, that old assertion has become "awful" wobbly.

The modern way, the "Yost" way, is washing by agitation. The motor whirls the clothes through the hot suds sixty times a minute—the dirt cannot stay in the clothes—it must come out—and DOES come out. Why not let us send you a "Yost" for your next wash day? It would surely win your approval.

HERO'S WIDOW GRATEFUL FOR CARNEGIE FUND

"But It Won't Bring My Poor Husband Back," Sighs Mrs. McAteer.

SHE GETS $85 A MONTH

This Is $5o for Herself and $5 for Each of Her Seven Young Children.

Mrs. Mary McAteer's happiness was tinged with sorrow Thursday when she learned that she and her family of seven children had been made beneficiaries of the Carnegie Hero Fund, because of the brave act of her husband, who gave his life to save that of Josephine Tulley, 11-year-old daughter of Henry C. Tulley of 1149 Union boulevard.

"It is very kind and I am deeply grateful," she said, then added with a sigh: "But it won't bring my poor husband back."

In addition to a silver medal in commemoration of her husband's brave deed Mrs. McAteer will receive $50 a month as long as she remains a widow and $5 a month for each child until it reaches the age of 16.

As the oldest child is only 12 her income from the fund for the next four years will be $85 a month if she does not remarry.

Woman Helped Win Award.

The attention of the Carnegie Hero Commission was called to the McAteer case by the Carondelet Business Men's Association and the award was made possible largely through the instrumentality of Miss Grace Adams, a teacher at Smith Academy, who lives at the Buckingham Annex.

Miss Adams witnessed the accident, and when a representative of the fund came to St. Louis two weeks ago to take evidence she was the principal witness whose testimony established beyond doubt the heroic character of McAteer's deed. The Cement Workers' Union, of which McAteer was business agent, also aided in collecting the evidence which won the award.

Mrs. McAteer is now janitor of the Henry Ames public school and lives at 1515 Hebert street.

Lost His Life Saving Child.

Patrick McAteer lost his life to save that of little Josephine Tulley, June 17 last, in front of the new Soldan High School, at Fairmount avenue and Union boulevard. He had gone there on business for his union and was leaving the building when he heard and bravely responded to a child's cry for help.

A pony was dashing madly north on Union boulevard. Clinging to the neck of the frightened animal was the little girl, her fair hair streaming in the wind and her face chalk-white from fear. The speed of the pony was increasing with every jump and he was headed straight for a pile of building material, a collision with which would almost certainly have meant death for the child.

McAteer ran into the street and attempted to catch hold of the bridle rein. As he was about to clutch it the horse threw back its head and swerved.

McAteer missed the bridle and his momentum was such that he plunged forward, striking the pavement on his head. His skull was fractured and he died in an ambulance on the way to the City Hospital. His effort to check the horse was successful. It stopped after swerving and Josephine was taken from the saddle unhurt.

McAteer's death left his wife and seven children penniless. None of them could aid in supporting the family, the oldest being a girl of 12. The family then lived at 8904 Michigan avenue in a little frame cottage overlooking the River Des Peres.

It was in an article in the Post-Dispatch that the attention of the public was first called to the plight of the family.

Mrs. McAteer was too proud to ask for aid, but her pathetic expression: "I don't know what I will do," brought a prompt response.

Prompt Response to Appeal.

Henry C. Tulley, manager of the Wainwright Building and father of the little girl whose life McAteer had saved, sent $100 to the Post-Dispatch, to be delivered to Mrs. McAteer.

Jeremiah Sheehan, who witnessed the heroic deed, sent $10 to the Post-Dispatch. Other contributions followed and funds for the family were raised by the Cement Workers' and Stonemasons unions, the Knights of Father Mathew and the Business Men's Association and Women's Clubs of Carondelet.

A benefit at a Carondelet summer garden yielded several hundred dollars, which were deposited to the family's credit in the Southern Commercial and Savings Bank.

TWO INDIANS LIVE ON THREE BISCUITS FOR THIRTEEN DAYS

Adrift in a Canoe They Were Without Water for Ten Days.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 22.—A dispatch from Ucluelet says that two Indians who were lost from the sealing schooner Bayard and were brought here on the steamer Dora Boraikoffski were adrift in a canoe for 13 days with only three biscuits as food and no water for 10 days.

The Indians allotted themselves one inch of biscuit a day and subsisted on this for nine days. Then rain came and water was caught in a sail.

On the tenth day, when hope was almost gone, they killed a fur seal and cooked the carcass in the bottom of the boat. On the fourteenth day they landed at Bristol Bay Unimack Island, and were ultimately rescued by the steamer Dora Boraikoffski.

Appendicitis Victim Alleges He Paid $170 for the Operation Which Caused "Physical and Mental Pain."

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Io., Oct. 22.—Claiming that absorbent sponge or gauze was left in his abdomen after an operation for appendicitis, Charles R. Chase has brought suit in the District Court for $20,000 against A. P. Condon, S. R. Hopkins and F. W. Houghton, who, he alleges, performed the operation. The operation was performed, the plaintiff states, in June, 1908.

He asks $144 for loss of time, $50 alleged to have been paid to another surgeon, $120 for hospital care, and the remainder of the $20,000 for physical and mental pain.

F. W. Houghton of this city, who is one of the defendants in the case, states that he merely administered the anesthetic preparatory to the operation, and did not do the surgical work. Drs. Condon and Hopkins reside in Omaha.

HER PROMPTNESS SAVES TRAIN

PITTSBURG, Oct. 22.— Rushing through rain, wind and lightning last night, Margaret McMurray, 14, near Oakdale, saved the St. Louis express on the Panhandle from being wrecked. Rains had washed out all the ballast of the westbound track, leaving the track partly suspended in air. The girl ran to a signal tower, where she notified the officials.

WILL TONE UP THE STOMACH AND CURE YOU OF INDIGESTION.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from Indigestion and Stomach trouble is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking Diapepsin.

If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach

People with weak Stomachs should eat Diapepsin after meals, and there will be no more Indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Vomiting, and, besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after eating one Triangule of Diapepsin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living. * * *

SOCIETY WOMAN MIRED IN SWAMP

Man Hears Cries and Goes to Rescue as She Was Fast Becoming Exhausted.

MAY'S LANDING, N. J., Oct. 22.—But for the prompt assistance of David Smith, Mrs. Mary Megargee, a wealthy woman residing at the Walker's Forge Mansion, near this place, would have perished in a dense swamp.

Smith had just returned home from work when he heard cries coming from the direction of a dense swamp. Thinking at first it was a hoot owl he paid no attention. Later the cry turned to screaming. It was the voice of a woman.

Putting on rubber boots Smith waded through the swamp and found Mrs. Megargee standing waist deep in water holding on to a tussock. She was nearly exhausted. Smith carried her out of the swamp to a clearing. She said she had taken a by-path to cut off distance. She lost the path and floundered into the swamp.

Mrs. Megargee is well known in Atlantic City and a great lover of dogs and horses. She employes several servants and is reputed to be very wealthy.

70,000 ASK PRESIDENT TO HOLD REFUGEE

Jan Pouren Committee Sends a Petition to Roosevelt Asking Precedent.

ALL A PLOT, THEY SAY

Peasant Called a Criminal Merely to Open Way for Extradition.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A gigantic petition, containing 70,000 signatures, sent to President Roosevelt represents an uprising in the interest of humanity by the people of the United States. The petition requests the President to refuse the demand of the Russian Government for the extradition of Jan Janoff Pouren, a political refugee. The names signed come from 43 states in the union, and represent people of many nationalities and degrees of wealth and intellect.

The work of obtaining this great number of names has been done since Aug. 15, chiefly under the direction of Jewish residents of the city, and is for the benefit of a poor and—until the present time—unknown peasant.

Jan Pouren first became known to the public in this country through the newspapers at the beginning of the present year, when proceedings for his extradition as a criminal were begun by the Russian Government. It was on Aug. 14 that United States Commissioner Shields decided against Pouren, who up to that time had been and still is imprisoned in the Tombs. After the decision of the Commissioner a stay of proceedings was granted and work which resulted in this remarkable petition was immediately begun.

300 on Defense Committee.

The Pouren Defense Conference was formed with delegates from 300 different societies, of varying interests, and an Executive Committee, of which Dr. David Blaustein was made chairman, Dr. Paul S. Kaplan, treasurer; Dr. M. Gutewitch, recording secretary, and S. Rosenbluth corresponding secretary. Herbert Parsons is chief counsel for Pouren. He is assisted by S. O. Pollock and Prof. I. A. Hourwich.

The committee appealed to the public in the name of humanity, stating their belief that, through the Pouren case, the Russian Government was endeavoring to establish a precedent which might result in the extradition to Russia of political refugees now to be found in all parts of the United States, particularly in this city.

The committee began by appealing to the newspapers of the country, churches of all kinds, and issuing to them its literature, with copies of the petition to be presented to the President. The literature included a stenographic report of the second session of the Imperial Duma in which are detailed the inquisitorial tortures inflicted upon the prisoners of the Baltic provinces, from one of which Pouren comes, and tells of the flogging of Pouren's 8-year-old daughter to force her to tell of her father's whereabouts. There was also a statement of Pouren's case to show that he was a revolutionist and not a criminal, as alleged by the Russian Government.

All Nationalities Respond.

"We have received returns from all over the country," said Dr. Kaplan, "signatures and money, even from Canada, where they have also asked to be allowed to sign our petition. We had to tell them that their names would not be effective. There have come to us letters from Spaniards, Italians, Finns, Swedes and Poles from remote parts of different countries where we could not make out the languages, and have had a dozen different interpreters deciphering them.

"One poor Italian wrote that we had his sympathy, but he had been out of work so long that he could not send us money. We have had contributions as small as 25 cents, and a letter has just come from a poor Chicago woman sending us $1. The stubs of our receipt books show sums received from $1 up to $650.

"The interest in the petition has come not only from sympathy with Pouren as a man, but because we believe that in this case the Russian Government will establish a dangerous precedent. There is no doubt that Pouren is a revolutionist and not a criminal. If he were the latter we would assist in sending him back to Russia. He is a plain peasant, a Lett from the Lettish districts of Ivonia and Courland, where there was a revolutionary uprising in 1905 in which he took part.

Others of Organization Here.

"He belonged to a revolutionary military organization known as the "Forest Friars or Brothers of the Wood." I have a letter from 12 other Letts, now in Boston, who were with him during the revolution, and are willing to testify to help him if necessary. They did not wish to do so unless it was imperative because of their own fear of extradition.

"It might seem at first that the attempt of the Government to extradite a simple peasant from a comparatively unknown community would have no significance; but every Russian realizes that, the precedent once established, thousands of people in this country may be sent back to Russia to unknown tortures. The Government in this country believes that prisoners should receive a fair trial, but how can they influence the Government in Russia? It is a question of free political asylum for which this Government stands.

"Our work has excited the interest of people of all classes and of all races, as our petition shows. As sent to the President it was carefully classified in States, the States into cities, and the prominent residents of the cities were classified according to their professions and business interests."

SPOILS SHOE, BUT SAVES WIFE

ZANESVILLE, O., Oct. 22.—By hastily cutting her shoe off her foot, Prof. Robert Wall saved the life of his wife, Prof. and Mrs. Wall were walking along the Wheeling & Lake Erie tracks when Mrs. Wall's foot became caught in a switch frog at almost the same moment a train came in sight.

By the quick use of his penknife Prof. Wall managed to extricate his wife from her perilous position, just a second before the train passed.

LIBEL SUITS STILL VEX LORD NORTHCLIFFE

Has Already Paid $1,250,000 for What His Papers Said About Soap Trust.

Special Cable From the London Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Oct. ..—Four libel suits are still pending against Lord Northcliffe (Alfred Harmsworth) in consequence of his attack three years ago on the projected Soap Trust, although it is said that he has already paid $1,250,000 damages. The Lever Bros., who sought to form the trust, and to whom he has paid $250,000 for the libels published in the Daily Mail and the Evening News, are now suing his Glasgow newspaper, the Glasgow Record, for $250,000 damages.

The libel is not denied, nor is there an effort to palliate it. Northcliffe pleads that the payment made in the Daily Mail case covered his other papers.

To enable the Scotch Judge to decide that question, the two leading lawyers engaged for and against Northcliffe in the Daily Mail case are going to Glasgow to give evidence, for a fee of $2500 a day.

APPLE PIE BRINGS OVER $100

Unique Fund-Getter in Cornerstone of Masonic Temple.

COUER D'ALENE, Idaho, Oct. 22.—The Masonic order here owns an apple pie which has been sold and resold so frequently that it is now worth its weight in gold. It has already netted more than $100 for the lodge, whose building and paraphernalia were destroyed by fire, and it will have a place in the cornerstone of the new temple.

It has been christened "The pie that bought the cornerstone of the Masonic Temple of Coeur d'Alene." With it in the box will be a photograph and description of the pie.

The plan to use the pie as a building fund-getter was originated by George Fayzette of Coeur d'Alene, who paid 15 cents for it at St. Maries on an excursion by the lodge. The last buyer paid $4.40 for it. He has had a photograph made, and these, with the history of the pie, will be sold throughout the district, the proceeds to be devoted to the building fund.

PERSIMMONS FOIL WHISTLERS

Married Men Who Lost Pie, Say They Were Trapped.

BURLINGTON, N. J., Oct. 22.—Able to whistle louder and longer than their married friends, a quartet of bachelors won the mammoth pie offered by Burlington Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, for the best whistlers in their organization. The contest kept 200 members in an uproar.

The winning team was Howard Frazier, John Bowers, Harry Frazier and Charles Stout. The married team, each member of which received a tin whistle as a consolation prize, was composed of William B. Shedaker, master of the Grange; De Forrest Frazier, Alexander Boyd and Charles Davis. The losers have issued another challenge, declaring that sweethearts of the victors had inveigled them into eating persimmons just prior to the contest.

EVEN CALVES ARE FOR TAFT

This Red One Carries a Real Taft Badge.

DANVILLE, Ill., Oct. 22.—One of the latest omens of a Republican victory at the polls next month has been found in a calf which was born last week on the farm of James G. Schofstall, four miles east of this city.

The animal is red and has the letters P. and T. on each shoulder. Schofstall says this means President Taft and that it is a sure thing the former Secretary of War will be the next President of the United States. Schofstall was a Democrat.

In Memoriam.

In memory of our beloved daughter, Lucy Jesel, who died two years ago today, Oct. 22, 1906.

We loved her, yes, we loved her,
But the angels loved her more,
And they have sweetly called her
To yonder shining shore.

The golden gates were opened,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewell unspoken,
She calmly entered home.
THE BEREAVED PARENTS.

Uncle Sam's Navy Salutes the Good Ship P.-D. Wants!

September 29, 1908.

NOTICE.

Advertising Manager,
St. Louis Post-Dispatch,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir—

The classified advertising for the Navy, prepared by Street & Finney and under their superintendence, will be placed hereafter by the Publicity Company, 1133 Broadway. Please note that your order and copy comes from this company for October, so that bills are sent them instead of the Frank Presbrey Co.

We trust that the favors we have received in the way of position and prompt attention will be continued.

In revising the list and eliminating the weaker newspapers, we found the results justified our using your paper in October. This is flattering to you for the reason that the statistical method used this year for judging mediums is the severest test possible.

Thanking you again, we are
Sincerely yours,
STREET & FINNEY,
(Signed) C. T. Southwick,
Manager.

Figuratively this means that the GOOD SHIP—

Passed the "Fire Test," and sailed out into the open sea with colors flying!

STOCKS CLOSE NEAR OPENING ON N. Y. 'CHANGE

Variations on the Day's Trading Are Confined to Small Fractions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22, 10 a. m.—Although all the prominent industrial stocks opened fractionally higher today, the rails were irregular in the initial sales. Anaconda advanced ⅜c, Steel preferred ¼, A. C. P. and Lead ½ each and Smelting ¾. Steel common was unchanged.

Atchison, St. Paul, Great Northern, Missouri Pacific, Reading, Pennsylvania and the Harriman Pacifics gained a fraction each, and Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific and Rock Island preferred declined a small amount each. New York Central was at parity. A few of the prominent specialties were slow in opening.

At the end of the first half hour the tendency of the market was downward. The Harriman Pacifics declined an average of ⅜, and the Hill stocks dropped ¼. Rock Island preferred and Reading were unchanged. St. Paul was active and moved a little higher. Other rail issues were practically at parity.

Amalgamated sold ex-dividend of ½, which it recovered on its first transaction. Nearly all the industrials developed strength in the early trading. The Copper stocks and Steel common were fairly active. St. Paul, Reading and the Harrimans were the most active stocks in the rails' list.

Americans in London were steady, without important changes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—12:30 p. m.—The tone of the market was weak during the forenoon. Most of the prominent rail issues suffered losses, but in almost all cases they were fractional in character. Illinois Central was the heaviest loser, dropping 1⅛ points under its opening. The Harriman Pacifics averaged declines of ⅝, Union being the weaker of the two. Rock Island preferred, Northern Pacific and Atchison were unchanged. Great Northern went off slightly. Pennsylvania and Reading gained ½ each. St. Paul was again active and very strong, gaining 1¼ points.

The other rail stocks were about parity.

There were very few changes in the industrials, but the tendency seemed downward. The Copper stocks were very active and at about the opening figures.

Trading was fairly active, the total sales to noon amounting to 425,800 shares.

East St. Louis News

While L. H. Chapin, 60 years old, was standing on a ladder painting a porch at the home of his son, F. G. Chapin, 1515 Harding avenue, East Lansdowne, Wednesday afternoon, the wind blew an electric wire against his hand, giving him a shock. He fell to the ground and broke his left leg.

Mayor Cook announced Thursday that the city employes will be paid their September salaries Friday. City Comptroller Hanna has prepared the vouchers and they are being signed by the Mayor Thursday.

An agreement has been reached between the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway and the Centerville Station Township Drainage Commissioners, and the bridge is being built over the drainage canal on the Rock road. It is thought that the cut across the road can be made and the bridge placed in about three weeks. The street car tracks will be raised four feet at that point to allow the proper bridge construction across the ditch. For a day or two while the work is in progress the Belleville street cars will run over the old Day Line tracks. The cut across the road will be made at night and the officials have agreed that wagon traffic shall not be delayed more than three hours.

RAILROAD NEWS AND GOSSIP

At the annual stockholders' meeting of the American Locomotive Co., held yesterday, W. H. Marshall, Pliny Fisk and J. E. French, the retiring directors, were re-elected for the next three years. No other business of importance was transacted.

One of the controlling interests in the Colorado & Southern Railway Co. says there is absolutely no truth in the despatch from Austin, Tex., that because of the reported friendly relations between the Rock Island people and E. H. Harriman, the former will give up the Rock Island holdings in the Trinity & Brazos Valley Railroad. This road is owned jointly by the Rock Island and the Colorado & Southern.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press. In addition it receives the service of the United Press and maintains a leased wire to its New York Bureau. Its news-gathering organization is unsurpassed in the United States. St. Louis Money Market.

The supply of first-class names on commercial paper is very scant at this time. St. Louis banks are uniformly glad to accept the best indorsements at from 4½ to 4¾ per cent, but find it practically impossible to buy any quantity of this class of bills receivable.

As an instance of the conditions existing here it may be well to recite a recent incident at one of the large St. Louis banks where a deposit of several hundred thousands of dollars was offered at the time certificate rate of 4 per cent. The bank in question refused to accept the account, giving as a reason that there would be absolutely no profit in it under the existing conditions. This shows, of course, not only confidence in the future ease in the money market, but also the feeling of the banking fraternity with reference to the conservative business attitude in the next few months. All of which indicates a further accumulation of funds at this center and necessarily easy interest rates.

Boston Stocks.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—There was a steady tone to the copper shares in early trading of the Boston market, with trading dull and generally in odd lots. There continues a marked scarcity of offerings in the Lake Superior copper stocks. In the afternoon, while still quiet, the market was decidedly firmer in tone, influenced largely by New York. An observer of the copper situation predicts that with Taft's election copper will quickly advance to 14 or 15 cents, and that the market for copper shares will broaden and strengthen. The close was firm.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Oct. 22.—Estimated receipts today compare with a week and year ago as follows:

	Today.	Week ago.	Year ago.
Cattle	3,500	6,000	4,300
Hogs	6,500	8,200	5,600
Sheep	3,000	2,800	1,200
Horses and mules	200	125	100

NATIVE CATTLE—Receipts were moderate today, and for the four days of the week foot up around 23,700, compared with 29,500 for the same days last week.

But few steers were included in the 2000 natives received, and they were of medium quality, selling under $5, most of the supply consisting of mixed lots of butcher stock, also running mostly to common and medium grades. Some pretty good heifers sold at $4.35, cows at $3.50, bulls at $4, and veal calves at $7. Trade was quiet with the range of prices about like yesterday.

Fresh receipts of stockers and feeders consisted mostly of light weight plain kinds, which sold at steady values. Quite a number of buyers were here, but most of them wanted good qualitied fleshy steers, and the supply in first hands of that class was very light.

HOGS—A moderate supply of hogs arrived, but there was a good demand, and the market opened active and 10@15c higher, the top of the market going up to $6, while the bulk of the desirable hogs sold at $5.40@5. Pigs and lights were not strictly good, showed little or no improvement, as there was no demand for the poorer grades.

All buyers were in the market and the offerings were cleaned up early in the day with the shippers and butchers paying $5.75@6 for good hogs, while the packers bought hogs all the way from $5 to $5.70. Good lights weighing 125 to 155 pounds sold at $5@5.40, fair to medium, $4@4.75, and common pigs and lights at $3@3.75. Best pigs, weighing less than 100, sold at $4.25@4.50.

SHEEP—The supply was moderate and the quality not good. There was not a single bunch of real good lambs to be found. Lambs were full steady, but sheep were 15c lower. Best lambs on the market sold at $5@5.25, but good lambs would have sold up to $5.50 and possibly higher. Fair lambs sold at $4.25@4.75, most of which came out of Southwest territory; white culls sold from $3@4. Most of the sheep sold at $4 and stockers and bucks sold the same as former days this week.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market closed with bidding a little draggy. The supply available for the Thursday auction embraced approximately 300 head.

Mules with weight and bone, 15 to 16 hands high and good sugar mules sell about steady; others dull and slow sale.

INDEPENDENT STOCKYARDS.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.

CATTLE—Receipts of cattle only moderate and not any good stuff on sale. Cows brought $3.25@3.50, heifers $3@4, veals $6@7.50, milkers, medium to good, $35@50.

HOGS—The hog market opened 5@10c higher this morning and closed about steady with the opening. Butchers paid [illegible] pretty good kinds, and secured th[illegible] their purchases from $5.50@5.70. P[illegible] bought some of the mixed and medium weight kinds from $5.20@5.50. Some pretty decent hogs weighing 170 to 190 lbs. sold at $5.25@5.50. The badly mixed kinds not having much weight are selling from $4.60@5. Good lights, 125 to 150 lbs. selling at $4.65@5.20, fair $4.25@4.75. Those weighing from 100 lbs up $4@4.50, under 100 lbs. $3.50@4.10. The close found everything sold and more good hogs wanted.

"FIDDLING" COST HIM $3 FINE

Fred Molloy woke up in the Alton Jail Thursday morning and asked the police for the fiddle with which he fiddled himself to sleep the night before. The police thought that Molloy had been drinking instead of fiddling, as they found a big bottle of alcohol in his pockets, but no fiddle.

Molloy protested that he was not drinking, but that the strains of the fiddle had put him to sleep. He paid a $3 fine and went away to find the fiddle.

DULL CONDITIONS IN WHEAT MARKET

Prices Partly Retain Advance, but the Session Is Very Uninteresting.

Bulging sharply at the opening, local wheat prices, notwithstanding the very indifferent and professional trade and the general listlessness of the market, were enabled by the paucity of offerings to partially retain the initial gains throughout the session. Late selling caused somewhat of a recession from the high point, but final prices showed advances of ⅛c to ⅜c for the day.

The only period of real life or activity occurred, in which any interesting developments occurred, was at the opening. Prices then were advanced sharply by a general covering movement on the part of shorts and some new long buying. The demand was based mainly on foreign firmness, of which the ⅛d to 1⅛d higher close at Liverpool was the chief feature, and on some very bullish Argentine news. Reports of serious damage from frost in that country were reiterated, the injury being placed at about ten per cent, and supplies there are smaller, with a large decrease predicted in the exports for tomorrow.

Receipts in the Northwest were still smaller, the total at Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg combined being only 1012, against 860 last year and premiums on cash wheat in these markets were well maintained under a strong demand. The export trade returned to rather unimportant proportions, but receipts in all positions were very small, with the cash demand for winter wheat improved. The drouth, at least in its really serious aspects, has been practically broken up, recent rains having put the ground in most sections into good condition.

Prices were shoved up to levels almost a cent above the previous day's close, but shortly after the opening extreme dullness began to develop. Trading fell away to practically nothing and prices, after receding slightly from the high points, were almost stationary during the remainder of the forenoon, with sales few and far between. December wheat opened ⅛@½c higher at 99⅛@99⅜c, advanced to $1.00⅛, sagged to $1 and rallied to $1.00@1.00⅛. May wheat opened ⅛c higher at $1.03⅜, advanced to $1.03⅝@1.03⅞, sagged to $1.03¼@1.03⅜ and sold at $1.03⅜. July wheat sold ⅛c higher at 96c.

Estimates by Broomhall place Argentine shipments of wheat at 1,200,000 bu, against 1,656,000 bu last week and 512,000 bu a year ago. Early in the week Broomhall predicted a large increase in Argentine shipments, it being expected they would reach 2,400,000 bu, the bad weather being responsible for the revision. Corn shipments are estimated at 1,000,000 bu.

Berlin wheat closed ⅝c higher, Budapest 1c higher, Antwerp wheat unchanged and Paris wheat ¼c higher.

The cash demand at Minneapolis was very strong with No. 1 Northern 2½c bid over December. Minneapolis stocks increased 1,250,000 bu for five days. Minneapolis cars were 254, against 288 last year; Duluth, 279, against 216 last year, and Winnipeg, 479, against 335 last year.

The Minnesota Grain Co. put out the following figures regarding the movement of the Northwestern crop: Total spring wheat receipts Minneapolis and Duluth Aug. 1, 1907, to Aug. 1, 99,480,000 bu. Crop of 1908 larger, according to Government report, by 19,636,000 bu. Total receipts 1907-08, with excess of crop of 1908 over 1907, was 119,116,000. Received at Minneapolis and Duluth Aug. 1 to Oct. 17, 1908, 53,870,000 bu. To come from Oct. 1, 1908, to Aug. 1, 1909, 65,245,120. On Oct. 17 there has been received and unloaded 56 per cent of the total receipts from Aug. 1, 1907, to Aug. 1, 1908, and 46 per cent of these receipts with all of the excess of these crop over last added. By Nov. 1 50 per cent of the proportion of the 1908 crop that should come to the two terminals will have been received, leaving the other 50 per cent to come in during the remaining nine months of the year.

The late trading was extremely dull, with the pit practically deserted. Occasional offerings at a downward range found no buyers, and prices gradually receded, but the closing gong intercepted before the levels of the previous day's finals had been reached, leaving a moderate net gain for the day. December wheat closed at 99⅞c bid, May wheat at $1.03⅛ bid and July at 95⅞c sellers. Cash wheat ruled firmer under a good demand. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 341,000 bu.

Primary receipts of wheat were 1,111,258 bu, with shipments of 461,465 bu, and local receipts were 70,000 bu, with shipments of 45,420 bu.

Corn was dull and after opening firm on the threatened crop injury by frost, was depressed to slightly lower levels. Receipts of corn are still small, but are increasing, none being exported. Cables on corn closed ⅛d lower, which was the principal depressant. Local futures moved slowly and narrowly, closing ⅛c to ¼c down for the day. Cash corn prices were easy. Seaboard clearances of corn were 43,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 220,762 bu, with shipments of 383,984 bu, and local receipts were 23,100 bu, with shipments of 12,900 bu.

Oats futures were inactive, and the cash article was dull. No oats were cleared from the seaboard today. Primary receipts of oats were 553,883 bu, with shipments of 413,001 bu, and local receipts were 65,600 bu, with shipments of 34,620 bu.

FLOUR—Receipts, 6650 bbls. Shipments, 10,090 bbls. Quote soft red winters—Patents, $4.65@4.90; straights, $4.45@4.55, and extra fancy, $4.20@4.30 in wood; fancy, $3.50@3.75 in jute; low grades, $3@3.25 in jute. Market Opinions.

Marshall, Spader & Co. say: "The market looks like going higher."

J. S. Bache & Co. say: "We look for a broader and more active market for the balance of the week."

E. F. Hutton & Co. say: "Evidences are not wanting of coming market activity and a higher range of figures before Nov. 1."

Prince & Whitley say: "For a time we may continue to have a traders' market, and any sales for profit-taking purposes we strongly believe should be replaced on weak spots."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The International Bureau of the American Republics reports that in conformity with the law of Dec. 3, 1907, and the decree of July 1, 1908, the subscription to the £4,000,000 Brazilian loan was opened on July 23, 1908, and closed on the following day. In accordance with the conditions prescribed, the bonds are in denominations of £100, £500 and £1000 and are payable to bearer and draw interest at the rate of 5 per cent per year. The interest is payable semi-annually in London, Paris and Amsterdam on Jan. 1 and July 1 of each year. The issue was made at the rate of £96 per £100 of nominal value. The bonds are redeemable in nine years and in 19 semi-monthly drawings.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation held its regular weekly meeting Thursday. This meeting preceded the regular quarterly meeting next Tuesday, when the report for the quarter will be issued and dividends declared.

Representatives of the Steel Corporation are optimistic regarding present conditions and the outlook, and speak favorably of the showing the corporation has been making over the last four months.

The buying of steel products this week shows an improvement over the preceding week. Many consumers have arrived at the conclusion that Taft's election is assured and this accounts to a large extent for the increase in orders.

TARANTULA HUNT UPSETS PRISONERS AT FOUR COURTS

Escapes From Bag of Bananas and Causes Uproar in Cells Until Killed.

A tarantula caused excitement among the prisoners in the holdover at the Four Courts Wednesday evening. It jumped out of a bag of bananas which Turnkey Caffarata was distributing to the prisoners and fled into one of the cells. Turnkeys Caffarata and Coleman and several prisoners tried to capture it, but it eluded them and hid in another cell.

The hunt continued half an hour before the bug was located. Caffarata killed it with a broom. The bananas were in possession of a man who was arrested and were given by him to the prisoners.

GIRL OF 10 ENDS LIFE TO REJOIN DEAD FATHER

"Everyone Is Mean to Me," She Wrote in Farewell Note to Mother.

Before Turning on Gas Child Closed Windows and Barred Doors.

FAREWELL NOTE OF 10-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Dear Mother—I killed myself because everyone is mean to me. I no longer want to live. I am sorry that I done what I did. You will no longer have any trouble with me and I hope you will forgive me for what I have done. Best wishes and good luck to you all your life.

ELSIE LENHARDT.

P. S.—Thank God I'll be with my papa.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—After scribbling a farewell note on a piece of paper and placing it with the picture of her dead father on the bed by her side, little Elsie Lenhardt, 10 years old, turned on a gas jet above her head in her bedroom at her home, 10 Gault court. She was found partly undressed in a room so filled with the deadly gas fumes her rescuers could reach her only by breaking a transom and crawling through the narrow opening. She had been dead for several hours.

Clasped in the child's hands when she was found were a photograph of her father, taken as he lay in a casket after his death, a plain gold band ring and the letter for her mother.

Barred Windows and Doors.

Before she turned on the gas the girl fastened all the windows, locked all the doors and made it impossible to gain entrance to the Lenhardt home on the third floor of the tenement through the front door by placing one end of an iron pipe against the inside of the door and the other end against a wall.

The girl had been punished for slight thefts before and it might have been the fear of further punishment, her mother says, that led her to kill herself. She had not been ill-used, said Mrs. Lenhardt.

A report sent to the mother by her school teacher showed that the girl had been absent from her studies 12 half days in the last six weeks.

BOYS FIND BABY'S BODY IN LOT AND TAKE IT TO SCHOOL

They Stumble Over Shoe Box Containing It and Teachers Call Police.

Commotion was created in the Sherman School, 3940 Flad avenue, when Walter Wagner, aged 13, and Edward Jupiter, aged 15, showed a shoe box containing the dead body of a 5-days-old girl baby.

The boys said they found the box on a vacant lot at Vandeventer and Castleman avenues on their way to school. The boys lived on Castleman avenue and as they were going across the lot one of them stumbled over the box. They took it to the schoolhouse and turned it over to the teachers, who called a policeman.

No marks of violence could be found on the body. It was sent to the Morgue, but has not been claimed.

"SHORT CHANGE" ARTIST CAUGHT BY GROCERY CLERK

Police Invite Persons Who Have Been Swindled to Inspect Prisoner.

Recent victims of "short-change" artists are requested by the police to call at the Dayton Street Station and look at a man who was caught Wednesday night by L. Kenny, clerk in the grocery of Patrick Kavanaugh, 2400 Cass avenue, after he had tried to cheat Kenny out of $5.

The man made a small purchase and gave Kenny a $5 bill for which he received change. He then remembered that he had the exact amount of his purchase in his pocket and requested the return of the $5 bill. Kenny gave it back and the man ran out of the store. He was pursued and captured by Kenny, who after recovering the bill turned the man over to the police.

The police arrested a second man who was seen standing in front of Kavanaugh's store while Kenny was serving the "short-change" man.

SMOKE BLANKET SPREAD BY FOREST FIRE COVERS EAST SIDE

Light Cloud Over Edwardsville Fills Eyes and Makes the Tears Flow.

Smoke, believed to have been wind-driven from the North, where forests are burning, hung heavily over the East Side Thursday morning. It was particularly noticeable around Edwardsville, where it hung like a light cloud. The smoke pall not only was visible, but its odor filled the atmosphere.

The burning of leaves raked from the Edwardsville lawns added to the smoke and eyes and throats were affected as if a burning building were near. Everybody wept.

The odor of burning pine has been perceptible in St. Louis for several days. It has been attributed to the forest fires. Chicago and even New York, as well as points between them, have reported smoke.

LOSS OF MENU CARDS DELAYED BANQUET TO NOTED PHYSICIAN

Number of Speeches at Function to Dr. Von Leube Curtailed by Time.

Inability to find the menu cards caused delay at the banquet in honor of Prof. Dr. Wilhelm Von Leube, noted German physician, by the Verein Deutscher Aerzte and the Medical Department of Washington University, at the Planters' Hotel Wednesday evening.

The banquet was set for 8 o'clock, but some one had mislaid the menu cards and the 75 guests were kept waiting while a search was conducted. It was 9 o'clock before the guests filed into the banquet room. None of them had taken seats when Prof. von Leube began his talk, and all remained standing beside their chairs throughout his address and also that of Dr. D. F. Houston, the new chancellor of Washington University.

Three physicians who were on the program were unable to speak because of the delay in starting the banquet.

POLICE SERGEANT TO BE TRIED FOR AUTO SPINS OUTSIDE CITY

Thomas P. Whalen Owns Machine and Violated Rules by Taking Family Into Country.

Sergt. Thomas P. Whalen of the Carondelet District, one of the St. Louis policemen who own automobiles, will be brought before the Board to face charges preferred against him because he left the city without permission of the Board.

Some tipster informed Capt. McNamee of the Carondelet Station that on Aug. 12 Whalen took his mother for a spin down to 2900 South Broadway to visit friends. It was Whalen's recreation day, but because he went half a mile out of the city he violated the law of the department.

On the following day, also his recreation time, he took his wife in his car to Quarantine Station, five miles south of the city, because she wished to gather some flowers there. This was also reported to Capt. McNamee, who was compelled to prefer charges against Whalen.

GORMAN ADMITS HIS SISTER IS MARRIED TO MAGNISS

Adds That the Valuables Found on Deserter Probably Belong to Her.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 22.—Arthur Pue Gorman, who represents Howard County in the State Senate, admitted reluctantly that his sister Ada "married a man named Magniss" recently. State Senator Gorman would add only that the money and bonds found on Magniss when he was arrested as a deserter belonged to his wife probably.

Persons who knew Miss Gorman well in society here and in Washington say she is about 40 years old. Magniss' friends say he is of splendid physique. He deserted the Dolphin in Newport harbor last July.

He was playing the cornet in the Vermont Avenue Christian Church in Washington. There he met Miss Gorman. She fell in love with him. Although it was said he was engaged to be married to Miss Georgianna Kaffler, he transferred his attentions to Miss Gorman.

Miss Gorman and Magniss were to have been married in Baltimore. Because of her brother's intense opposition to the match they eloped, in effect, and the wedding ceremony was performed in Louisville.

Magniss was born in East Baltimore. He was educated in St. May's Industrial School, a Catholic reform school. He manifested a talent for music, which was developed, and he took a course in the Peabody Conservatory of Music.

Mr. and Mrs. Magniss came to Baltimore over a week ago and visited Magniss' relatives, who live in an humble section of East Baltimore. Mrs. Magniss went to Laurel to see her relatives, but Magniss did not accompany her.

AMERICANS SAVE 100 LIVES IN TYPHOON IN PHILIPPINES

Five Hundred Persons Were Swept Away, Big Crop Damage Done.

MANILA, Oct. 22.—Additional details of the damage wrought in the Cagayan valley by the typhoon of Oct. 12 indicate that loss of life in the disaster will reach 500.

At Aparri, where a thrilling rescue of 100 natives was effected through the heroism of Lieut. Robert Clark, Lieut. Treadway and Postmaster Foss, the survivors say that 300 residents of the submerged fishing village, which is located some distance below Aparri, were swept away and drowned.

The three Americans, aided by one Filipino volunteer, were informed of the danger that threatened the village and managed to reach it by boat. Approaching the shore in a series of short rushes between breakers that threatened at any moment to swamp their frail craft, the rescuers found scores of natives clinging to the poles of their wrecked habitations.

Lieuts. Clark and Treadway, carrying lines from the boat, fought their way through the breakers, and, swimming from house to house in the floodwater, saved the lives of about 100 men, women and children.
